Poor to Get Poorer IMF Outlook Shows

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — One billion persons in the poorest countries of the world face economic stagnation for the rest of the decade, while real per capita income in the rich industrial countries will grow from $3,100 in 1970 to $4,000 in 1980, World Bank President Robert McNamara said Monday.

In his opening addresss to the joint annual meetings of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund here, McNamara said that the poor countries had become "the principal victims" of world-wide inflation, higher oil costs, prolonged recession in the industrial world, and a deterioration in the prices they get for their exports compared with what they pay for imports.

To help cope with this situation, which he said is precipitating a "severe foreign exchange crisis" McNamara proposed a $40 billion lending program for the bank for the fiscal years 1976-80, representing a 58 per cent increase over the past five-year period, after allowing for inflation.

Of the $40 billion total, $7 billion is ticketed for the current fiscal year, compared with $6.1 billion in fiscal 1975.

McNamara reported that the impact on the world eco-

Playing Vancouver Burrards has been a risky business for Victoria Shamrocks in their Western Lacrosse Association final, but things may go a little better tonight in Richmond where the fourth game is scheduled. He drew a one-game suspension after touching off a near-riot Saturday at Victoria's Memorial Arena. Page 10.

5.1 CENTS GASOLINE BOOST

Victoria gasoline prices will go up at least 5.1 cents a gallon Wednesday as a provincial freeze comes to an end.

This will increase the basic retail price for standard gasoline to 75 cents from 69.9 cents and premium will go to about 80 cents from 74.9 cents.

The increases are the result of a federal government action permitting increases in the price of crude oil to $8 a barrel from $6.50. These increases went into effect Aug. 15, although some provinces delayed the raises beyond that date.

The 5.1 cents a gallon increase consists of 4.5 cents on the added cost of crude oil plus .6 cents added federal sales tax.

This 5.1 cents increase is at the wholesale level but the majority of retailers will simply pass along the new increases.

Robert Dunsmuir, Victoria president of the Automotive Retailers Association, said about 80 per cent of the local service station dealers have signed contracts permitting the oil companies to limit the price they could charge for gasoline. As almost all of them are at the limit now, there could be no increase above the 5.1 cents a gallon level.

However, the other 20 per cent of service stations are free to charge what they wish and some are as high as 80 cents a galllon for standard gasoline.

Dunsmuir said Victoria service stations realized they had to cut their prices some months ago to meet the competition of self-service stations, most of which are run directly by oil companies.

Before that time, they had been taking a markup of 14.8 cents a gallon. Under the revised agreement, they take only 5 cents a gallon, plus a 3-cents-a-gallon reduction on

IT'S RAINING IN METRIC

OTTAWA (CP) — Measurement of rain and snowfall in metric units throughout Canada began Monday. The metric commission says rain is now measured in millimetres and snow in centimetres.

Ireland Killings Flare Up

BELFAST (UPI) — A flareup of religious warfare in Northern Ireland has killed 11 persons in the past three days.

Shooting attacks Monday took seven lives in what police and army officials said was the most violent day in the province in more than two years.

In the most serious incident Monday, four persons were shot to death and 16 others wounded in an attack on a Protestant meeting, 50 miles south of Belfast.

Police said two gunmen walked into the hall and fired bursts from submachine guns at more than 50 persons gathered inside. They then exploded a bomb on the steps of the hall before escaping in a car.

A 36-year-old Roman Catholic was shot to death as he answered the door of his home at Dungannon, 35 miles southwest of Belfast, Monday night. Police said two gunmen forced their way in and gunned him down in the hallway.

Merlyn Rees, the British minister in charge of troubled Northern Ireland, today called an emergency security meeting.

A statement from Rees said he would discuss the situation with his security adviser later today.

Additional troops — the second extra detachment in 12 hours — would immediately be sent to County Armagh, scene of the worst of Monday's shooting incidents.

Arabs Irate Over Pact

Times News Services

Arab guerrilla leaders today condemned the new Egyptian-Israeli Sinai peace agreement and called for general strikes, demonstrations, and more raids into Israel to protest the accord.

America's allies greeted the pact with relief and praise. The dollar, spurred by the prospect of Middle East peace, gained strength on European money markets, rising in value in Frankfurt, London, Zurich, and Paris.

The Soviet news agency Tass did not directly comment on the agreement, but it carried hostile comments from foreign newspapers indicating that the Soviet view is negative.

In Beirut, Yasser Arafat called on Arabs to "fight off the American presence" in the Middle East and sabotage the agreement.

The agreement is an "imperialist plot to liquidate the Palestine cause," he said.

"This plot shall collapse upon the unshaken will of the Palestinian people," he added.

Henry Kissinger, meanwhile, set out today on a campaign to convince other Arab nations to join Egypt in settling their differences with Israel.

Kissinger planned a day of whirlwind visits to Saudi Arabia, Jordan and possibly Syria after guiding Israel and Egypt to the interim agreement.

The accord, if approved by Congress, would send up to 200 U.S. volunteers to the tank-littered sands of the Sinai to run electronic surveillance stations between the opposing armies.

The apprehension of many Senators and Congressmen over an American presence in the Sinai however, is bluntly summed up by Democrat Mike Mansfield, the Senate Majority Leader, who commented: "One Vietnam is one Vietnam too many."

Supermarkets Set to Close

Sixteen supermarkets in Greater Victoria, poised for a shutdown in a labor dispute, remained open today while three unions met to discuss strategy in Vancouver.

On the Lower Mainland, where 125 supermarkets could be closed if picketing starts, there are indications that leaders of bakers' and meatcutters' unions may decide to refrain from picketing beyond today, despite the passing of strike and lockout deadlines.

In Greater Victoria, there are 10 Canada Safeway and five Super-Valu stores involved, including Super-Valu's Economart at Royal Oak, as well as Maverick Market in Esquimalt. Other food store operators have said they can readily meet community demands if the 16 are shut down.

Jack Fidler, district manager for Safeway, said today there are no signs of picketers locally yet. He described the volume of shoppers this morning as average.

The third union involved represents retail clerks. The supermarkets have said clerks will be locked out if other unions picket their stores.

A strike of bakeries on the Lower Mainland last week has left bread supplies on southern Vancouver Island largely unaffected although it did trigger some extra buying in Greater Victoria. Most bread sold in Greater Victoria is provided by local bakeries, including McDonald's, which are unaffected by the strike.

In Vancouver, Hugh Comber of the bakery workers, said today: "we have to decide what we are going to do through the days ahead."

Rain, Tourists Deluged City in Record Volume

It was the wettest August ever but the tourists still came to Victoria in large numbers, Visitor Information Centre president Terry Farmer said today.

The volume of tourists coming from Seattle on the Marguerite was up 9 per cent over the previous August. B.C. Ferries, Black Ball and Washington State Ferries report their preliminary estimates show similar increases.

By contrast July had been a poor month. Marguerite traffic had been up only 3 per cent and traffic on B.C. Ferries had been down about 1 per cent.

Farmer said hotels, restaurants and tourist attractions all reported a good month, despite the rain.

"The number of people tenting in this area during August was the same as last year, which shows the rain didn't discourage very many people. They came but they may not have stayed as long as they might have if the weather was better."

Farmer said it appeared many Americans had delayed coming to Victoria until August in hopes the weather would be better than it sometimes is in July. For example, it was fairly damp in July, 1974, and dry in August.

"Maybe they will decide to come in July next year."

Farmer said Victoria merchants are looking forward to a brisk tourist season this fall. If the weather is good in September, tourist spending could continue at levels usually associated only with July and August, he said.

For five days in the early part of August the sold-out sign went up in Victoria and tourists had to be directed to hotels and motels in Sooke and Duncan.

He said that while merchants generally are satisfied with the tourist flow in August, it obviously would have been better if the weather had been more favorable. Some tourist attractions that are in the open air did not fare well, while those under shelter reported a good summer.

"Over-all, it was not as good as most people had hoped but it was a fairly good year. Most merchants seem to be satisfied."

New Currency

SANTIAGO (Reuter) — A new currency, the peso, will replace the escudo in Chile starting Sept. 29. It will be worth 1,000 escudos, or about 17 cents. The government said the new unit will lower accounting and banking costs and simplify commercial transactions. Since the escudo replaced the old Chilean peso 15 years ago, domestic inflation has totalled 298,856.5 per cent, the highest in any country since Germany in the 1920s.

HITTING POLICE COSTS $1,500

A 25-year-old man was fined $1,500 in Victoria provincial court this morning after pleading guilty to assaulting a police officer.

It's time people had more respect for the law, Judge Edmond St. Jorre said in fining Robert Douglas Renton of 655 Griffiths.

Renton was charged after an incident June 1 when former Victoria police Constable Bill Sherman tried to arrest the accused and another man who were creating a disturbance in front of Coffee Mac's, 617 Gorge.

Police said Renton jumped on Sherman from behind, kicked him in the stomach, hit him in the shoulder and then fled down the street.

Sherman received a sprained ankle in the scuffle and had to be taken to hospital for treatment.

"This policeman has not recovered from his injuries yet," St. Jorre said. "It is a very, very serious matter."

The judge said the accused had to be "taught a lesson" and that if Renton had had a criminal record he would have been looking at a definite jail term.

In addition to the fine, which in default carries a two-year jail sentence, St. Jorre placed Renton on two years' probation.

The Crown withdrew three other charges laid against Renton in connection with the incident — resisting arrest, obstructing a police officer and escaping lawful custody.

The maximum penalty for assaulting a peace officer is five years in jail. There is no stated limit on the amount of the fine that can be set in lieu.

Shoot-Out Ends Hunt for Kelly

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Donald Kelly, the accused killer and cunning woodsman who evaded police for 31 days in dense Northern Ontario bushland, was in stable but serious condition and under heavy hospital guard here today after being shot and captured late Monday afternoon.

Police, who had Sudbury General Hospital sealed off, were treating seriously two telephone calls in which callers threatened to blow up the hospital if any thing happened to the man who touched off what has been described as the most intensive manhunt in Ontario history.

Kelly was suffering from a bullet-shattered right arm and buckshot wounds to the left chest and back. He underwent surgery on the arm late Monday night and his condition today was described as serious, but stable.

The saga of Kelly, a 36-year-old North Bay-area man, described by police as intelligent but violent, ended at dusk Monday in an isolated hunting cabin about 15 miles northeast of this nickel-smelting city.

He has been accused of two shooting deaths, escaping jail, and during his month of freedom of taking 23 hostages.

He was taken without resistance 3½ hours after a gun battle in which a provincial police tracking dog was killed and Kelly wounded.

Police said the dog and its handler approached the rear of the cabin, located on a river in heavy bush country, and the dog signalled that the fugitive was nearby. The handler, Constable Ray Carson of North Bay, walked to the front of the cabin and saw a man eating on the porch.

Constable Carson called out Kelly's name, the man answered 'no,' then grabbed a rifle. Police said Constable Carson shot the man in the right arm and the dog attacked and held the man by the pant leg.

The man shot and killed the dog, named Cloud III, and was peppered with buckshot by another policeman but managed to flee into dense bush. More shots were exchanged and the two provincial policemen retreated to call in reinforcements.

A call went out for 150 police and a short time later, a ministry of natural resources employee spotted a man in the river. It appeared that he was washing wounds and it was assumed that he returned to the cabin later.

Police surrounded the cabin, lobbed in tear gas and found Kelly wrapped in a blanket and lying on the floor.

One police spokesman said Kelly was not hostile when taken and added that Kelly said he was sorry that the dog had been killed and that the police had been shot at.

He was taken to hospital by helicopter and appeared pale and in shock when wheeled into the emergency ward. The excitement drew a crowd and police set up guard lines.

Later, the hospital received the telephone calls and Det. Insp. W. C. Craig of the provincial police said he is concerned about possible action by Kelly's friends and also by anyone who might have anything against him.

the wholesale price from oil companies.

In exchange, they agree to abide by price levels established by oil companies. There is no minimum price they must charge but the maximum is fixed.

Dunsmuir said the service station operators are wondering if they made a wise choice in signing this type of contract because, in effect, it has prevented them from increasing prices to meet higher costs.

He said it might be more profitable to pump one-third as much gasoline at higher prices because of the large staff needed to handle high-volume sales.

In Vancouver, a spokesman for Imperial Oil said the company would implement its price increase at midnight tonight. The retail price at the stations it operates directly, such as the one at Hillside and Shelbourne, will go up an identical 5.1 cents.

Meanwhile, a provincial government freeze continues on home heating oil and will continue until year's end. The B.C. Energy Commission will review home oil heating prices in January.

The price of home heating oil would have increased about 5.1 cents per gallon without the provincial government freeze.

The 4.5-cents-a-gallon increase wholesale in the price charged by the oil companies compares to the 4.3-cents-per-gallon increase they pay for crude oil.

CAR PARK RIP-OFF

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Thirty-five fans who attended Bob Gibson Day at Busch Memorial Stadium on Monday thought they were getting a bargain when they paid $1 — half the regular rate — to park at a downtown lot.

But when they returned from the ballpark, their cars were gone and so was the attendant who took their money.

And, they discovered, their $1 saving had become a $16.50 loss including the $15.50 charged by the service station that towed the cars away.

It seems the attendant was not an employee at the lot.

By the time the angry motorists walked several blocks to the station that towed the cars, they were ready for blood and police had to be called.

"I thought they were going to lynch us," admitted Rick Stein, an employee of the station that towed the cars.

Hard Times Facing Poor Nations: IMF

nomic crisis is now being felt by the middle-income developing countries (with incomes over $200 per capita) who managed to squeeze out some real economic growth last year by taking "emergency measures."

But the middle-income countries, McNamara said, are likely to suffer a drop of 1 per cent in real per capita incomes this year.

McNamara said that "the gap between the rich and the poor continued to widen," com comparing a $3 per capita gain in the poor countries expected between 1970 and 1980 with a $900 gain in the industrial countries. Although not in McNamara's speech, bank figures show that the gain in the less-populated oil cartel states over this period is projected at $2,175 and in the heavier populated oil states at $255 per capita.

President Ford said a sound United States economy is "the best lasting contribution this nation can make to other nations." But he added that "no country can expect the actions of others to resolve its problems."

Ford spoke shortly after Treasury Secretary William Simon rejected a recommendation from the IMF that the U.S. do more to stimulate its economy. Simon said the U.S. may have already done too much.

Johannes Witteveen, IMF director, suggested that the U.S., along with West Germany and Japan, should make a greater effort to expand their economies and help end world recession.

But Simon told a news conference: "We believe we have taken adequate means to reflate our economy on the fiscal side."

Ford said the forces of recovery do not always move quickly, citing the problems of high world oil prices, inflation and recession as being intimately related.

Canadian Finance Minister John Turner however, said he is extremely pleased with the substantial progress which has been made toward reforming the world's tangled international monetary system.

Turner said that a major remaining obstacle to a complete breakthrough should be able to be resolved by early next year.

The minister is head of the main policy body of the IMF, known as the 20-country interim committee, and he had announced earlier that a weekend meeting had yielded general agreement on the controversial questions of the future role of gold in the financial system and on the voting rights of IMF members.

Still outstanding, however, is the question of whether to continue the current system of floating currency exchange rates or to return to the fixed rates which prevailed until the early 1970s.

The committee decided to leave the currency issue until the next meeting of the committee in Jamaica in January. Turner's statement seemed to indicate considerable optimism that the controversy — over fixed versus floating exchange rates — can then be resolved.

New Posting For Hanson

Assistant provincial archaeologist Gordon Hanson has been appointed administrative assistant to Consumer Services Minister Phyllis Young.

Made public in cabinet orders today, the political appointment takes effect Friday.

Hanson, 32, will be paid $19,500 a year. Born in Vancouver, Hanson has held the assistant archaeologist post for two years and prior to that worked in the Provincial Museum.

ROCK FESTIVAL DRAWS 3,500

More than 3,500 people converged on the Oyster River race track near Courtenay Sunday for a rock festival marking summer's end.

And though it was a clear profit for the promoters who needed a crowd of 2,000 to break even, it wasn't such a profitable time for some of those attending.

An RCMP spokesman in Courtenay said today several seizures were made of drugs — marijuana and MDA — and liquor, by 25 officers patrolling the roads leading to the race track.

He said there were unconfirmed reports of one rape and some knife fights within the race track grounds but no complaints had been lodged with police, so no charges laid.

Internal security was provided by 64 men specially hired for the occasion by the promoters.

The fest featured six rock bands including the British group, Slade, which was making its debut in North America on the new fall tour.

A weak Pacific disturbance along the coast will be accompanied by a few showers as it crosses the province today. There will be partial clearing behind it. A ridge of high pressure building inland on Wednesday will give clearing skies in moost regions. There will be a few showers along the north coast and in extreme eastern areas. Afternoon temperatures will be slightly warmer.

Quick-Thinking Eskimos Save 22 Air Victims

They are credited with saving 22 lives after a Wien Air Alaska plane crashed into a fog shrouded hillside on the island, killing 10 persons Saturday.

A crewman aboard a United States Coast Guard rescue plane said residents of Gambell Village climbed the hill with stretchers "made of cots, blankets, some of poles and chicken wire, anything they could put together to bring down those people."

The injured, including at least five children, were ferried across a lake outside of town in small boats and taken to the school, where medical teams flown in from Nome administered emergency treatment.

The crewman said the terrain was very rugged, with sharp rocks and deep holes. "And the fog was so thick they had to call us just to direct us to the wreckage," he said.

"I don't know how they did it. They were just very stubborn people," he said.

The twin-engine turbo-prop jet was making an approach to Gambell, a remote St. Lawrence Island community about 200 miles off the Alaska mainland, when it crashed near the top of a 600-foot hill.

The survivors were flown to Anchorage hospitals aboard a coast guard plane. A spokesman at the Alaska Native Medical Centre said 19 persons were admitted to that hospital Sunday, at least five in critical condition. One other was admitted to the Elmendorf Air Force Base hospital.

Two other passengers were taken to Nome and were in good condition, said Dr. Paul Brief, who was at the scene. He said wreckage was scattered over about a mile in area, and "it's remarkable that anyone survived."

A Wien spokesman said the pilot, co-pilot and one crewman were killed.

Most of the passengers were native Alaskans from Gambell, Sovoogna, a St. Lawrence Island community, and Nome.

CONCORDE CROSSINGS SET RECORD

LONDON (UPI) — A supersonic Concorde airliner has crossed the Atlantic Ocean four times in a single day in what an official said was the first double return crossing in one day.

The standard model jetliner made the 2,375 statute mile flights between London and Gander on Monday.

The aircraft flew the first leg of the record journey in 2 hours, 19 minutes, one minute slower than the mark set Aug. 26 in an earlier test.

The aircraft completed both round trips to Gander in just one minute under 14 hours.

The flights are part of the Concorde's endurance program prior to going into scheduled operation with British Airways and Air France.

Davis Quits Grits For the Socreds

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former federal cabinet minister Jack Davis said Monday he has turned in his Liberal Party card in favor of a membership in the Social Credit party.

The former MP for Capilano, defeated in the 1974 general election, said he does not yet know whether he will run in the next British Columbia election.

"I've simply joined," he said.

"I think Social Credit is the only party that can form a (provincial) government that is capable of expressing the objectives I'm interested in," he said.

"I'm still a Liberal — I believe in Liberal principles (but) I think this is the party in which I can be most effective.

"I don't think the B.C. Liberals can make it."

Davis said that having lost the last federal election to Conservative Ron Huntington he faced a long wait before he would have a chance at federal elective office again, so he decided to join Social Credit and to get back into active politics.

Asked how he would respond to critics who might term his action opportunistic, Davis said he didn't see it that way.

B.C.-Mexico Rail Link?

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. department of transportation announced today it is launching a $100,000 study into the feasibility of inaugurating a 1,500-mile, high-speed passenger-freight rail service which would link Vancouver with Mexico.

"The Canadians haven't been contacted yet, but there are existing co-operative agreements with the Canadian railroads," said the spokesman for the department's Federal Railroad Administration.

The study will be conducted under a congressional mandate spelled out in the Amtrak Improvement Act of 1974.

The act directs that the feasibility of a high-speed corridor be investigated and an interim report be filed with Congress next Jan. 30.

The West Coast corridor is envisioned as stretching from Vancouver to Tijuana along existing tracks.

The study will be conducted in co-operation wit hthe states of California, Oregon and Washington, all of which "have already done some work in identifying transportation needs in the corridor," the spokesman said.

North of the border, he said, Canadian National tracks would be used.

IWA STILL WAITS

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's largest union, the International Woodworkers of America, remains uncommitted in its bargaining strategy with the forest companies.

With about 20,000 of its 35,000 Coastal and Southern Interior members already laid off because of soft timber markets, closure of the province's 20 pulp mills by members of two striking pulp unions and picketing by the pulp workers, the IWA has scheduled a negotiating committee meeting for Wednesday.

Sid Thompson of Vancouver, president of the Vancouver local of the IWA, said Monday, "It doesn't make any sense to go out on strike when 20,000 of our members are off the job and would lose their Unemployment Insurance benefits."

Thompson would neither confirm nor deny that one of the major points the committee will consider would be a second vote.

Who Got Missing Munitions?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pentagon study says enough weapons, ammunition and explosives disappeared from United States military bases around the world between 1971 and 1974 to outfit approximately 8,000 men.

The report also raised the possibility that the outlawed Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army and other terrorist groups may have received some of the stolen materials.

The report, by the Army Physical Security Review Board and released Monday by Representative Les Aspin (Dem.—Wis.), said approximately 6,800 weapons and 1.2 million rounds of small-arms ammunition or explosives were lost.

GORST SEEKING PARTY INTERNS

Esquimalt MLA Jim Gorst says that only party sympathizers should be chosen for a student program for political interns starting in B.C. Jan. 1.

But University of Victoria officials, co-operating with the provincial government on the program, said the program was designed to give students a first-hand education on matters of "all the parties" and students will be working with government and opposition MLAs.

The political internship program will allow 10 students to assist in political research and legislative matters.

Gorst, who's statement was made at the annual meeting of the Canadian branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, in Regina at the weekend, argued that o-l political interns should be "sympathetic to the (NDP) party's philosophy."

"Many of us felt we ought to have a political input into the students who come to our office," he said.

Gorst's theory was disputed by a variety of delegates attending the annual meeting. Delegates suggested that the internship programs — also offered by the federal government and a variety of provincial governments — should be managed by non-political committees.

Otherwise, they said, B.C. could find itself operating in a system similar to the hiring of executive assistants.

Land Return Due Wednesday

Location of 100 acres of cut-off service land the provincial government has promised to return to B.C Indians will be announced Wednesday, Chief Adam Eneas of the Penticton band said today.

Eneas said he and other members of the Union of B.C. Indian Chiefs cut-off lands committee are scheduled to meet Human Resources Minister Norm Levi in Victoria tomorrow.

The government has also promised to announce the name of its representative on the three-member committee being set up to study the cut-offs question, he said in a telephone interview from his Penticton home.

Eneas is the Indian representative on the committee. A third representative will be chosen by both sides.

The cut-offs issue concerns 36,000 acres of reserve land taken from 23 bands as a result of the 1913-16 federal-provincial McKenna-McBride Commission.

The bands are seeking return of the land or compensation for its loss.

Levi agreed at a June 24 meeting with the Indian cut-offs committee to return the first 100 acres of the cut-off lands by Sept. 1 as "a symbolic gesture of good faith" by the government.

The government alone will choose which land is returned, he said.

Government and Indians also agreed at the June 24 meeting to set up the three-member committee, which is to report back by Dec. 31, 1976, with recommendations on settlement of the cut-off land issue.

No Place for Lynch Law

These are strange times, admittedly, but recent statements from leaders of the nation's law enforcement fraternity warning of the possibility of vigilante action had us wondering whether this was Argentina or Northern Ireland, and not the peaceable dominion of Canada.

Victoria police chief Jack Gregory, in his capacity as president of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police said in a report to his fellow chiefs "some elements of society may seriously consider taking the law into their own hands" unless the federal cabinet stops commuting to life imprisonment the death sentences imposed on murderers. Vigilante action is "a very real danger," according to the chief.

William Kelly, formerly the deputy commissioner of the RCMP, was even blunter. He told the association's annual convention that unless capital punishment is reinstated, at the very least for all premeditated murders, Canadian policemen may begin to "shoot first and ask questions later."

Only a narrow line divides this type of comment from deliberate incitement to break the law. For a police chief of a fair-sized Canadian city and a former top Mountie to talk of such extremist action is a rank disservice to their offices.

Neither man stated his reasons for the reinstatement of capital punishment, but presumably they include the argument that it is a deterrent to those who deliberately set out to murder in cold blood. That is the penalty meted out in the underworld for infractions, but has it stopped the internecine gang warfare in Montreal? Contract killings in the Vancouver drug trade don't seem to have deterred freelance "burn artists" from trying to muscle in there, either.

Kelly and Gregory should listen to a man who also addressed the police chiefs' convention, Sir Robert Mark, commissioner of police at Scotland Yard and one of Britain's highest-ranking police officers. He is irrevocably opposed to this "irrevocable punishment."

"It is too high a price to pay for the demonstrable ineffectiveness of the judicial system . . . I am therefore opposed to the death penalty and so are most of my senior and most experienced colleagues."

If police in the U.K. — who are battling a terrible wave of terrorist bombings, remember — feel they can operate successfully without the death penalty for this most horrible kind of premeditated slaughter, cannot Canada's police deal likewise with a much less serious incidence of murder?

The kind of irresponsible alarmism being spread by Gregory and Kelly deserves no consideration in the debate shaping up in Parliament this fall over capital punishment. Abolition or retention should be decided on the facts, not on account of veiled threats. Lynch law has no place in the Canadian system of justice.

Taking a Gamble in Quebec

The Quebec government is apparently near a decision on whether to legalize gambling casinos. It will take political courage to come down on either side of the question — few proposals raise as much passion and as much debate.

The obvious advantages of casinos are that they raise money painlessly for government treasuries, relieve taxpayers of some burdens, and they provide a legal outlet for gambling, which goes on all the time regardless of the laws.

The reverse of the coin is that instead of attracting the rich, they may draw in the poor who cannot really afford to lose. And they also attract thugs and gangsters.

Quebec is trying to circumvent the latter problem by planning to run the casinos directly, rather than through private enterprise. This would give the government control of the revenue, which would go a long way to discouraging inroads by criminals. The Quebec government, however, has no answer to the first problem, that of seducing those who really can't afford to lose their rent money.

The government's only possible response is to argue that the poor will gamble even if they can't afford it. Witness the wide cross-section of society at the race track and at the lottery ticket counter. Whether gambling is a healthful pursuit is a moot point but it is as prevalent as the consumption of alcohol, a questionable but legal activity.

The Quebec government, if it must legalize gambling, has taken the right stance in saying it would run them directly, rather than letting private enterprise into the field. The only private enterprise in Canada with experience in casino activities is the criminal element.

Perhaps all governments should establish a department of dubious activities, directly controlling the sale of alcoholic beverages and tobacco and all forms of gambling, including race tracks. Horse racing, at present, is a private enterprise supervised by governments. The benefits of having direct control of the revenue are obvious. In addition, all net income would produce the single benefit of reducing taxes.

If people must pay taxes, it seems more sporting to give them something in exchange, such as a chance on a lottery or roulette wheel. Perhaps all they are getting is the misguided belief that "it's my turn" but that is at least better than the feeling that it's never going to be the taxpayer's turn to get out of the rat race.

W. A. WILSON

Empire-Building at Ottawa

OTTAWA — The one really strong argument in favor of mixed public and private ownership of large enterprises is that the presence of private money offers some safeguard against political abuse.

If, for instance, there had been private shareholders along with the government in Air Canada half a dozen years ago it is inconceivable that the cabinet would have turned that unhappy company's affairs over to a totally inexperienced top management. Politicians, being what they are, treat the public funds light-heartedly but they are generally more respectful of money that remains in private hands.

Now the public is being urged to pour money into the Canada Development Corporation and this is being done through a hard-sell campaign that would impress a promoter blowing off mining stock. There are a good many questions to be asked and some of them are fundamental: Why? Why now? Why a big public holding company?

If the CDC offering is successful, it will inevitably soak up a good deal of capital at a time when the economy is turning into a slow recovery, when interest rates are rising again and when the demands of government on capital markets are going to be high. So-why now? Did any one in government give any thought at all to the question whether it was desirable or necessary to add one more strain on limited capital resources at this moment?

Reverse the Trend

Even if the answer to that question were affirmative, it would still leave the next one begging for an answer: to what purpose?

When Walter Gordon first proposed creation of the Canada Development Corporation he knew very well why he wanted that particular tool. Deeply concerned about the steady growth of foreign ownership in this country he was convinced that the trend must not only be stopped but actually reversed.

The Canada Development Corporation, in its original concept, was to have been an instrument of his nationalism. In that context, it made good sense.

But Walter Gordon's nationalism was rejected at that time. The proposal kicked around, cluttering up throne speeches, for years after that until it became an embarrassing albatross around the Liberal party's neck. The ultimate decision to bring it into existence was not an exercise in Gordonian philosophy but in ad hockery — the easiest way to get rid of the embarrassment was to establish the corporation.

Once the government had its holding company, it was felt necessary to give it a bit of an empire. In much the same way, philosophically, that Jean Louis Gagnon's opening empire at Information Canada was created by giving him the Queen's Printer and its operations. Canada Development Corporation was given one of the more successful Crown corporations, Polysar.

That is a short but accurate explanation of why the government has a big holding company. To try to give expediency some sort of philosophical basis, CDC is also supposed to be in part a venture capital company. About all that needs be said about this is that no venture capital firm raising money through seven per cent preferred shares is going to be very venturesome: If it doesn't intend to defraud the country's smaller investors it had better be pretty conservative and pay strict attention to proven performance.

If it is clear enough why CDC exists, it is far from clear why it has been decided to launch a heavy sales drive to win public participation. Eric Kierans' great public merit lies in his capacity to throw up provocative challenges which demand answers. He has performed another public service by launching such a cutting attack on this particular project that some answers must be provided sooner or later.

He would do well to try to force some clarity into the government's approach to another of these grandiose projects: Petrocan. It is far from clear why the government is setting up its own petroleum company except that "it seemed to be a good thing." About all that is really known about Petrocan's future is that Energy Minister Don Macdonald successfully fought off the scheme to give its presidency to Jack Austin, his own former deputy and latterly Prime Minister Trudeau's principal secretary. While it is known now that Austin will be a senator and not president of Petrocan, that leaves a good deal of doubt about the actual future of the government's newest Crown corporation.

Part of the problem seems to be the government's lack of clarity in its approach to private and public ownership, a lack of clarity that leads to a sprawling proliferation of state activity without clear philosophical underpinnings for it.

At one time, when a Canadian government ventured into the world of business and industry it was clear enough why. Either a vital segment of the private sector had failed so badly that it had to be rescued — as with the railways that went into the Canadian National — or some vital area was unattractive to private industry and went to the state by default. The most conspicuous example of the latter, of course, is Air Canada, set up as Trans Canada Airlines by the late C. D. Howe because private enterprise was not interested in the project. Howe was the sponsor of other Crown corporations and it was always clear enough why he created them.

Endless Sprawl

If Walter Gordon had carried the day back in the mid-1960s, he would have created the Canada Development Corporation for a clear-cut purpose and, had his underlying policies been accepted, that would have made sense. But Gordon's policies, of course, did not prevail and we now have a state-owned holding company that does more to prove Parkinson's law than to demonstrate a coherent governmental approach to economic problems.

All governments have found the problems of oil perplexing during the last two years, having to wrestle with uncertainties of both supply and price.

It has not been made clear, however, in what way the creation of a national petroleum company in this country will help solve the problem. Some countries create such corporations for the clear reason that they are essential to the nationalization of oil resources. That is certainly not the Canadian purpose. Now it is to set up a new marketing organization. Is there any reason to believe that governments can search out new petroleum sources more effectively than the existing companies? That, at any rate, is not how oil has been found in the past.

RICHARD GWYN

Peace on the East Coast

EASTPORT, Nfld. — Except for the actual counting of the votes, Conservative Premier Frank Moores already has won the Newfoundland election he's just called for mid-September. Moores probably would have won anyway: His victory has become certain now that former premier Joey Smallwood, a Rip Van Winkle of undiminished energy and ego, will split the opposition vote with his Liberal Reform Party.

I've written a book about Newfoundland politics, and should care about the result. Frankly, I don't give a damn.

It is hard to take any kind of politics seriously after three weeks in our white clapboard house here, a salty lilac tree out in front, every window but one looking out on the sea. We fall asleep to the swish of waves washing into the cove below, where, a half century ago, our neighbor's father launched the 26-ton schooner Gertie to make the first of her summer runs to Labrador.

Truth, at our end of Bonavista Bay, is flashing up the wood and oil stove in the kitchen when a nor-east gale pulls in the ocean swell and sends spray dashing almost up to our windowsills. Or it's discovering, as the site for a picnic with visiting friends, a magic meadow on the top of a sheer cliff that looks out on the Sagh Islands, bare, hunch backed and yet utterly peaceable.

Thick in the Bay

Truth also is hearing Fred Sturge of Salvage say, with a slow, devil-take-them inlander grin, that the 3,900 pounds of cod he caught in his traps one day last July, was "a civil catch". The cod, mysteriously are back, perhaps because the squid are thick in the bay, and Struge's haul in fact was the largest he's seen since he last sailed down to Labrador in the 1940s. Up at 6 a.m., he worked till midnight gutting and cleaning his haul.

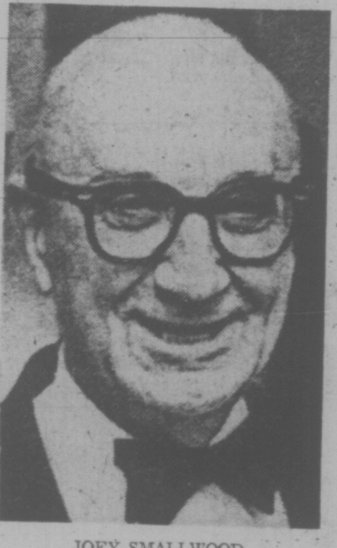
The other reasons the election seem hardly to matter is that the quality of the absurd, always present in Newfoundland politics, rarely has been as much in evidence as it is right now.

Two examples may illustrate the point. The first is the issue of a unilateral declaration of a 200-mile Canadian fishing limit. It has turned into a triumph not even of passion over reason so much as of sloppy emotion over common sense.

Moores last week persuaded his fellow-premiers, among whom in fact only Regan of Nova Scotia knows anything about the subject, to demand unanimously that Ottawa immediately impose the 200-mile limit.

The benefits of this step might be, at most, an advance of two years over the same result produced by the tortuous negotiations of the law of the sea conferences. The costs would be the erosion of our international reputation and the end of any hopes of an international agreement to protect Canadian salmon while they feed in mid-ocean. In addition, if challenged, we could not police our own limits.

Since the point of the 200-mile limit is to conserve the fish stocks, and not to portion out the catch among competing countries, the same effect could be achieved, and could be effected with international support, if Canada policed only the off-shore spawning ground but barred these from all trawlers, our own as well as those of other countries.



JOEY SMALLWOOD
. . . spoiler in dull vote

More serious, the 200-mile limit itself has become, as Fishermen's Union President Richard Cashin puts it, "a motherhood issue". Politicians compete to champion it. Overlooked in the rush are all the core problems of our decayed Atlantic fishery.

The blunt truth is that we do not now fish our full quota of North Atlantic fish. To close the gap, large new trawlers are needed. Even if our landings increased we could not today sell the fish: the U.S. market is glutted and we no longer possess the skills to sell abroad.

The other example of the absurd is more local in character yet in its way is more maddening. A half-decade after Ontario found the courage to halt the Spadina Expressway, Newfoundland is about to launch its own Spadina — a high speed arterial highway that will rip apart the heart of St. John's.

The stated goal is to speed freight outwards from the harbour. The inevitable, unplanned-for result will be to suck automobiles inwards in a destructive chain-reaction of downtown street widenings and the demolition of row on row of the weathered wooden houses that give the city its character.

"The original decision probably was a mistake," said Moores when I asked him why the province had committed $35 million to finish the half-built highway, "but we've no choice but to complete it."

A government that is captive of mistakes it recognizes itself is the final absurdity.

Best Moonshine

So one retreats, for three weeks at least, to the realities of Bonavista Bay. One learns, for example, that the best moonshine in these parts is to be found on St. Brendan's Island — this because the 500-odd souls there cannot support a resident RCMP constable, which is also the reason you'll find 12-year-old St. Brendians driving cars.

Or one learns, from the skipper of the Linda Ann II which makes the twice-daily run to St. Brendan's, that the only charts available of these waters are copies of those made by the British Admiralty, in 1869.

On our last day, the day Moores calls his election, a southwest Zephyr succeeds the nor-easter and turns the bay outside into the Mediterranean, soft, serene and azure. I go indoors to write this column, stare at the bay through the windows and think that it's crazy that there's just no way one could stay here and still earn a living writing columns about the rhetoric of the 200-mile limit or the obscenity of a freeway in a city of human scale.

Iron Church

Is there still living in Victoria anybody who remembers the old iron church of St. John's? This church stood on the site where the Bay is now, at Fisgard and Douglas. It was erected and consecrated in 1860, so we want to make contact with any old-timer to help us with our 115th anniversary celebrations on Sept. 13 this year. — Canon Grahame B. Baker, Rector, St. John's Church, Quadra and Mason Streets.

Criminal Code

Would you publish the actual statute which grants the power of commuting death sentences to the cabinet?

Is it a relic of royal prerogative? Is it a theoretical safeguard against human error? If so, does it not brand every death sentence since 1962 as being faulty?

Does it look more kindly on a fellow prisoner who kills a murderer guilty of a heinous crime and regard him as our conscience doing the job society should do and therefore commute his death sentence?

The police chiefs call for the death sentence for all premeditated murderers. Recently, Prime Minister Trudeau stated that if Canada does not want commutation we should vote it out.

The present contradiction in the two laws is rotting Canadian justice. — N. Derrison, Victoria.

Editor's Note — Section 684 of the Criminal Code of Canada states:

The governor in council, (the cabinet) may commute a sentence of death to imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, or for any term of years not less than two years, or to imprisonment in a prison other than a penitentiary for a period of less than two years.

. . . Notwithstanding any other law or authority, a person in respect of whom a sentence of death has been commuted to imprisonment for life . . . shall not be released during his life or such term, as the case may be, without the prior approval of the governor in council.

Those Who Feel

Who can deny that the unholy "trinity of conflict" in today's western world stems mainly from the semitic ego-maniac leaders of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam?

Who can deny the outstanding success of their ego-maniacal philosophy that "the love of money is the root of all evil?" And that we should all have more root?

And who can deny the up-to-date prophetic truth and success of the ego-maniac authors of The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion?

All of which proves: "The world is a comedy for those who think — but a tragedy for those who feel."—W. A. (Bill) Scott, 1052 Newport Avenue.

The glorious deeds of the Canadian soldiers in the present great war which the empire and her allies are waging against the common foe have inspired yet another patriotic song. It starts: "We're sailing by the thousand, O'er the waters blue; Your staunch sons of Canada, With hearts that beat for you. Asians, Africans Close Door on Western Press

By MARTIN WOOLLACOTT
The Manchester Guardian

BANGKOK — The freedom of the Anglo-American press to roam the world, criticizing, commenting, and generally poking its nose into the affairs of most non-Western societies, is something we have taken for granted since the end of the Second World War.

The general obeisance to democratic ideas elevated the rights of the foreign press into one of the lesser principles of international life, like diplomatic immunity or airline agreements. It was a principle subscribed to by all non-Communist countries, even where the freedom of their own domestic press came to be curtailed.

But we are fast approaching the point where, not only is it honored more in the breach than the observance, but the principle itself is being increasingly rejected.

In the last few months the Western press has been gently eased out of South Vietnam and Laos and gravely restricted in India. Correspondents who went to Nigeria after the coup were brusquely sent back to London. And the 40 or so reporters who went into Bangladesh last month on the first flight after the assassination of Sheik Mujibur Rahman were all expelled after three days. Ironically, they included several who had played a not inconsiderable part in mobilizing world opinion in support of Bangladesh in 1970.

Communist societies have always been more or less closed to the Western press, believing it to be a hostile institution, as much an instrument of the West's power as its diplomats, merchants, or armed forces, although usable, under certain controlled and restricted conditions, as a means of influencing Western policy. Now non-Communist countries are taking a not dissimilar line. Censorship, expulsion and the like are nothing new.

But the important point is that the new restrictions are being justified only superficially as necessary because of special, temporary conditions of war or emergency. They are being justified, instead, as a long overdue curbing of an international institution seen as operating essentially against the interests of the developing countries. The same note is struck again and again, from the apologetics of Filipino journalists to the arguments of Burmese academics, the complaints of Thai information officers and the polite disquisitions of Indian civil servants.

In this picture, Reuters, the Associated Press, the New York/Times, Le Monde, the British Broadcasting Corporation and all the rest are seen not as separate and diverse organizations but as elements in a system of cultural imperialism which gathers and interprets world news according to Western interests and values and then transmits it back to non-Western societies, overwhelming their own meagre news and propaganda resources.

India provides the clearest case. The restrictions which followed the emergency were imposed with a relish that was the product of decades of irritation and anger at the attitude of the foreign press to India. "We can do without you British and American correspondents," one official told me. "We have been putting up with you for nearly 30 years and what good have you ever done for India? The coverage has been destructive, super-critical, and ill-informed. The Anglo-American journalistic tradition is finished. I was trained in it myself, but what is it but a relic of colonialism? There was to be a new kind of international press."

Thus, the first foreign journalist to be expelled, Lewis M. Simons of The Washington Post, was thrown out not only because he broke the censorship but because officials regarded him as having a long record of anti-Indian stories to account for. And thus the efforts of correspondents to be fair are brushed aside.

The virtues of some correspondents, admitted or not, do not in the end matter. What matters is the overall effect of the whole body of foreign reporters. And the Indians decided years ago, it seems, that the effect has been on the whole bad and destructive.

The complaint that the foreign press always concentrates on the bad news is echoed throughout the third world and it is at least partially true. In the Philippines, few reporters visit model land reform projects in Luxon, but hundreds have gone down to Mindanao to cover the war between Moslem secessionists and the government army. The handful of reporters allowed into Burma consistently write off the country as a total failure. In Malaysia, correspondents turn again and again to the problem of race relations, industriously picking at the scab which was formed over the wound inflicted by the race riots of 1969. In Taiwan, the conflict between the dominant mainland minority and the native Taiwanese, on the one hand, and Taiwan's limited chances of long-term survival as an independent state, on the other, are the chosen themes. In Pakistan, the reporting emphasis since 1971 has been on the possibility of break-up. Sri Lanka is visited only to probe the curious question of why that country's democratic system has not yet collapsed.

In Africa, too, the Western press has assumed the role of undertaker for democracy. And where it has had access to Communist societies, the same hunger for conflict and catastrophe is apparent. With China, there is concentration on the succession question and the possibility of serious conflict after Mao's death, perhaps even civil war. And it is interesting that Western reporting of Vietnam after the fall has been greatly and rather unrealistically concerned with the idea that there could be a serious clash between Hanoi and the Provisional Revolutionary Government in the south.

The classic example of Western press freedom in Asia at its zenith was of course South Vietnam from the mid-1960s on. Every instinct of the South Vietnamese told them that the American and Western press as a whole were operating against their interests and that they ought to be thrown out.

But Saigon's dependence on the United States meant that the South Vietnamese had to grit their teeth and bear it, and only a few of the thousands of correspondents who worked in Vietnam were ever expelled or banned.

The concentration on the bad news is of course part of the Western journalistic tradition, and it is apparent in coverage of our own societies. But the third world critics argue that in Asia and Africa it goes deeper than that. A Filipino information official once said to me: "It is as if Western reporters feel their job in any developing society is to identify that society's weakest points and biggest problems and then make them worse by exaggeration and unremitting publicity."

The truth in what he said reflects the West's deep disillusion with nearly all post-colonial societies, as well as our assumption that we are still the ultimate arbiter of the rest of the world. According to this argument, talk about freedom of information is superficial. The Western press, it must be agreed, since decolonization has acted as a sort of international monitoring agency, whose inspectors — foreign correspondents — tour the third world to measure how far away from proper standards Asian and African societies have fallen. Their reports on famine, war, corruption and governmental incompetence and repression are presented to the Western public in tones of moral outrage.

The ideological diffuseness — or confusion — of the Western press almost makes it worse, say the critics. A country can find itself lambasted for not introducing authoritarian solutions to its problems and then heavily criticized for abandoning democracy, when it does. And right-wing and left-wing reporters and news organizations share at least one attribute, the notion that it is their role to judge and to apportion praise (if any) and blame.

The justice of many of the points in the case against the foreign press must be conceded. It has often been shallow and inaccurate and it does concentrate on the bad news. And attitudes of moral superiority and Western cultural chauvinism do underly much reporting.

But, for all its defects, the Western foreign press corps is all that the world has got in the way of an efficient international news-gathering organization. Even in Western terms, it is an unrepresentative organization, dominated as it is by the big American, and British news agencies, newspapers, magazines and broadcasting organizations. The French are in it, but they come a poor second, and after them trail the other West European countries with the Japanese foreign press, in spite of the manpower it deploys, on the periphery.

This organization, whose oddities are a product of history, is, however, the only existing means of maintaining a flow of reasonably reliable information between countries. The news establishments of the communist world hardly offer a feasible alternative. And the occasional efforts of Asian and African countries to set up their own systems of international news gathering have all been failures. Their own papers cannot afford foreign correspondents, and the few projects for Asian or African news agencies have collapsed for lack of money, expertise, and customers.

To shut out or restrict the Western press is thus an effective act of censorship. And the progress is well advanced: The Western press either has no free access or must tread very carefully indeed in countries containing over half the world's population. In the whole of Asia, for instance, there are now only five countries which correspondents can enter freely and operate without serious hindrance — Taiwan, Thailand, Malaysia, the Philippines, Sri Lanka and Pakistan.

Vietnam and Cambodia "watchers" have recently been added to that curious branch of the journalistic profession. Soon there may be India-watchers, too. The great era of the Anglo-American foreign correspondent, a person as privileged in some ways as a diplomat, travelling around combining the roles of adventurer, entertainer, reporter, and moralist, is coming to an end. But it is to be hoped that the rising tide of censorship and other restrictions will in time recede for, in spite of all the excesses and stupidities of the Western press in Asia and Africa, there is nothing else to take its place.

Manitoba civil servants demonstrate for more pay

A Civil Service Tempest Over Coffee Breaks

By ROGER NEWMAN

WINNIPEG — Manitoba taxpayers have been shocked by the revelation that provincial recreation department employees are taking extra-long coffee and lunch breaks.

Up to now, the government's 12,138 staff members have enjoyed a sterling reputation for dedicated public service. But their proud record for industry and diligence has been tarnished slightly by recent events in the recreation department.

Don Vernon, the department's deputy minister, has sent a memo to recreation employees accusing them of idling over coffee and lunch. Vernon, who was intalled in his post just last January, reached this conclusion after receiving a report from an efficiency expert who monitored the comings and goings of recreation staffers for two weeks.

"There are 250 persons taking 35 minutes extra for coffee and 15 minutes extra for lunch each day," Vernon says in his memo which is posted on a cafeteria door in one of Winnipeg's provincial office buildings.

"This represents $250,000 in lost employee time a year. And effective immediately, I request that all staff limit their coffee breaks to 15 minutes morning and afternoon."

Of course, ardent free enterprisers have always claimed that civil servants merely sit around waiting for their seniority rights and pensions to mature. But, in Manitoba, this is the first time that concrete evidence has surfaced to support some of these allegations.

It could be that the abuses detailed by Vernon are confined to the one department because recreation is, after all, their business. But taxpayers are wondering whether agriculture department employees are lying down in the fields, or whether health department nurses are catnapping on hospital beds. The situation is potentially serious because the public would be losing $4.2-milion a year if empoyees of the other 17 provincial departments were missing as much work time as their recreation colleagues.

However, Robert Brown, assistant head of Manitoba's Civil Service Commission, says he believes that the vast majority of provincial civil servants are strictly observing the 15-minute coffee breaks and the three-quarters-of-an-hour lunch period stipulated in their collective agreement.

"Naturally, certain individuals have to be jacked up from time to time about taking too long for coffee," says Brown. "But nothing has been brought to my attention about widespread abuses."

Meanwhile, Vernon thinks his memo is having the desired effect of curbing the excessively long breaks that were being taken by recreation department employees. Workers in the cafeteria frequented by many provincial staffers say Vernon's directive has not prompted any great rush back to the office. But the deputy-minister says he has noted a definite improvement.

"With minor exceptions, our employees are now following the regulations. They are reacting in an extremely responsible way and they are to be commended. However, I have had to send letters of reprimand to two employees and I am prepared to take further action if there is a recurrence of this problem."

Vernon says his philosophy is that he expects "a good day's work for a good day's pay." The lost-time abuses, he says, were a "bad situation" that had to be corrected because of the cost to the public.

"Some people complain that governments hire too many people. But by eliminating the coffee and lunch abuses, I believe I can restrict our department's administrative growth for one to two years," says Vernon. "Therefore, I was prepared to do something about the problem. If I had chosen to ignore it, I would not be doing my job as a manager."

How I Learned to Love Again

russell
baker

For a long time I did not love my oil company any more. I behaved cruelly, said terrible things and accused my oil company of betraying me.

My behaviour was unforgivable. I know that now. My oil company has shown me how deeply it was wronged by this churlish conduct, and it has forgiven me, and we have established a new relationship that is deeper and richer.

It is not simply that I dig deeper into capital and my oil company gets richer. There is true understanding now on which to build lasting affection.

Selfishness was the vice at the root of my ugly behaviour. In the old days, my oil company had been too indulgent with me. It strained to satisfy my most perverse whims. It was forever winking at me and whispering, in that come-hither murmur reminiscent of Marlene Dietrich, that it could be very friendly. The emphasis was on the "very."

If I wanted my windshield washed at 3 o'clock in the morning, my oil company never grumbled. When I needed a pick-up, my oil company urged me to visit the grassy splendors of its street-corner seraglio where it would put a tiger in my tank.

It was touchingly eager to check my oil, lest I develop a humiliating creak which might mar the gentle interlude of our romance, and when I was low it hastened about in grateful servitude at the cry of "fill her up."

It showered me with presents. Handsome roadmaps. Free glasses bearing the team emblem of the Baltimore Colts. Splendidly designed tour outlines to help me travel thousands of miles with the sweet sustenance of my oil company's ever-flowing liquid essence.

When all this was abruptly stopped one day, or bestowed only grudgingly, I fell into a loutish pet. This was heightened by my oil comany's incessant demands for ever-increasing sums of money. It was no longer like a romance, but like a marriage gone sour.

"You think I'm made of money?" I cried. "I need a fill-up and you say, 'Too bad for you, buster. You'll take three gallons and like it.' You don't even let me in after 7 p.m. half the time, and even when you do see me I've got to make a scene before you even wash my windshield."

My oil company bore this abuse in sorrow because, as I now realize, it had never stopped loving me. Lesser companies would have walked out, but my oil company, in the manner of certain heroic women who marry compulsive gamblers in order to cure them, undertook to help me.

Week after week, they spoke to me soothingly and intelligently through expensive newspaper advertisements, even more expensive television commercials and incredibly expensive politicians in the White House and Congress.

The message was unmistakable. My oil company wanted me back. As I studied my oil company's ads, watched its commercials and listened to its politicians, a wiser, more mature understanding began to grow. I saw the stupidity of my behavior.

Had my oil company not warned me for years and years that it could not go on filling up forever and giving out Johnny Unitas beer glasses at the same time?

Was it my oil company's fault if I had foolishly bought a machine that got only 15 miles to the gallon at a time when no other kind of machine was built in the United States? Surely I could have bought a European car and destroyed Detroit years ago.

And what if the government did build transcontinental expressways designed at huge expense to be travelled at 70 miles an hour? Was it my oil company's fault if I failed to throttle back to a more economical, low-cost-highway 55-mile-per-hour speed?

Gradually, I perceived that it was my fault. It certainly wasn't Detroit's fault for building the cars, or the government's fault for building the highways. Detroit and the government said it wasn't. The fault had to be mine.

My oil company did not take the easy way and try to turn my anger against Detroit and the government. It quietly went about its great task of performing breath-taking technological miracles for my benefit and the benefit of my country. I saw these miracles reenacted nightly on television, but my oil company never challenged me noisily to repay it with love and devotion.

It was humble and quietly mobile in its attempt to bring me to my senses. Without ever asking for pity, it left no doubt that the vast expenditures it was making for me and the country — the country my oil company and I shared together — were such that my oil company was prepared to shell out until it was destitute, if necessary to give me a better life.

My resistance crumbled rapidly in the final stages. During my oil company's commercials in last Saturday's NBC news telecast, I surrendered to tears and, in that moment, the gulf between us closed and love flowered again between me and my oil company. This time it is forever.

New York

Analysts said the tendency to cash in on some profits after last week's 30.58-point runup in the Dow might have been heightened by continued concern over New York City's financial difficulties.

Another evident depressant was the news that the federal budget deficit for July, at $11.05 billion, was the second largest on record for a calendar month.

Gold stocks declined broadly with the London bullion price sliding below $150 in reaction to the agreement by an International Monetary Fund group on on a plan for gold sales to aid poor countries.

Utah International, the NYSE volume leader, lost 2 to $51. A 117,000-share block traded at that price.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Farm commodity futures fell to limits and near limits on the Board of trade today, but a rally in the closing minutes heavily trimmed the losses.

The early limit falls included 20 cents a bushel in soybeans, 10 cents in corn and 6 cents in oats. Soybean oil, meal and wheat fell to levels just short of a limit move. Domestic gold futures fell the limit of $10 an ounce and silver futures were down the limit of 20 cents an ounce.

In the closing minutes, many of the shorts desided to take their profits in the various pits and liquidated positions. However, as more shorts joined the profit-taking moves, higher prices began to show and the profits of shorts were lessened as prices advanced. In the oil pit, where trade was extremely light, prices were forced to the limit higher.

ECM Exports Top Imports

BRUSSELS (AP) — For the first time in three years European Common Market countries seem to be exporting more than they are importing, a report indicates.

Because of a weakness in imports, Market experts say there may have been a slight excess of exports over imports starting in February for the nine Common Market countries taken as a whole.

Air Canada Eyes Know-How Sales

MONTREAL (CP) — The sale of Air Canada's computer expertise "could become an interesting source of revenue," says Pierre Jeanniot, vice-president of computer and systems services.

And additional revenues no matter how small, cannot be overlooked these days when most airlines, including Air Canada, operate in the red.

The airline already has computer-sharing agreements with Air Jamaica, Pacific Western Airlines and Eastern Provincial Airways.

Talks are in progress with several other small Canadian and medium-sized international airlines which are interested in either directly linking up to Air Canada's computer system or buying the airline's computer expertise.

Jeanniot estimated in an interview there are about 40 medium-sized airlines around the world that are potential Air Canada customers.

He is unwilling to discuss Air Canada's prices for such arrangements, but suggests potential revenue in the millions of dollars awaits aggressive salesmen.

"We've always made a good commercial return," he said, referring to deals already closed with airline

He admits Air Canada has not pursued these sales as ardently as it could have.

Officials from Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, had been interested in acquiring Air Canada computer technology and were enthusiastically wined and dined by Air Canada, Jeanniot said.

Air Canada has been more aggressive in its computer agreements with travel agencies.

Jeanniot said that since 1973, 113 travel agencies have been equipped with computer links to the airline.

Through this link, a customer at a travel agency can bookaflightplushotelaccar.

Air Canada itself is hoping to become more of a travel agent by beginning a cross-Canada ground-accommodation service that would even include advance booking in campsites.

A pilot project was started in Prince Edward Island, where a visitor at a government-operated tourist booth can obtain accommodation bookings anywhere in the province. This service is operated through the Air Canada computer system.

The Alberta government is planning a similar project and Air Canada is hoping to provide the computer technology for that service, eventually linking it to a proposed national service.

Tourists, including those who don't intend to fly with Air Canada, could check into a ticket office and obtain the information, Jeanniot said.

Debenture Sale Of $60M Filed

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Urban Community has announced it has filed a registration statement with the United States securities and Exchange Commission for a proposed sale of $60 million of sinking fund debentures. The debentures, due Oct. 1, 2000, are payable in U.S. funds and would be redeemable by Oct. 1, 1990.

The city's $75-million debenture issue last month was almost sold out a day after sales began.

Bell to Sell N. Electric Shares

MONTREAL (CP) — Bell Canada has confirmed it intends to sell six million of its common shares of Northern Electric Co. Ltd. together with warrants to purchase about three million Bell Canada common shares in the domestic and international markets.

Specific terms and conditions of the issue will not be determined until immediately prior to the offering of the shares to the public, a company statement said. It is expected the offering will be made in October.

Confirmation of the proposed issue follows statements earlier this month by Bell Canada that it was considering reducing its 90 per cent ownership of Northern Electric to 67 per cent. The general public holds the remaining 10 per cent of Northern Electric—Canada's largest tele-communications equipment manufacturer.

Detroit's '76 Models Head for Showrooms

DETROIT (UPI) — The U.S. auto industry proudly, formally and hopefully was raising the curtain today on its 1976 model show.

Ford Motor Co. led off the annual ritual, which mixes show business and hard sell. President Lee Iacocca was previewing the coming year's prospects for the No. 2 carmaker.

There are few surprises in the 1976 cars. Executives describe this as a year of transition, both in the national economy and in Detroit, where 1977 will bring a new generation of smaller standard-sized cars combining size, luxury and fuel economy.

Executives already have written off the 1975 model year as a disaster and, despite some hopeful sounds in the boardrooms of the industry, a lot of what happens in 1976 depends on outside factors.

The nation's economic health is the biggest factor. The price of gasoline is another.

Yet another factor is car prices. Here industry analysts say, Detroit plans to move carefully. When the 1975s came out, they carried price tags with increases ranging up to $1,000 than two years earlier.

Combined with the Arab oil boycott and the recession, millions of buyers were scared away.

Only General Motors Corp. has announced its new prices — up an average $206 for cars and $357 for trucks.

Because GM sells more than one-half the vehicles built in the United States, many think other automakers' prices will fall in the same price range. But this is by no means certain.

Last month, GM became the first automaker to sell its 1976 model — weeks ahead of the traditional unveiling and before Chrysler Corp. began building 1976s.

Sales this model year probably will hit about seven million, continuing the worst sales slump since the depression of the 1930s. Most analysts feel 1976 sales will improve, if only because they cannot get worse.

GM chairman Thomas Murphy predicted a few months ago sales in 1976 would hit 9.5 million. But many analysts forecast 9.3 million at the most.

There's No Time Like the Past For These 2,000

NEW YORK — From the speaker came the chilling sound of the creaking door of Inner Sanctum. A campaign button proclaimed Happy Chandler for President.

And there, in the flesh (albeit 67 years old), was Tarzan himself.

For those at the "first annual nostalgia convention," there's no time like the past.

While others fled to the beaches and mountains and elsewhere to escape the torments of the present, nostalgia fans collected during the Labor Day weekend for another of those conventions dedicated to the preservation and peddling of the "good old days."

For the convention's chief creator, 16-year-old Paul Saryian of Brooklyn, and 2,000 other old-Hollywood fans, it was a chance to view old movie serials such as Captain Marvel and Captain America and some television programs of the early '50s.

And as guest of honor, they had Buster Crabbe, best remembered for his roles as Flash Gordon, Buck Rogers and Tarzan in serials and so-called B-features of the 1930s and '40s. Crabbe, now 67, answered questions, signed autographs and conceded he enjoyed keeping his name alive by appearances on college campuses and at nostalgia conventions.

Many conventioneers were drawn by tapes of old-time radio programs.

Said Adam Richter of Rockaway, N.J.: "I just like the bygoneera. When I was a child, old-time radio was big — very, very big. And I used to enjoy listening to Gangbusters, Inner Sanctum — programs of that type — and I just get some kind of vicarious pleasure from them."

Others weren't that easily impressed. Adrian Schanler of Edison, N.J., went because her fiance wanted to go. She described nostalgia as "something past and dead, something some people unfortunately want to resurrect."

Dominating the convention was a thriving marketplace of memorabilia — everything from Hopalong Cassidy movie posters to the Happy Chandler for President buttons.

Nostalgia, almost by definition, used to be known as a pleasant — and perhaps not altogether accurate — yearning for the past.

If the New York convention was any indication, though, that past may no longer be so far removed.

After 25 Years of Prison Trio Can't Go Home

HONG KONG — Three Chinese, who were prisoners of war in Communist China for 25 years returned to China today after the Nationalist Chinese government would not admit them to Taiwan to join their families. "All three of us nearly gave our lives to the Kuomintang party in the civil war, but the Taiwan authorities have refused to grant us visas despite the repeated appeals of our families," Chang Hai-shang, 69, told a news conference before he boarded the train for Canton. He was accompanied by Chao Yi-hsueh, 68, and Yang Nantsun, 70. Chang said they were returning to China because they needed medical treatment. The three were among 10 former soldiers in Chiang Kai-shek's army who April 10 hoping to go to Taiwan. They had been PoWs since the Communist conquest of the Chinese mainland in arrived in Hong Kong on 1949 and were freed in a general amnesty early this year.

LAS VEGAS — The Jerry Lewis Labor Day Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Monday collected the largest sum ever raised by a single humanitarian fund raising event — $18,868,499. The telethon, shown on 195 stations, featured more than 100 celebrities during the entertainment marathon which lasted 21½ hours. Singer Frank Sinatra appeared in three mini-specials during the broadcast which originated at the Space Centre of the Sahara hotel on the Las Vegas "strip" with special feeds from New York. "I can't believe it, but its true. This proves something beautiful and powerful for me when we get together here as we've done. We're reaching for the things miracles are made of . . ." said Lewis, who has served 25 years as national chairman of the muscular dystrophy association.

NEW ORLEANS, La. — "When I was in vaudeville, I played cities smaller than this," Bob Hope said as he gazed at the vastness of the Superdome. Hope headed a troupe of entertainers in a charity benefit for the American Cancer Society and the Crippled Children's Hospital in the new $168-million stadium. About 20,000 people bought tickets ranging from $5 to the $100 champagne seats.

WASHINGTON — A leading advocate of women's rights in the military says she was relieved of her reserve command because she is outspoken. But the colonel who fired her says she was "defiant and would not follow orders." The United States Army has launched an investigation of the dismissal of Lt.-Col. Grace King, removed Aug. 6 as commander of a women's army reserve battalion based in Alexandria, Va., by her brigade commander, Col. William Rumsey. King, 50, said in a telephone interview from her Carlisle, Pa., home that her outspoken advocacy of women's rights helped lead to her dismissal.

"I made lots of enemies over that," she said. "But I have no intention of not being outspoken."

LEWIS
. . . something beautiful

KAPOSVAR, Hungary — When soccer fan Janos Pek shouted "penalty" from his hospital bed the doctors couldn't believe it — it was the first word he had uttered in 11 years. Janos, struck dumb in an accident in 1964, was listening to a radio commentary on Saturday's opening soccer game. When the commentator described how a forward was tripped in front of the goal, Janos shouted "penalty." Now he is talking normally again and doctors at Kaposvar Hospital say his dumbness, caused by a nervous trauma, has been cured by excitement. Incidentally, Pek's team won.

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. — Authorities say all 876 Vietnamese remaining at the refugee tent city here have sponsors who will take them before the centre's scheduled closing Spet. 15. Air force Lieut. Steven Phelan, centre spokesman, denied reports that only 600 of the refugees still at Eglin have sponsors and the rest would be sent to Fort Chaffee, Ark. "As far as we know, all of them here are sponsored. The only way any of them would go to Fort Chaffee is if the sponsorship broke down," Phelan said.

AGE NO BAR TO SWIMMER

HOOD RIVER, Ore. — Age didn't deter 74-year-old Roy Webster from competing Monday in the annual mile-long Columbia River swim that he initiated about 30 years ago.

Webster joined 127 swimmers, most of them teenagers, in the swim from the Washington side of the river to Oregon. He finished in the middle of the pack.

"I just wanted to show the kids a guy my age still can stay in shape and not finish last," said Webster.

MacSporrans Gathering

FIFE, Scotland — MacSporrans from all over the world are gathering this month for the first time to elect a chieftain.

In ancient times, MacSporrans were the official purse bearers to the MacDonalds and only one man in each generation was allowed to bear the name.

Now, Rhodesian Whites Begin to Worry

SALISBURY (WP) — The Rhodesian government and its white constituents are showing signs of strain after the collapse of the Victoria Falls settlement conference last week.

Political uncertainty, sweeping military mobilization and depressing economic indicators are taking their toll of a normally complacent white population.

"Where to now?" is a question that is beginning to intrude uncomfortably on a pampered poolside lifestyle that was given the minority whites one of the highest standards of living in the world.

The cool cloudless days of winter have turned into warm spring weather in Salisbury, bringing out a corp of newspaper advertisements for barbecue equipment, pool maintenance and summer fashion wear for the hot and rainy season ahead.

This year the pleasurable prospect of a long hot summer has been dimmed by the arrival of military draft orders, increased gasoline rationing and the nagging doubt that the white man's place in the Rhodesian sun might not be as secure as it once seemed.

"Leave it to good old Smithy (Premier Ian Smith)" is still the political rallying cry of the 274,000 whites.

But there is often a corollary — "He got us into this mess, now let him get us out of it."

The mood among whites is not one of alarm but there has been a discernible shift in public opinion over the last three weeks.

The Falls meeting generated considerable optimism which has been replaced by confused apprehension as the government pushes on with plans for a political and military confrontation with the forces of black nationalism.

Control of the press has been tightened, placing Phodesia's three main newspapers under a voluntary system of restraint in reporting contentious topics that is to be monitored by a press liason committee.

This fellows an appeal to the press by Smith to avoid "speculation, rumor and uninformed comment."

The foreign press, especially the South African, has been subject to greater scrutiny.

The South African press, has come in for scathing criticism from Rhodesian officials who claim a Holier-Than-Thou hypocrisy in repeated attacks from the land of apartheid on Smith's refusal to surrender gracefully to majority rule.

A cut in foreign exchange allocations to newsagent wholesalers had reduced the import of offending South African papers to a trickle.

The Johannesburg Sunday Times sent in 700 free copies of its paper last week.

Every copy, including those brought in by travellers at the airport, was confiscated. The paper is now faced with a de facto ban in Rhodesia.

Strains within the ruling Rhodesia Front party have showed clearly in Parliament where there has been much talk of treachery and fifth columns in the country.

Rhodesia's defence plans are now well advanced.

The military build-up along the northern and eastern borders is continuing with the deployment of military and police reserves to support regular units.

Four times as many troops in the region than there were six months ago.

The aim of the operation is to neutralize any build-up of guerrilla forces before the November rainy seasons. The tactics are constant patrolling.

The question is at what level and for how long this activity can be kept up before the economy shows signs of irreparable damage. One business in Salisbury which normally employs 18 whites has found its staff reduced to six by the draft and is considering closure.

Similar manpower shortages are being experienced by the majority of commercial and industrial businesses.

The country's war footing, which soaks up large supplies of petroleum, has aggravated the foreign exchange shortage, leading to a further imposition of import controls last week.

Imported tools and foreign-made pharmaceuticals are becoming scarce. Luxury items such as film and scotch whiskey have almost vanished from the shops.

The slowdown in manufacturing had fed the pool of unemployed African labor. Estimates show almost one million African jobless out of a total black population of six million.

It is a frightening statistic for the military commanders who know that an unemployed African youth is unlikely to kick his heels on dusty township corners for long before travelling to the guerrilla training camps north of the Zambesi.

In economic terms there seems little that can be done to stem the flow of guerrilla recruits.

The government's answer on almost every front is to prepare for a rough time ahead and hope that things will improve with better world trading conditions in 1976.

Short of an uncharacteristic climbdown or his removal or resignation from office, Smith seems determined to take the strain and fight for the principle of white rule.

TWO 'HIGHWAYMEN' ROB GREYHOUND PASSENGERS

DETROIT (UPI) — One man handed over $1,500 in cash and an $8,000 coin collection and a Chicago woman surrendered $80 and a watch she wore around her neck on a tiny chain.

The two — and 36 other passengers — were robbed by two bandits in a 1975 version of a stagecoach holdup.

Only this was on a Greyhound bus travelling from Chicago to Toronto Sunday night.

"Sure, I was scared," Mrs. Willie Burke of Chicago said. "I even yanked the watch off my neck myself because I couldn't undo the clasp."

Donald Paul, 27, of Detroit lost the $1,500 and the coin collection.

An off-duty Detroit policeman on the bus was robbed of $600 in cash, his badge and his service revolver. Police said he did not challenge the bandits because of the risk to other passengers.

Altogether, police said, the holdup netted the bandits possibly $20,000 in cash and $15,000 in rings, watches and other valuables.

A Greyhound spokesman said it was only the "third or fourth" robbery of a bus in recent company history. He said he also believed it netted bandits their richest haul in a bus robbery.

The two men, described as "business types" wearing flowered shirts, boarded the bus in Chicago. Driver William Groshe, 61, said one man put a gun to his head just after the bus made a rest stop at Ypsilanti, about 25 miles southwest of Detroit and ordered him to drive on.

At the same time, Gorshe said, he ordered passengers to close their eyes and put their hands on top of their heads.

"Two or three passengers were struck on the head when they failed to deliver their goods quickly enough, Gorshe said.

When they finished the robbery, the men ordered Gorshe to stop at a freeway exit. Police said they believed an accomplice with a car met them.

Despite efforts by federal, state and local police, no trace of the men had turned up Monday.

The robbery sent oplice back to files they were keeping from one week earlier, when two bandits again posing as passengers commandeered a Greyhound interstate express in the Detroit area and systematically robbed its passengers of $831.

Ward Won't Play

Victoria Shamrocks will have one less obstacle in their way when they take on Vancouver Burrards at Richmond Arena.

Down 2-1 in their best-of-seven Western Lacrosse Association final, the Shamrocks won't have to contend with Vancouver bad-boy Ward Sanderson.

Sanderson has been suspended for tonight's contest and the Burrards fined $100 by WLA commissioner Colin Cruickshank for an ugly incident Saturday night at Memorial Arena.

With 33 seconds left and his club down 12-7, Sanderson attacked Victoria's Mike Beaulac from behind and pounded the Shamrock player into a bloody daze.

Once in the penalty bix, Sanderson was the target of debris of taunts hurled at him by irate fans. His teammates rushed to his rescue but cooler heads prevailed and a riot was avoided.

Because of the disturbance, referees Wayne Frank and Dave Hutchings ended the game with the 33 seconds left to play.

The third game was a bad one for the Burrards in more than one way. Tied 6-6 after 40 minutes, they were outscored 6-1 in the final period.

Charn Dhillon led the Shamrocks with thhree goals while team captain Ranjit Dillon scored twice and added three assists. Ron MacNeil also tallied twice.

The top performer for the Shamrocks, however, was goaltender George Grover. He finished with 45 saves, including 22 in the second period.

Ron Pinder and Bob Salt were the top marksmen for Vancouver with two goals each. Pinder's two lifted his season total to 80.

Walker Missed Fast Pacesetter

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — John Walker of New Zealand, world record holder in the mile, failed by six-tenths of a second in an attempt to beat the 2000-metre world record Saturday.

The 23-year-old New Zealander clocked four minutes, 56.8 seconds in what turned out to be, for all intents and purposes, a solo effort.

Michael Jazy, the French middle distance star who now is retired, holds the world mark of 4:56.2 set nine years ago.

Cables Push Bakers To Elimination Brink

NEW WESTMINSTER — Burnaby Cablevision pushed Victoria McDonalds to the brink of elimination Monday with a 14-9 triumph.

The win gave Burnaby a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven Western Canada Junior Lacrosse League final. Sixth game in the series is tonight at 8 p.m. at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Sunday, Kevin Alexander scored five goals to lead the Bakers to an 11-9 victory at the Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Burnaby led 2-1 after the first period Monday and 8-6 after 40 minutes.

Bob Cool was the top marksman for Victoria with three goals while Alexander had two goals and two assists. Kim Bowles, Lorry Gloeckner, Charlie Randle and Tej Labh each scored once.

Al Radley stopped 40 shots for the McDonalds while Burnaby goalie Rich Zecchel made 36 saves.

Sunday, it was a strong second period by the McDonalds which proved the difference. Ahead 3-2 after the first period, they ran up a 7-3 lead going into the final 20 minutes.

Besides Alexander, Victoria got four goals from Norm Baker. Cool and Labh had the other markers.

Radley made 32 saves while Zecchel blocked 35 drives.

Wilkinson Finds Time To Rescue His Eskimos

By The Canadian Press

Tom Wilkinson did what Chuck Ealey couldn't Monday afternoon, so Edmonton Eskimos and Saskatchewan Roughriders wound up in a tie for first place in the Western Football Conference.

Wilkinson fired a 17-yard touchdown pass to rookie John Konihowski as Edmonton came from behind to nip Calgary Stampeders 35-31 before 27,188 fans at Calgary while Winnipeg's Ealey ran out of downs with about 20 seconds remaining in Saskatchewan Roughriders' 27-23 triumph over the Blue Bombers before a Regina crowd of 21,915.

A costly holding penalty helped ruin Ealey's last-minute bid. The loss dropped Winnipeg into third place in the WFC, two points behind Saskatchewan and Edmonton, who meet Saturday night to settle, at least temporary, possession of first place.

Despite sore ribs, Wilkinson was brilliant. He threw to George McGowan and Tyrone Walls to move from the Edmonton 35 to the Calgary 17, then found Konihowski uncovered in the end zone.

The pass ruined a tenacious effort by the Stampeders, who took the lead less than a minute earlier on Rick Galbos' second touchdown pass of the day from Joe Pisarcik.

TOM WILKINSON
. . . late payoff pitch

Wilkinson took over when starter Bruce Lemmerman injured a hand in the third quarter. Wilkinson threw a touchdown pass to Don Warrington early in the fourth quarter to put the Eskimos in front. Lemmerman found McGowan for an 11-yard touchdown in the opening frame.

Veteran Ron Lancaster led a solid march in the last quarter to pull Saskatchewan from behind with a nine-yard scoring pass to young Steven Mazurak.

A 78-yard punt return by Tom Campana and a three-yard run by George Reed provided the other Roughrider touchdowns. Jack Abendschan kicked three converts and two field goals.

For Winnipeg, Bob Larose took a five-yard pass from Ealey and Steve Beaird ran three yards for touchdowns. Bernie Ruoff added the remaining 11 points on two converts and three field goals.

Andrusyshyn, whose field-goal kicking had carried the Argonauts through other games, missed on five tries Monday and Toronto bowed 20-11 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

His missed field goals would have been enough to turn the tide for the Argonauts, who had a clear statistical edge but couldn't move the ball once they got within scoring range. Three times in the second half their offensive drives faltered inside the Hamilton 35.

Complicating things for Toronto was a Hamilton defensive line that sacked Argo quarterback Mike Rae for a total of 50 yards.

N.Z. Is Next Stop; How Sweet It Is

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Victoria Bates' coach Joe Patterson "felt we had a good shot at winning" the Canadian senior men's softball championship before the British Columbia champions left for last week's nationals at Oshawa, Ont.

Bates, hoarse and happy, returned home Monday with the championship trophy and Patterson had another opinion about his players.

It's the texture of their "jam."

"We beat Oshawa three times in a row . . . in their ball park," said Patterson. "That's when this club showed me the kind of jam they're made of . . ."

Bates came home to a rousing welcome at Victoria Airport and will have "two or three weeks to savor victory before Patterson hails the team "Back to work" for a bid at even greater glory.

It's on to New Zealand and the world championships next January.

The trip to New Zealand is the other reward Bates earned Saturday when they captured the national title with a come-from-behind 3-2 victory over the defending champion Oshawa Tony's.

Trailing 2-0, Bates reeled off their seventh straight, and deciding, victory with a three-run spurt in the bottom of the sixth. Victoria pitcher Stan Kern retired the last three Oshawa batters in the top of the seventh, and Bates erupted.

Victoria's players found it easy to unleash their emotions. They all were on hand last year when Oshawa defeated Bates in an extra inning to win the title at Victoria's Royal Athletic Park.

Bates did to Tony's what was done to them.

Among the most emotional were Kern and outfielder Harvey Stevenson. Kern finally "made it" after seven previous appearances in Canadian finals.

Last year's disappointment at home wasn't forgotten by Stevenson. He was the producer of the game-winning hits in each of Bates' victories over Oshawa last week, including a two-run single in Saturday's nationally televised final.

Shortstop Bob Holness also helped rub salt into Oshawa's back. Guilty of a miscue that helped Oshawa last year, Holness chilled Tony's final hopes with a brilliant, diving leap to retire the first Oshawa batter in the top of the seventh.

"That was a deluxe play," said Patterson. "If it goes through, it could have been a two-base hit. Instead, it's the first out."

Carl Walker, named as the second baseman on the All-Canada team, handled the second putout and Kern wound it up in style by striking out pinch-hitter Wayne Culley.

Outfielder Ken Bate was the first to detect victory. Manager Jack Bell said Bate started to run in as soon as Kern released the last pitch.

"You could tell it was a hummer," said Bell.

Kern was the only member of the Victoria party who didn't return with the team Monday. He was motoring back from Ontario with his wife.

Both Bell and Patterson were quick to laud Kern for a courageous performance. Dave Ruthowsky, who won four of the seven games, started against Tony's but Kern came in after Oshawa scored its second run.

"Nobody knew it," said Patterson, "but there wasn't much meat left on the tip of his index finger. I don't know how he was able to throw, but, boy, did he throw."

Kern was named to the All-Canada team alojg with Walker, but Patterson was upset that catcher Bob Burrows was snubbed in favor of Oshawa's Bob Solomon. Burrows hit three homers during the week, contributed two other key hits and picked off three players, including Oshawa's Bob Young in the third inning Saturday.

"There isn't a man who didn't contribute," said Patterson. "The philosophy of this team is to play together, to win together and to lose together.

"I could go right down the list . . . Randy Benn, a rookie, had a big hit against Nova Scotia and played well defensively in his first Canadian tournament."

Patterson said that, while travel arrangements to New Zealand were started at the weekend, neither he nor sponsor Herb Bate have discussed the team's makeup for the world tournament.

"As I understand it," said Patterson, "we're allowed four replacements, but we would have to drop two players. As far as I'm concerned, the only player we're dropping is an automatic one . . . Clay Allinotte."

No Pension, No Russian Series

An eight-game series between National Hockey League teams and club teams from the Soviet Union could go down the drain unless NHL owners agree to player demands.

Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHL Players' Association (NHLPA), said Monday the owners must meet player pension demands and accept an international tournament proposed for Canada in the fall of 1976.

Eagleson said the NHLPA is demanding a monthly increase of $500 to $750 in maximum pension payments, an increase he said would cost each club an extra $22,000 a year.

Other teams in the tournament would represent the United States, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Finland.

The NHL owners have accepted a contract from the Soviet Ice Hockey Federation for this season's series to be played against various NHL teams.

SPORT SHORTS

The two contractors who built the framework part of Olympic Village in Montreal have received a bonus of $1.38 million each for finishing 184 days ahead of schedule.

In signing their contract for the apartment complex which will house athletes during the 1976 Games, Formco Inc. and Dominic Supports and Forms Ltd. were promised a bonus of $7,500 for each day they were finished before the due date.

The Netherlands and Canada set the pace Monday, the second day of the women's world hockey championships, in Edinburgh, with crushing 8-0 victories over Austria and Denmark, respectively.

Scotland blanked Canada 5-0 in one of the opening-round matches Saturday.

John Edrich, lefthanded opening batsman, led England in a good fight-back after they had followed on a crushing 341 runs behind Australia on the fourth day of the fourth and final cricket test at the Oval Monday.

Edrich scored 91 not out in just under 5½ hours as England made 179 for one wicket in its second innings to cut the deficit to 162 runs. He was assisted by David Steele, 52 not out, in a second wicket stand which has so far put on 102 runs.

Goddard and Time Against Harrison

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Times Staff

Jim Goddard knew what his problem was, and had time to adjust.

Jim Harrison also knew he had troubles, but didn't have time to adjust.

The difference enabled Goddard to accomplish "the great comeback" and dethrone Harrison as the Canadian junior men's golf champion on Saturday.

Nine strokes behind the leader at one stage in the third round and five behind starting out the last day Goddard came up with a one-over-par 72 at Gorge Vale Golf Club to capture the Pepsi Cola Silver Cup with a 72-hole score of 296.

Harrison, the 18-year-old defending champion from Islington, Ont., struggled in with a heart-breaking 81 and settled for runnerup honors with a 300 total.

"I knew I was having problems, but I couldn't do anything about it," said Harrison, who led the first three days after posting rounds of 72, 72 and 75.

Goddard, who celebrates his 19th birthday today, had all his difficulties in Wednesday's opening round. The quiet one from Seymour Golf Club in Vancouver hit eight of the first nine greens in regulation, but was six over at the turn en route to an opening-round 80. He three-putted six of the first nine greens and decided to switch putters.

Goddard had only three, three-putt greens during the last 63 holes while completing the tournament with rounds of 73, 71 and 72.

The last-day's turnabout was unexpected . . . even by Goddard.

"I figured I had to shoot 70 or 69 to get close," said the British Columbia champion, "and I thought Harrison would be about 75 — and no worse."

Harrison had his troubles throughout, and couldn't do a thing to improve his day. He missed fairways with his tee shots, chipped poorly and "couldn't buy a putt."

Ironically, Harrison won the title last year at London, Ont., with a final-round charge. He was five strokes off the pace but gained seven in his final round to finish two blows ahead of Ted Pease of London and Sandy Billyard of Fonthill, Ont.

Victoria junior champion Jim Rutledge, only 16, had a final-round 78 to finish third with a 303 total, one stroke head of Joe Limoli of Coquitlam.

Rutledge, 77, 77 and 71 in his first three rounds, was an easy winner of the Canadian juvenile title. A member at both Uplands and Cedar Hill, Rutledge finished six strokes ahead of another outstanding prospect, 14-year-old Eric Kaufmanis of Aylmer East, Que.

Kaufmanis, who has four years of junior eligibility remaining, was a marvel of consistency with his 77-77-77-78—309 performance.

Jay Evelyn of Unionville, Ont., 78-84-75-75—312, was third in the competition for 16-year-olds and under.

Also a winner was the 6,530-yard Gorge Vale track. In four days and 499 rounds, none of Canada's best juniors were able to break par. Only two — Rutledge and Goddard — were able to match par.

No Stopping Morgan

Professional John Morgan of Victoria fired a record-breaking 58 Sunday and then defeated amateur Bob Beauchemin in a playoff to capture top honors in the annual CFAX-Metro Toyota Open tournament at Cedar Hill Golf Club.

Morgan, who plays out of Uplands, went over par on only one hole. That was when he took a bogey five on the 18th. He had eight birdies to post his seven-under-par round that broke the previous competitive record of 59 shared by professionals Bill Wakeham of Cowichan and John Kindred of Florida.

Morgan had nines of 27 and 31 against Cedar Hill's pars of 32 and 33.

Morgan opened the 36-hole tournament with a 67 Saturday.

The 21-year-old Beauchemin did his part to force a playoff by scoring a five-under 60 Sunday after an opening 65.

Morgan, who took top pro money of $700, settled the issue with another birdie, dropping a 15-foot putt to end the playoff on the first hole.

Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont., leading money-winner on the Canadian tour this year, finished third with 62-64—126 and earned $425.

Reg Clarkson, living in Vancouver but playing out of Gregarah, was runnerup amateur with 64-63—127 and tied South African pro Gaylord Burrows for fourth overall.

A playoff also was necessary to decide the low net winner. Rich McDowall of Gregarah defeated Jim Ferguson of Golf Services in a playoff after both finished the 36 holes with 13-under 117 totals.

Jamie McGregor and George Barnes, both of Cedar Hill, finished a stroke behind at 118 while another Cedar Hill trio — Ray Saxon, Dave Rands and Jack Anderson — were in at 119.

Iverson Collects First Tour Win

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Don Iverson shot a 68 Monday, then watched his leading rivals settle for pars on the 18th hole as he won the $175,000 B.C. open golf tournament — his first tour victory.

Australian David Graham missed his 20-foot birdie putt and Jim Colbert, who hit his second shot into the rough right of the green, settled for a par on the last hole.

Iverson, wh finished with a 10-under-par 274, won $35,000. He collected five birdies and bogied two holes. Three of his sub-par holes came in a row, the 10th, 11th and 12th. Following a 13th hole bogey, Iverson parred in and began the wait.

Colbert and Graham, who shared second place with 275s, each carded 68s. They were followed by Terry Diehl, who had a 66 for 276.

Hubert Green, the 1973 B.C. Open champion who failed to make the cut last year, was bracketed with Jerry McGee and Jim Wiechers at 277. McGee had a 66 and Green and Weichers 67 each.

Tennis Women Select Evert

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Chris Evert was elected president Saturday of the Women's Tennis Association, succeeding Billie Jean King.

Miss Evert, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., had been vice-president for the last year. She was elevated to office for one year in a vote of members prior to her second-round victory over Natasha Chmyreva of the Soviet Union in the United States Open tennis championships.

Francoise Durr of France was elected vice-president, succeeding Miss Evert. Mrs. King, who has retired from international singles competition, will remain with the WTA in an advisory capacity.

Soccer's Thugs Rampage Again

LONDON (AP) — British soccer fans were officially warned Monday that league games may have to be played behind locked doors in empty stadiums if hooliganism is not brought under control

As police and railway officials totted up the damage after a weekend of unprecedented savagery, Alan Hardaker, secretary of the English League, said:

"I don't envisage league matches being banned or played behind closed doors in the immediate future. But sooner of later, if something is not done, this will be the ultimate."

Holligan fans smashed up trains, buses, shops and house windows, and beat up innocent bystanders during rampages to and from soccer stadiums.

One gang of fans stole mail from a train and used it to start a fire in one coach.

A railway official said it was "the worst football Saturday in memory." He estimated the damage at several thousand pounds.

Howell said he was considering asking the government to introduce stiffer punishment for hooligans at soccer games.

Seaver's Arm a Durable Weapon

TOM SEAVER

. . . strikeout king

In the early years of major league baseball the pitchers renowned for their strikeout ability were Walter Johnson and Rube Waddell.

A few years later, Dizzy Dean and Lefty Grove were among the top strikeout artists.

In the 1940s it was Bob Feller and after him came Robin Roberts, Herb Score, Jim Bunning, Don Drysdale, Sandy Koufax and Bob Gibson.

However, none of them accomplished what 30-year-old Tom Seaver of the New York Mets has done.

Seaver struck out 10 batters Monday as the Mets downed Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 in a National League game in New York.

Those 10 strikeouts increased his season total to 204 and made him the first pitcher to ever strike out 200 or more batters in eight consecutive seasons.

The 30-year-old righthander began his streak in 1968 when he struck out 205 in his second year in the majors. He then posted marks of 208, 283, 289, 249, 251 and 201 before hitting the mark again Monday.

The only other pitcher in the majors to fan 200 or more batters in eight different seasons is Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals, who did it over a nine-year period.

Gibson began his effort in 1962 and completed it in 1970 but was held to 147 strikeouts in 1967 when he spent a month and a half on the disabled list with a broken leg.

Waddell and Johnson each had seven 200-plus strikeout seasons in a row, Waddell from 1902-08 and Johnson from 1910-1916.

Rookie sensation Mike Vail gave Seaver the only run he needed when he homered in the first inning off John Candelaria. Rusty Staub and Joe Torre added run-scoring hits in the sixth.

The only hits off Seaver were singles by Willie Stargell, Ed Kirkpatrick and Dave Parker.

The victory made Seaver, 20-7, the National League's first 20-game winner this year. Baltimore Orioles' Jim Palmer is the majors' only other 20-game winner.

The Mets moved into a tie for third place in the Eastern Division with Philadelphia Phillies with the triumph. The Phillies lost 6-5 to Montreal Expos.

In off-field action Saturday, Atlanta Braves fired manager Clyde King and replaced him with scout Connie Ryan who will serve on an interim basis.

King, who started as manager July 25, 1974, after taking over from Eddie Mathews, guided the Braves to a third-place finish last year.

He will remain with the club as special assistant to vice-president Eddie Robinson.

Cards Honor Veteran Hurler

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson was saluted Monday by a sellout Busch Stadium crowd and confessed: "I've never been this nervous . . . even in a World Series."

The occasion was a ceremony prior to the St. Louis Cardinals' National League baseball game against Chicago Cubs during which Gibson, 39, who will retire at the conclusion of this season, was honored.

The pitcher's uniform, No. 45, was retired, only the third time the Cardinals have done that for a player.

"It's going to be a new life, a strange life for me," Gibson told the crowd. "But I just hope that I can be half as successful as I have been in baseball."

The Cards' board chairman, August A. Jr., presented Gibson with a 30-foot mobile home.

President Gerald Ford sent a letter, which saluted Gibson's record accomplishments, including 17 strikeouts in a World Series game, a 1.12 earned-run average during the 1968 season, and 251 career victories.

In another development involving a National League pitcher, Pittsburgh Pirates announced Saturday they have reinstated veteran Dock Ellis, lifting his suspension after 14 days.

Ellis, normally a starter with the Pirates, had been suspended briefly two weeks ago for refusing a bullpen assignment in Cincinnati.

Coming off that suspension, he asked to address a team meeting — at which he was reported to have blasted manager Danny Murtaugh and several team-mates. he was then placed on a 30-day suspension.

Japanese Collapse In Title Encounter

MONTREAL (CP) — The United States and Japan, who staged a 12-inning thriller last week in the round-robin portion of the Intercontinental Cup baseball tournament, met Sunday in the final but it was an anticlimax.

The U.S. prevailed 1-0 last Thursday night in a game that featured sharp fielding and strong pitching. The 4,893 who turned up for the title game Sunday expected a similar treat, but only the U.S. played as well as expected in taking an 8-0 decision.

In the consolation final, Pedro Selva crashed a lead-off home run in bottom of the ninth to give Nicaragua a 5-4 win over Canada. Selva's homer off Fred Cardwell, who went the distance for Canada, was Nicaragua's only earned run. Two Canadian runs were unearned as well.

The Americans, who fashioned a 7-0 record in the round-robin and beat Canada 7-5 in semi-final action Saturday, scored one run in the first and three in the second off losing pitcher Tomoyasu Hagino.

Bob Ferris, a University of Maryland student, scattered five hits in his shutout performance.

Canada scored three runs in the top of the first inning against Nicaragua and led 4-1 after their turn at bat in the fifth, but the Nicaraguans scored single runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh to pull even at 4-4.

Barry Returning To Golden State

OAKLAND (AP) — All-star forward Rick Barry said last week he would return to defending champion Golden State Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

"I have decided to continue as an active player with Golden State Warriors for the next three seasons, or as long as I can maintain a high level of performance," Barry said in a statement released by the team.

In the Canadian Armed Forces, you can be almost anything you ever wanted to be.

A Canadian Forces base is a mini-city. Every skill from dentistry to fire-fighting is needed.

We can give you most of these skills.

You could learn trades ranging from radio-technician to auto mechanic. These are skills you keep; a passport to security for the rest of your life.

But trades are not all we offer you.

In "Maritime Command", you'd be part of a team running a ship and visiting other countries.

In "Air Command", you'd work with jet fighters and transports, maybe as part of an air crew.

In Combat Arms, you'd learn all the skills of survival while living the sort of rugged, outdoor life that's impossible anywhere else.

And if you measure up, you could be paid to go to school or university to further your education, which could lead to an officer's career.

The Canadian Forces have a lot going for you. A chance to travel and get out of the rut. Good pay while learning a valuable skill. The comradeship and chance to make lifelong friends that only comes by being part of a team.

Allison's Win a Timely One

By JIM CRERAR

Times Staff

Regardless of what he does in Saturday night's running of the Canada 200 open stock car race at Western Speedway, Bobby Allison has already won first prize for his timing.

One of only three stock car drivers to win more than $1 million in his career, Allison added to his victory total Monday at Darlington, S.C., by capturing the Southern 500.

His next stop is Victoria where he will drive a 1974 Chevelle owned by Dick Midgley in the Canada 200, top race of the season locally. Nearly 1,000 advance tickets have been sold and if the weatherman co-operates, a crowd of more than 5,000 is almost certain.

Midgley dropped a new engine in his car and Hershel McGriff of Bridal Veil, Ore., drove it to a second-place finish Sunday in a 200-lap Western Grand National race at Evergreen Speedway in Monroe, Wash. The engine performed flawlessly but some suspension adjustments are being made this week. Ray Elder of Carruthers, Calif., finished a half-lap ahead of McGriff.

It was a good weekend for three area drivers.

Roy Smith captured his fifth consecutive Billy Foster super modified championship Sunday at Western with about 1,000 watching. He now has a 68-point lead in his quest for a first Washington Racing Association driver points title.

And Roy Haslam won both ends of an open competition doubleheader at Vernon by taking a pair of 50-lap features Saturday and Sunday. He also set a track record at Vernon with a 16.66-second clocking in Saturday's time trials and 16.60 Sunday. He held the old mark of 16.84.

There are two races left in the WRA super-modified series — Sunday at Monroe and a week from Friday on the dirt track at Sky Valley Speedway, also at Monroe. A strong finish by Smith and the Daffodil Special in either race will all but clinch the series title.

Sunday at Western, Smith took the lead on lap 12 and held it the rest of the way. The early front-runner, George Robertson of Lewiston, Idaho, retired with a blown engine on lap 24.

The race was marred by a first-lap mishap in which Cliff Hucul of Prince George broke an axle and lost a wheel, spun out and took Mac MacTaggart of Tacoma and Jerry Sneva of Spokane with him. There were no injuries.

On Monday, Mike Barteaux led for the first four laps but was overtaken by Johnson, who remained in front. He was 12 lenghts ahead at one point but a red flag on lap 19 cut the margin. It came when Roger Walker of Duncan blew an engine and pulled off the track with the motor blazing. He extinguished the fire himself.

The wins gave Capital the best-of-five series 3-1. Eagles defeated Capital 3-1 in the first contest Sunday.

Gary Simpson and Greg Smith each drove in two runs for Capital in the final game. Barry Werbowski and John Oliver had two runs batted-in apiece for the losers.

Lloyd Symons of North Burnaby was selected the A division's most valuable player with Gordie Robertson of Saanich and Herb Whitehead of Delta named as runners-up.

The Irish XV will play Cowichan Sept. 6 in Duncan and conclude the tour with matches against University of Victoria Vikings Sept. 9 and Castaways Sept. 13, both at Royal Athletic Park.

MRS. ALEC CRAIGMYLE is the mother of Times Carrier Robert Craigmyle, and two former Times Carriers.

First— it was DONALD who is now 25 years of age, married and living in Victoria, and is a teacher at Victoria West School. As a Times Carrier, he handled several routes including the Jubilee Hospital route for three and a half years. His record was excellent, and part of his monthly profits were saved to assist in his future education.

Second— it was DAVID who is now 24 years of age, married and now residing in Kelowna attending Kootenay College as a student, soon to graduate as a teacher. During his period as a Times Carrier he managed route L16 and because of his leadership ability was promoted to the position of a Times Sub-Manager. David also used part of his earnings for an assist to higher education.

Third— it is ROBERT who is now a recent Times Carrier, following in the footsteps of his two brothers, and is managing route X10. In the short time he has been a Carrier, he has a perfect service record and is proving himself a progressive young businessman with an aim for the future. Bugs Alive King of Quarterhorses

Bugs Alive in 75 broke on top, established early command and flashed to victory Monday in the richest horse race in the world, the $1-million All-American Futurity for quarterhorses in Ruidoso, N.M.

Bugs Alive, ridden by veteran Jerry Burgess, completed the 440-yard straightaway dash in 21.98 seconds and collected a $33,000 purse for owner Ralph Shebester of Wynnewood, Okla.

A filly, Chick Called Sue, owned by Aubrey D. Stokes of San Angelo, Tex., and ridden by Keith Sanders, was second in the field of nine two-year-old quarterhorses — the fastest of their kind in the world.

Jockey Randy Romero, 18, brought previously-unbeaten Rocket's Magic home in third.

The All-American Futurity has an advertised purse of $1,030,000 but $234,000 of that was distributed in three consolation races and another $30,000 goes in nominating and breeding awards, leaving $766,000 for the feature.

Chick Called Sue won $138,000 for second place and Rocket's Magic collected $64,000.

L'Enjoleur, ridden by Sandy Hawley, won the $56,950 Prince of Wales Stakes at the Fort Erie, Ont., race track Saturday, with a 2½-length victory over Brilliant Sandy. He finished the soggy mile-and-three-furlong course in two minutes, 32 and two-fifths seconds.

Trainer Johnny Starr said he was glad to get the race out of the way. "On a track like this you never know what to expect. I was as worried about L'Enjoleur coming back okay as I was of winning the race."

The victory was the fifth in 11 starts this year for L'Enjolaur, all of them won since June.

L'Enjoleur now heads for the Breeders' Stakes, to be held Sept. 27 at Woodbine race track, and a crack at becoming the third horse in racing history to win Canada's triple crown.

At Exhibition Park in Vancouver, Indian Count, ridden by Garth Carter, won the $25,000-added S. W. Randall Plate Monday. Trustwood was second and George Vancouver third.

In the $15,000-added derby trial Saturday, Mac n' Water, ridden by Paul LeBlanc, finished first by a nose.

Oak Bay Misses Victory Despite Aten's Century

Yan Aten's century wasn't enough to give Oak Bay a victory in Victoria and District Cricket Association play Sunday at Beacon Hill Park.

Oak Bay scored 210 runs, 105 from Aten, for the loss of nine wickets but settled for a draw when Castaways ran out of time after scoring 193 run for six wickets.

Besides Aten, Ken Aziz sparked Oak Bay with 47 runs not out and Kortwright Richards took three wickets for 54 runs.

David Shaw led Castaways with 58 runs not out while David Auld scored 51 not out. David Clarke added 32 runs.

The draw left Castaways in a tie for second place with Albion, which played to a draw with Nanaimo Saturday at Beacon Hill Park.

In other action Sunday, Cowichan declared at 131 runs for six wickets and beat Incogs by 98 runs at St. Michael's University School.

Howard Martin topped the Cowichan batsmen with 51 runs while Tim Lord had 39 runs.

Rob Wilson counted 16 runs for the losers while bowler Dave Gladders took four for 20.

In Saturday's match, Albion declared at 157 runs for seven wickets but settled for a draw when Nanaimo ran out of time after scoring 81 runs for seven wickets.

Brian Heeps topped Albion with 59 runs not out with Alan Carter adding 31 runs and John Money 26. Ian Smith led Nanaimo with 34 runs.

Dock Ellis Back in Action

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dock Ellis, the outspoken member of Pittsburgh Pirates' pitching staff who was handed a 30-day suspension Aug. 16, was reinstated Saturday.

General Manager Joe L. Brown told a news conference that he and manager Danny Murtaugh reached a joint decision to put Ellis back on the National League baseball team's active roster "after much soul searching."

Ellis, a starter for virtually all of his eight seasons with the Pirates, was originally fined and given a brief suspension Aug. 15 after refusing a bullpen assignment in Cincinnati.

Connors Candidate For Squad

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Jimmy Connors agreed Saturday to represent the United States in 1976 Davis Cup tennis competition.

The series begins in October with a match against Venezuela, the winner to meet Mexico in Mexico City, probably in December.

Connors met with Tony Trabert, the new Davis Cup captain, and assured him that he would work out a schedule to fit in with U.S. Davis Cup plans. However, he may not play in all matches.

Connors, at odds with former captain Dennis Ralston, had refused to play in the Davis Cup the last two years and the Americans suffered early elimination.

Ex-Seal Signs As Denver Aide

DENVER (AP) — Marshall Johnston, former coach of California Seals of the National Hockey League, has been named assistant hockey coach at the University of Denver.

The announcement was made Saturday by Denver coach Murray Armstrong.

Canadian-Owned Trotter Triumphs

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Bonefish won the 50th annual Hambletonian Stake by a nose Saturday in the fourth heat trot-off against Yankee Bambino and Noble Rogue.

It was a come-from-behind performance by the big bay colt, co-owned by Mac Cuddy of Strathroy, Ont., and trainer-driver Stanley Dancer, after a dismal showing in the first heat but a second-place finish in the second and victory in the third.

Chris a Terror on Clay Courts

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Chris Evert is such an overwhelming favorite to win the U.S. open tennis championships that, if this were Wimbledon, where there is legal betting, no one would make book on her.

She hasn't lost on clay since Evonne Goolagong beat her 6-2, 7-5 in the final of the Western Clay Courts in Cincinnati in 1973.

Monday night she made it 81 clay court wins in a row when she easily subdued Wendy Overton 6-0, 6-1 in a quarter-final match.

A duel between defending champion Jimmy Connors and Harold Solomon lasted past midnight. After three hours Connors downed Solomon, 6-4, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3 when the No. 13 seed double-faulted at match point. Connors now enters into quarter-final play.

The triumph by Connors came as predicted although two other youngsters prevailed over older, more seasoned grass court specialists.

Eddie Dibbs, a three-time All-America at Miami University whose forte is clay, toppled fourth-seedded Arthur Ashe 6-4, 6-2, 6-3, and Bjorn Borg, the teen-ager from Sweden seeded No. 5, overpowered ninth-seeded Rod Laver of Australia 6-1, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

Joining Miss Evert in the women's quarter-finals were Kerry Melville Reid, Kazuko Sawanatsu, Katja Ebbinhaus and two seeded players — No. 2 Virginia Wade and No. 4 Evonne Goolagong.

Mrs. Reid, a 24-year-old Australian, downed Greer Stevens; 4-6, 6-4, 6-4. Miss Sawamatsu, 24, of Japan, downed 19-year-old SaLinky Boshoff of South Africa 6-2, 7-6, and Miss Ebbinghaus, 26, of West Germany, overpowered Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles 6-0, 6-3.

Beth Norton, 18 the U.S. junior champion from Fairfield Conno. kept the older and more experienced Miss Wade before losing 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Canadian Swimmers Find Gold in Britain

COVENTRY, England (CP) — Helene Boivin of Arvida, Que., and Wendy Lee of Regina won gold medals at the conclusion of the British swimming championships Saturday.

Their victories gave Canada, the only foreign country in the competition, a total of seven gold medals in the three-day championships.

Miss Boivin, who took the 200-metre individual medley Friday, was first in the 100-metre butterfly final in one minute, 05.22 seconds. Danielle Balla of Montreal was fourth in 1:06.11.

Miss Lee won the women's 200-metre freestyle in 2:09.58 with Canadian-born Sue Bernard, now living in Britain, finishing second in 2:11.15 and Sue Allen of Edmonton placing third in 2:12.55.

Recovery Signs Few

NEW YORK (NYT) — Outside the United States, signs of recovery from recession are few and feeble.

Forecasts earlier this year that an upturn would now be starting in such other industrial countries as West Germany and Japan were inaccurate.

Most forecasts saw centre of mid-1976 as the point when "real recovery" may start for the stronger countries.

For the rest, the process is likely to be further off an uncertain,

But despite the immediate gloomy outlook — or perhaps because of it, a survey by New York Times correspondents in 15 countries showed — moves are beginning in Western Europe for a kind of follow-the-leader push for recovery.

It may not increase the momentum, because this would entail inflationary dangers, but it could increase confidence and reduce some of the uncertainties for smaller and developing countries.

In most major countries — those of Western Europe, Canada, Japan, Australia and Brazil — The Times' survey indicated that the United States is looked to for the initial stimulus to re-expansion of world trade and production. The strategy is simple enough: The United States, with an extra spurt to its own recovery, can begin the process of snapping the world out of recession.

In many countries, inflation has eased substantially from last year's double-digit levels. But the decline largely reflects sharp falls in consumption, production and foreign trade.

Fears that recovery will again inflame inflation now haunt most countries' fiscal authorities.

In Britain, consumer prices continue to soar, and, in Argentina, inflation at the incredible annual rate of 150 per cent threatens economic and political chaos.

While leading economic indicators increasingly foreshadow an end of recession in the United States, the economies of West Germany and France show no evidence of upturn this year.

The Swiss and Swedish economies are still on the downward track. And, after an impressive revival earlier this year, Italy's economy again is sagging.

In Japan, the economy is reported to have hit bottom, where economists expect it to stay flattened out for the next six months. Even the Soviet Union, long boastful of immunity to capitalist recessions, is feeling the bite of inflation in the prices of grain, consumer goods, machinery and industrial materials it wants from the West.

With assists from West Germany, Japan and other major world markets, the theory is that the international economic engine would kick over and keep going.

The basic design was set with the agreement July 26 by President Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France, and Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany for concerted pump-priming programs to spur demand in their economies.

France plans to spend $3.5-billion, largely to counter a current sharp drop in industrial production.

GLIDER CRASH KILLS PILOT

HOPE (CP) — Franklin Alfred Archibald, 23, of Vancouver was killed Sunday when the glider he was flying crashed during takeoff.

Police said a winch cable released prematurely and Archibald attempted an emergency landing.

FBI Denies Plot Fears

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sources close to a Secret Service investigation of an alleged plot to assassinate President Ford and vice-president Nelson Rockefeller say there are serious doubts about the existence of such a plot.

Secret Service agents here said they have questioned a man who telephoned The Associated Press Friday and claimed there was a plot to kill Ford and Rockefeller.

The anonymous caller said the plot was the outgrowth of the Dallas police slaying a week ago of a Bishop College student from Nigeria.

The caller said about 25 persons are involved in the plot against Ford and Rockefeller when they appear before the National Republican Women's convention.

Convention officials said Rockefeller is scheduled to appear Sept. 12 and Ford is to address the convention the next day.

Asked if he considred the threats serious, Coughlin said: "We are investigating. We have to do that."

RCMP Hunting Indian Specials

VANCOUVER (CP) — Only three Indian candidates have come forward in British Columbia where the search is on for 12 of them to train as special RCMP constables paid approximately $950 a month.

The lack of response to the recruiting campaign was reported Friday by B.C. police commission member Bob Burrows and superintendent Bob Heywood, the RCMP's representative on the commission.

They asked members of the Native Courtworkers and Counselling Association of B.C. who are holding a week-long training session, to spread the word that the openings are there.

The police jobs are open to men and women.

Under the program, recruits would join RCMP detachments near their home reserves in B.C. after a nine-week training course in Regina.

They would have the opportunity, after further training, of becoming full-fledged members of the force.

Burrows described entry qualifications as "flexible."

Recruits can be between the ages of 19 and 49 with a grade 10 eductaion or the equivalent. Height minimums are five-foot-eight for men and five-foot-four for women but, Burrows said, recuiters are prepared to give an inch or two to the right candidates.

Even a criminal record is not necessarily a bar to enlistment.

"If a person is now 25 and had a couple of breaking and entries when he was 17 or 18, and an impaired driving charge when he was 19, there would probably be no problem in that person being accepted if he had behaved himself since," Burrows said by way of example.

An appointment system has been developed to catch up on the outstanding claims and to make it as easy as possible for vehicle owners. Here's how the appointment system works:

If your vehicle has been involved in an accident during or after the strike, simply complete this appointment form. Then mail it directly to the Claims Office where it is most convenient for you to go to make your claim. We'll phone you as soon as possible to give you an appointment at a time and day you would prefer.

If you have already mailed in your accident details during the strike, it is still necessary that you contact us using this form.

If your vehicle has been involved in an accident, but you have no damage to claim, just phone us at 665-2800, in Vancouver, to report the details. No appointment is necessary.

INJURIES.

Passengers or pedestrians who have sustained an injury in an accident will be contacted by the Corporation immediately after the owner of the vehicle has reported the accident to a Claims Office. These injured people need not request an appointment.

Vehicle owners who were involved in an accident before the strike and have received a claim number but the claim has not been settled will be contacted by an adjuster as soon as possible. There is no need to request a further appointment at a Claims Office.

NON-DRIVEABLE VEHICLES.

Once your completed appointment form has been received at a Claims Office, we will phone you and make special arrangements to estimate your vehicle damage.

REPAIRED VEHICLES.

If you have had your vehicle repaired during the strike, and paid either the deductible portion of your insurance or the entire amount, use this form to make an appointment. We will phone you on how to proceed with your claim.

BROKEN GLASS.

You don't have to make an appointment if the only damage is cracked or broken glass. We have made special arrangements with glass replacement companies throughout the province. Go to the company of your choice and have the broken glass replaced. Be sure to take along your Owner's Certificate.

We have made special provisions for vehicle owners who do not wish to make an appointment. Two Claims Offices on the lower mainland will operate without appointments. One is at 4399 Wayburne Drive in Burnaby and the other is at 406 S.W. Marine Drive in Vancouver. These Claims Offices will be open from 8:45 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, on a no-appointment, first come, first served basis. These Claims Offices will open for business on Friday, September 5th.

Recession Takes Toll In Crime, Illness

CHICAGO (AP) — More mental illness, more physical illness and more crime grow out of economic recession, says a group of U.S. social scientists.

And they say the cost of these consequences is greater than would be the cost of programs to create jobs.

Government officials look only at the direct economic impact of unemployment, they told the annual convention of the American Psychological Association on Labor Day.

They said that not only do thefts, robberies and burglaries increase in the United States, but so do the rates of suicide, murder of infants, admission to mental hospitals and illness and death from heart and other diseases.

There frequently is a lag of one, two or three years in some of these rates, but already the impact of unemployment is apparent in some of these areas, they added.

Dr. Hannah Levin, professor of psychology at Richmond College, City University of New York, Staten Island; and Dr. Ralph Straetz of New York University, a political scientist, studied 45 unemployed men and their families in Brooklyn and Staten Island.

"A most tragic part of each interview," Dr. Levin said, was that 90 per cent of the men blamed themselves for being unemployed and they felt despair about their future.

She said the children, too, felt the stress of their father's unemployment and expressed the fear they might have to be given away.

She said, "Physicians prescribe milk and vitamins for children who suffer malnutrition," so "it is time psychiatrists and psychologists include the prescription of work as a way to a more meaningful and satisfying life.

"And just as the government has begun to assume some responsibility for feeding the poor with food stamps, it must become national policy to provide full employment for all our citizens who wish to work."

Straetz said the unemployment problem is far more severe than depicted by government figures, because many unemployed persons are not counted after they have exhausted their benefits.

ISLAND GAINS FREEDOM

ARAWA, Bougainville (Reuter) — This tiny, copper-rich southern Pacific island, site of a bitter battle in the Second World War, was declared independent from Papua-New Guianea on Monday and renamed North Solomons.

The unilateral declaration was made in this central town by Alexis Sarei, chairman of the "Republican government of North Solomons." There are 90,000 inhabitants on the island.

Watched by 3,000 people in the market place, he accused the Papua-New Guinea government in Port Moresby of being deceitful and underhanded.

Prudhoe Fleet Stuck in Ice

SEATTLE (UPI) — Ice packs and freezing weather have bottled up a flotilla of ships carrying $500 million worth of cargo for Alaska's Prudhoe Bay oil fields.

A Sealift of 23 tugs and 47 barges has been trying for five weeks to get through an ice pack near Wainwright, some 260 miles southwest of the oil fields.

Weather worsened Monday with a drop in temperature at Point Barrow to 26 degrees and a shift in the wind that began blowing the ice pack back toward shore, said C. A. Watkins, vice president of Crowley maritime.

The flotilla has two or three more weeks "at the very best' to get to Prudhoe Bay with its 160,000 tons of cargo, said Watkins. Winter weather will set in after that and ice and fog will worsen.

Cargo includes everything from nuts and bolts to a prefabricated river bridge, as well as trucks, bulldozers, cranes, arctic-equipped embulances and giant modular units nearly 10 stories high.

D'Estaing Death Threat

BASTIA (Reuter) — A death threat against President Valery Giscard d'Estaing climaxed a general strike Monday by the people of Corsica that paralysed their island in protest against police actions and the French government.

A letter mailed in Corsica to a Paris radio station supposedly by the outlawed separatist movement, The Action for The Rebirth of Corsica (ARC) threatened the president's life if arrested ARC leader Edmond Simeoni is sentenced to death.

Separatist leaders here, however, described the letter as a fake.

The letter, to Radio-Luxembourge, said that separatists would be obliged to kill a minister, a deputy or a high civil servant if Simeoni is condemned to die for his part in the violence that left two policemen dead 10 days ago.

The general strike and a rally that drew 5,000 people in solidarity with ARC passed without major incidents, but later demonstrators set fire to a tanker truck and timber depot at the farm where the policemen died 10 days ago.

The strike Monday closed all businesses, stores, restaurants, and offices, and halted train, bus and taxi services.

BURGLAR SETS FIRE TO HOUSEWIFE

MONTREAL (CP) — A 39-year-old mother of two was in good condition in hospital after being set afire by a hooded burglar in her home during the weekend, police said Monday.

Police said Georgia Essaris was attacked by a man in the basement of her home in a northwest suburb. After a scuffle, the man sprayed gasoline on her clothes and lit a match.

Mrs. Essaris's cries woke her two sons, aged 14 and 19, who helped her put out the flames while the man fled.

Quebec In Dark 4 Hours

MONTREAL (CP) — An investigation is to begin today into the cause of a power failure which blacked out most of Quebec province for several hours during the weekend.

Hydro-Quebec officials said company engineers at the Manicouagan power project, 400 miles northeast of Quebec City, are expected to pinpoint the trouble during the day.

The blackout, which occurred at about 2 p.m. Victoria time Saturday, affected Hydro-Quebec's entire service region including parts of northwest New Brunswick. Service was restored to most areas within four hours.

Police throughout the province reported no major traffic accidents during the blackout, although most traffic lights were put out of action.

Guy Hogues, a Hydro-Quebec official, said Monday the break occurred somewhere along a 735,000-volt line connecting the Manicouagan project and the Churchill Falls hydroelectric facilities in Labrador with Levis, a Quebec City suburb.

Hydro workers tried to switch power to two parallel standby lines when the main one failed, but the system overloaded and "the whole thing blacked out," Hogues said.

The breakdown initially affected about 90 per cent of the province but officials decided to shut off power to the whole province to avoid another overload.

Some areas with local power supplies, including Abitibi and most of the St. Maurice River valley, were able to have service restored within minutes.

Company engineers will consider both technical and human failures during their investigation, Hogues said.

But the possibility of deliberate sabotage "isn't being considered, as far as I know," he added.

Hospitals, major stores, hotels and airports managed on emergency power supplies.

At Dorval airport, however, several flights were delayed because baggage was tied up in electrically-run delivery systems.

FIVE HURT WHEN HORSE RAMPAGES

MONTREAL (CP) — Five persons were taken to hospital and several others slightly injured Sunday when a horse bolted from a downtown carriage stand. The horse was killed shortly afterwards in a collision with a truck.

Police said the five, including a driver of one of the horsedrawn carriages and two persons in the truck, were treated in hospital and later discharged.

A police spokesman said it is not known what caused the horse to bolt from its stand on Dominion Square.

Witnesses said the animal first ran into a taxi and ploughed into other carriages. The frightened beast then broke free from its carriage and raced away, colliding with a truck on a sidestreet.

Park Water Checked

SEATTLE (AP) — The United States National Park Service is adopting the old adage that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and they're shutting down or cleaning up water supplies in Washington State national parks.

After an epidemic caused by contaminated water closed Oregon's Crater Lake national park in July, officials here are carefully checking drinking water sources.

Five water systems in the North Cascades and Rainier National Parks were shut down or posted as unsafe this month.

Systems at Weaver Point and Bridge Creek in the North Cascades and Tipsoo lake and Mount Rainier will remain closed because it would cost too much to chlorinate and sample them properly, park service officials said.

Systems at Hozomeee campground and Ross Lake resort will be approved for drinking when improvements are made, probably this year, they said.

Thoughts of a Woman— On the Battle of Sexes

It is, I should say, a rare event when a man can listen for any great length to a philosophizing woman without slipping into a sort of coma. That is why I propose to tell you about the remarkable woman with whom I spent several pleasant hours last night.

I'll have to call her Lydia — don't ask me why, it just seems to fit her — because, as yet, I do not know her real name. Lydia has a great many ideas about a great many things. Most of them have to do with woman's place in the scheme of things. The woman who — so to speak — introduced me to her, said, "You may not agree, but you'll enjoy her opinions." I'm bound to say that I did.

Lydia believes in being herself:

"There is no use in everybody being so hopelessly alike. Much evil arises from unquestioningly following the copy set by people who are supposed to be 'smart'. If women would give up copying every new wrinkle of fashion and custom, if they would refuse to accept popular models and hold to instinctive proprieties, this world would be a better place.

"The sameness of our world is terrible. I do not wonder men break away and commit immoralities to interrupt the fearful monotony of elegance and correctness in which nice women are content to live."

Lydia thinks that women who struggle for equality are wasting their energy:

"I hate references to what women are doing. It would be so much better simply to say 'what people are doing.' The very stress upon the matter of sex implies that it is a miraculous thing for a woman to do anything."

Lydia believes that men have a much better appreciation of the simple blessings of life than women have:

"Women like to call this simple contentment with life 'man's coarseness'. But, no. It is man's genius, his nearness to the workings of great Nature that makes him thus. Women would do well to cease their fretting after little worldly possessions and achievements, and acquire the habit of allowing life to be as dear to them as it wishes to be."

Lydia believes that women need to learn moderation, that often they try too hard to accomplish things that really aren't worth the effort:

"Women need to learn to ignore petty and narrow perfections, to get the effect without the detail, to save the force that some women expend on morbid scouring and scrubbing and apply it to bringing entertainment and enlightenment and good, old-fashioned fun into the household. Most good women are too conscientious and I have known 'earnest' women to drive people to drink."

Lydia believes that women underestimate the demands of man's work:

"The majority of women do not know what it means to work as men work, steadily, moment by moment. Women drudge and allow a sense of bodily degradation in doing it to pull them down and break their spirit, but they do not in the least understand what physical and mental force must be extended in the mastery of a trade or a profession.

"Very few women are fit for this concentrated application. It is not a 'fair chance' that women need to make them the equals of man in this sense. It is bone and sinew and a reserve force in the brain and the nerve cells.

"Woman achieves her nearest equality with man when she is simply and healthfully alive and at work in her natural sphere, when she is not striving for recognition or whining for appreciation.

Lydia believes that women ask too much of love:

"I believe that most men love their wives, but have a poor way of showing it, and that most women love their husbands and have demonstrated the fact until the man would rather read the paper or talk about something else.

"He ought not to do this because there is sure to come a time when he will regret it, but love is long and time is fleeting and we are all of us such ingrates that we will in course of time become matter-of-fact over any commodity, however important, when there is such a lot of it."

Lydia believes that women keep society from being in a chaotic state:

"Women have more strength of character than men, much more moral sense, much greater power to resist temptation. It is true, society fairly forces women to be good, but aside from this there is in a woman a genuine liking for personal cleanliness and purity that shows them the end from the beginning as man seldom sees it."

As I say, Lydia is not her name. I doubt if I'll ever know it. The book that she wrote, called "The Ideas of a Plain Country Woman"' is signed only, "By the Country Contributor". And — oh, yes — it was published exactly 70 years ago this month.

Community Schooling Cost Study Proposed

A six-month study of the costs of operating community schools in Victoria has been proposed by Greater Victoria school trustee Dr. Hal Knight and Fernwood community worker Brian Lewis.

Knight is now talking to University of Victoria departments looking for instructors and graduate students who might be interested in tackling the project.

Once the manpower is lined up, a formal grant application will be made to the federal secretary of state's department for financing, Knight said today.

He said he's already spoken to the local secretary of state representative, who "thinks it's a very good idea."

Thesis of the study would be that operating community elementary schools, such as James Bay community school, requires no more capital expenditure than is spent operating traditional schools.

The study itself is expected to cost between $20,000 and $25,000, Knight said.

The study will bring out the many benefits which a community school like James Bay can have, such as reducing the juvenile delinquency rate in the area, helping single parents, and getting older people involved in the community, he said.

"The potential value of community education for the taxpayer has never been explored," Knight and Lewis say in a written outline of the study.

"Because this information is unavailable, the school board administration has had no choice but to assess the costs involved in community education using a system expressly developed for the assessment of our more traditional forms of education."

The study is to be scientific and impartial.

The proposed study follows the decision of Greater Victoria school board in July to no longer provide special funding for James Bay and other community schools, but to fund such schools only to the extent that other programs are financed in other schools.

Special funding for James Bay school is to end Dec. 31.

The new board policy has provoked a strong reaction from citizens groups and community workers trying to establish community education in the city.

A community school serves not just school-age children from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. but the whole community, from preschoolers to senior citizens, with afternoon and evening classes and sometimes such services as day care centres, libraries and medical clinics.

Shaw Passes World Mark On Skates

A new world record in roller skating was set Saturday night by Victoria's Clint Shaw.

Shaw, who had begun circling the Sherman Square Roller Rink in Reseda, Calif. nine days before, ended the marathon 11:07 p.m. Saturday after having skated for 183 hours and 37 minutes.

The previous world record of 178 hours had been set five months ago by an Alabama roller-skating couple.

Thirty-four-year-old Shaw, 572 Langford, said he intends to rest in California before returning to Victoria where he is employed at Trojan Steel.

He had roller-skated across Canada as a 1967 Centennial project, and last year roller-skated across the United States.

4 ARRESTED AT SCENE OF BREAK-IN

Four juveniles were arrested Monday night minutes after Victoria police received a report of a break-in at a medical centre at 1139 Yates, one of two drug dispensaries broken into over the long weekend.

A police spokesman said the foursome — all boys — were found at the scene at about 11 p.m. and had in their possession a small quantity of drugs and some cash.

They were to appear in Family Court later today.

By PAT DUFOUR
Times Staff

A Becher Bay mother of seven is credited with saving thousands of salmon fry in the De Mamiel Creek near Sooke this summer.

Ada Barber, rain or shine, drove 30 miles a day, 27 times since early July to help feed the fry and clear the debris that threatened their survival.

"She deserves a star," said Jack Brooks, who retired as fisheries officer in Sooke November, 1973.

For years, single-handedly, Brooks worked on the creek, which is the main source of coho for the Sooke area.

Since 1952, Brooks has seen the escapement figure rise from 500 to an average of 6,000, peaking at 12,000.

In 1971 and 1972 students were employed under an Opportunities for Youth grant to work on the stream. The next year a Local Initiatives Program grant provided summer labor. In 1974 the grant stopped.

"Practically nothing was done that year. It was a heartbreak," Brooks said.

This year he rallied a corps of volunteers, chief among them being Mrs. Barber and another Becher Bay woman, Mrs. Linda Bellagente, who, herself, has two children.

Another Becher Bay resident, Percy Brown, also answered Brooks' call for help.

"She's a wonderful woman," Brown said of Mrs. Barber," she was out in all kind of weather, sometimes up to her waist in water. Besides feeding fish she always found time to help break up log jams and clear other debris."

One log jam on Mosquito Creek at Port Renfrew has been packed solid for two years, all fish below the area dying during that period.

The federal fisheries department supplied $2,000 for rental of a "cat" and acquisition of saws. Mrs. Barber and a small band of friends and relatives did the rest.

In the early days of Brooks' struggle to save the fry in the stream the problem was lack of water, sandbags being the main line of defence.

Since the dam has been built at Young's Lake the problem is supplementary feeding of the growing population of coho fry.

"This year it (the creek) produced one million fry and 500,000 of them were being fed by volunteers," Brooks said, "It's like running a large family. It's fine if you can afford to feed them properly."

Mrs. Barber has good reason for the hundreds of hours she's spent on the volunteer project.

As a child, hers was one of the few non-native families living in the Indian fishing village of Clo-Oose near Bamfield.

Now she has four sons who earn their living as commercial fishermen.

Brooks said he had to hack trails through the thick growth of salal and other vegetation so that Mrs. Barber and her friends could make their way to the vital areas.

"I marked the trail with red ribbons. I only had to show them once and they were fine," he said.

The fish meal, supplied by the Amalgamated Conservation Society, ensure the coho go to sea stronger and better able to withstand predators, Brooks said. It also results in a "surprise benefit" of larger fish when they return.

He and Brown hope fishermen (commercial and sports) loggers and others will emulate Mrs. Barber's example, even if it's to a smaller degree.

Volunteers can reach Brown in the evenings by phoning 642-3597.

TOWN TALK

Deserted shopping centre parking lots have always been a favorite place for those learning to drive and for model plane enthusiasts. Recent weeks have seen another added to the Mayfair Centre after-hour breed — go carts.

Mayfair manager Patrick Rice says he doesn't mind the go carts "as long as they (the operators) conduct themselves in a proper manner" and as long as they ask his permission before using the parking lot. Most of them don't ask, he says.

Tom Gore, a photographer at the University of Victoria, will be the local representative of Emerging Arts West, a new monthly arts magazine due to publish its first issue in October.

The magazine, which will be printed in Calgary, will feature four artists per month, one from each of the western provinces, as well as having other articles and reviews about the visual arts.

The Princess Marguerite soon wraps up her first complete season after being restored to service as a government-owned and operated ferry.

Her last regular sailing from Port Angeles is on Sunday, Sept. 6, and from Seattle Sept. 26.

Seattle's KING television station has chartered the vessel Sept. 27 to bring 1,200 cyclists to Victoria, and the following day there will be another charter trip for Seattle Times carriers.

The Marguerite will return to Victoria Sept. 29, after carrying an estimated 40,000-plus passengers — 4,000 more than last year when she was still under Canadian Pacific colors.

Commissionaire Garnet Windsor had the dubious honor of turning away some 200 people at the ICBC claims centre on Douglas today, telling them to phone in for an appointment.

Most of the fender-bent were good natured. "Only a couple were hostile," said Windsor.

A call to ICBC to see when the soonest appointment was available brought the news that it'll be a week to 10 days just to get a call from an adjustor — who in turn will set a date who-knows-when in the future for an adjustment.

He won't win any Oscars and it's doubtful there'll be any rave reviews, but Social Credit leader Bill Bennett is the star of a new movie which made its debut in Victoria last week. The film is as yet untitled but its theme is clear — elect Bill Bennett as premier.

The nine-minute feature is actually bits of home movies strung together with a Bennett monologue in the background. We see the young leader playing with his children outside his very comfortable Westbank home; talking with the cocktail set beside a pool; walking down city streets; eating lunch at an outside cafe; working at his desk; and greeting frolicing supporters unloading from a campaign bus. We also see him riding a horse, playing tennis, playing football and walking along a beach at dusk.

Bennett's troupe of aides admit the film is nothing more than an amateur effort but it cost only $1,500 to produce and they hope party members will enjoy seeing it at local constituency meetings.

Popcorn would help.

Similarity in design of modern marine carriers is responsible for confusion of some on-the-shore Victoria residents who make ship-watching one of their hobbies. One Oak Bay resident asked the Times to check out on what he believed to be super oil tankers steaming by his bay. Were we still shipping oil to eastern Canada, he asked. A check with B.C. Pilotage and other marine agencies revealed the huge ships are, in actual fact, chemical tankers, hauling cargoes of naptha, sugar, molasses and other items to and from Vancouver.

"The basic fact about human existence," wrote American journalist and satirist H. L. Mencken, "is not that it is a tragedy, but that it is a bore."

But no one, surely, can accuse Victoria Jaycees of leading a boring life? Just look at their jam-packed calendar of events this month:

Sept. 3, general meeting and new member nite (sic); Sept. 5, Pacific Region fall training seminar; Sept. 8, effective speaking course and exhibition meeting; Sept. 10, executive meeting and work party (they're building a "cement log fence"); Sept. 15, effective speaking course and work party; Sept. 17, general meeting (coffee); Sept. 20, golf tournament and dance . . . and that's only part of the schedule.

To cap it all, the week Sept. 14-20 is Jaycee Week.

Gun Control 'No Deterrent'

By DEREK SIDENIUS
Times Staff

The registration of guns is a product of troubled times.

That's the view of Frank Grimshaw. And he should know.

He was B.C.'s registrar of guns — the province's first and only full-time police officer so employed — a position he held for 27 years.

He's been retired since 1957 but still follows the gun control debate cannonading across the country.

His thoughts on the subject are not what one would expect. For he doesn't believe the registration of all firearms — sought as a means of tightening controls — is an answer.

"Registration is merely the proof of owership and a means of tracing guns lost or stolen . . . it is not a deterrent to crime," he said in an interview at his home at 4155 Quadra.

"Criminals will get guns one way or another regardless."

He said simply registering all firearms would be ineffective.

"If the government wants more stringent controls it will have to go much further," he said. "For example each and every gun should be ballistically tested and the shell or bullet kept on file."

To do so, he conceded, would be time-consuming and expensive. But, like fingerprinting, it would clearly establish the owner of the gun used in a crime because the marks left on a fired shell are distinctive to each gun.

Grimshaw, however, felt there was no absolute solution to the gun control problem . . . short of the government confiscating every weapon in the land.

Ironically, he noted, the federal government once had the mechanism to register all firearms. That was during the Second World War when the registration of firearms was required under the Defence of Canada regulations.

After the war the registration of rifles and shotguns was discontinued; but retained for handguns.

"Everything was set up. The provinces had their files on rifle and shotgun owners. Ottawa held the master index. Then it was thrown away. Why? I don't know. I guess the government figured registration had served its purpose and was no longer needed."

Grimshaw said the gun control question was first raised during "troubled times" and that every time it has come to the fore since has been during crises or when crime levels have shown a sharp increase.

People began talking about the need for controls in the early 30s, a period of general unrest in North America, he said.

"There was a lot of outlawry, particularly in the United States in the late 20s. When the lawlessness started to filter across the border, the provincial authorities grew worried and decided to take action."

In 1934 the B.C. legislature passed a bill, the first of its kind in Canada, requiring all handgun owners to register their weapons.

Ottawa followed suit the next year, modelling its law on B.C.'s and registration became country-wide.

But registration was not the solution to the growing crime problem.

At best it was only a means of identifying owners of guns — a firearm lost-and-found service.

In that regard it has always been a valuable aid to investigators, Grimshaw said. On occasion the results have been astonishing.

He recounted the case of a soldier returning home from Germany with a war trophy handgun.

The weapon, a .25 calibre automatic, was seized because it was illegal to bring an unregistered firearm into Canada.

But Grimshaw discovered the gun was registered — to a man who coincidentally lived on the same block and same street in Vancouver as the soldier. Both were strangers.

The man was flabbergasted to get his gun back. He had lost it in North Africa several years earlier. Apparently the weapon had been picked up, taken to Germany and was in a pile of guns detailed for destruction when the soldier took it.

"If it hadn't been for registration the man would never have got his gun back," said Grimshaw.

Eight Police Held at Bay By Man with Three Rifles

A man in his early 20s held eight members of the Saanich police department at bay Monday afternoon as he threatened a shoot-out following a domestic dispute in a duplex in the Quadra-Tattersal district.

Police said today they cordoned off the area and surrounded the building after a young woman reported to police at 3:45 p.m. that her husband, armed with three rifles, was holed up inside the house with the couple's one-year-old child.

A spokesman said a police officer was in almost constant contact with the man from a phone in a house across the street.

Finally, after three hours, the officer talked the man into allowing police to enter and talk with him. Minutes later the man surrendered.

No shots were fired and no one was injured.

During the tense drama a young family of three was confined to an upstairs suite and could not get out as the only exit was by way of a front door common to both apartments.

The spokesman said three guns — a .22 calibre rifle and two shotguns — were recovered. None was loaded but there were shells in the house.

The man, whose name has not been released, is being held in the Eric Martin Institute for psychiatric examination.

The police spokesman said the results of the examination will determine whether charges will be laid.

'Spree' Brings Jail

Jeffrey Glen Smythe, 17, of Duncan, was sentenced today in Victoria county court to two years less a day in jail on half a dozen charges involving breaking and entering and theft.

He was originally found guilty by Judge Montague Drake of breaking and entering and theft at a house in Saanich and was to have been sentenced July 11. He failed to appear in court and was later arrested.

In the meantime, court was told, he was sentenced to 15 months in Duncan for possession of stolen property.

His lawyer, Jacqueline Dorgan, said because of Smythe's fear and obvious immaturity he could not bring himself to appear for sentence July 11 on the Saanich charge.

Prosecutor Barry Mah Ming said Smythe has quite an extensive record and that probation had been tried before and didn't seem to work.

Judge Drake told Smythe: "It looks like you are starting off a career of crime." While he was always reluctant to sentence a young man to prison he had no alternative and sentenced him to two years less a day.

Smythe then pleaded guilty to one charge of breaking and entering and theft at Duncan July 4, two charges of breaking and entering and theft at Victoria shortly thereafter, one charge of breaking and entering and theft at Penticton July 14, and a charge of theft July 25 at Burnaby.

Dorgan, speaking to these five charges, described Smythe as "an immature young man who went on a spree."

Judge Drake said it was a "most extraordinary performance." He gave him two years less a day concurrent and added "I hope that does some good."

Gov't Dulls Cupid's Arrow

HONG KONG (UPI) — Cupid has fallen flat on his face.

This British crown colony hosts one of the largest South Vietnamese refugee camps in Asia and the raven-haired Vietnam beauties' reputation for humility and gentleness has attracted a deluge of marriage proposals from eligible bachelors.

But promises of support, fidelity and enduring affection have made no impression at the refugee quonset huts in Hong Kong's new territories.

The colonial government has asked other countries to absorb some of the more than 2,000 refugees left here out of an original 3,700 picked up from a foundering Vietnamese freighter early last May.

The Hong Kong government, though not unsympathetic to matters of the heart, has discouraged prospective local suitors.

"The problems would be immense," an official spokesman said, citing the possibility of unscrupulous men luring innocent women into prostitution or other vices.

"We don't want to give the impression that we are being harsh, but there is just no way that we can let a man in to roam around the two camps looking for someone who takes his fancy."

Anyway, the available unattached women in the camps, estimated at about 200 between 18 and 50 years of age, have consistently put the final damper on the warmest requests.

A government spokesman said three young women indicated an interest in marrying local men when they first arrived, but immediately changed their minds when they boarded U.S.-bound airplanes.

As far as local hopefuls are concerned, the official position is: "The government cannot be used as a marriage bureau."

Bureaucratic obstacles and the obvious disinterest of the ladies have not prevented many Chinese men from taking the hour-long train ride to the new territories to press their suits through a fence.

J. A. Fortune, the chief staff officer for the department of civil aid services administering the camps, said all such appeals have been useless.

"Basically the single women, whatever their age, stick close to their families and relatives," Fortune said. "Wherever the family hopes to go, they plan to go."

An English bachelor wrote from the Isle of Wight to a local newspaper, the Hong Kong Standard, "to offer a chance of happiness" to a female refugee.

Describing himself as 54 years old, "slim, with cheerful, gentle nature," K. Jenkinson promised a Vietnamese wife would be "comfortable . . . have the life and all the previleges of a natural English housewife" and complete freedom of religion.

However, he noted she must have "sufficient money to buy a tourist ticket to Britain and sufficient for her fare back if she decides not to marry me."

Jenkinson wrote that he just wanted "a good, honest, sober, presentable, cheerful, loving wife" and he would take all normal financial responsibility once married.

The newspaper said it would put any interested Vietnamese in touch with Jenkinson but no one responded.

The United States has accepted more than 1,000 of the Hong Kong refugees and is studying another 1,000 applications.

Canada, France, Australia, Belgium, Taiwan and New Zealand have taken some and Hong Kong has accepted those with close relatives here. As many as 30 refugees have indicated a desire to return to South Vietnam.

There have been no marriages between Vietnamese, Fortune noted, because single men were transferred to a separate camp. Government spokesmen say the transfer was made to prevent overcrowding.

One refugee, a former lieutenant in the Vietnamese army, said before boarding a flight to the United States, "I was thinking of girls all the time when I was staying in the men-only camps."

Choice of Futures In Native Education

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) — The aim of any native education program must be to give Indian people a choice of futures, says Leroy Little Bear, newly-appointed co-ordinator of native American studies at the University of Lethbridge.

Little Bear says the newly-established Lethbridge program strives to provide relevance in native education to prepare native students either to return to their own people or to take up life in the white man's society.

At one time native students had to give up their way of life to fit into the white man's educational system.

"The result of this was that they couldn't go back to their old life . . . they didn't fit . . . they were strangers to their own people."

A recent reversal in this trend was the tendency of native education programs to teach native students only the kind of skills useful in a reserve situation.

Little Bear said the Lethbridge program will not take either extreme.

Instead, the four-year degree program will attempt to create an atmosphere where native students may learn without losing their heritage, while at the same time obtaining the option of learning skills useful in the larger society outside the reserve.

Free for the Asking

If you ask a friend to spell whippoorwill, he probably has a problem, even though he may be quite familiar with the name of this small but rather noisy bird.

The 4-page folder Whippoorwill enables you not only to recognize the bird when you hear it but also when you see it.

The whippoorwill is the size of a robin. Its plumage blends perfectly with the woodland environment where it lives. White areas on the outer tail feathers distinguish the male from the female, so does the narrow breastband which is white with the male and buff-colored with the female.

According to the folder, the whippoorwill in Canada can be seen mainly in New Brunswick, southern Quebec, southern and central Ontario, southern Manitoba and west to central Saskatchewan. In Nova Scotia it is rare.

You probably know that the whippoorwill is a nocturnal creature. At sunset he announces his presence with a ringing song which it repeats at short intervals. During the next couple of hours the bird is at his noisiest and sings almost non-stop, followed by a pause which lasts until the pre-dawn hour.

Then the small bird starts to sing again, but somewhat less persistent than in the evening. After that he grows silent and falls asleep.

Apart from its song, the whippoorwill produces a variety of other sounds. Write to: Canadian Wildlife Service, Environment Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0H3. Please allow at least two to three weeks for delivery.

Welch Medical Report

From Wilmington, De., comes warning to indulgent parents — and to grandparents as well — who may be tempted to yield to adolescent pleas for a minibike, scooter or motorcycle.

According to doctors in the Alfred I. du Pont Institute in that city, the rapid increase in the use by unskilled youngsters of such highly powered two-wheeled "easy-riders", has given rise to a virtual epidemic of broken arms and legs, abdominal injuries, skull fractures, amputations and even permanent paralyses.

In reviewing their own records of such injuries and the May-through-September experience of nearby hospital emergency rooms in 1972 and 1973, they estimate about 10,000 operators of these two-wheeled menaces will end up in hospital emergency rooms before summer is over.

The doctors make a strong plea for driver-training courses and stricter licensing laws for such vehicles, and the recognition that they are potentially even more treacherous than automobiles when inexpertly handled.

Their figures indicate that one in 10 of the youngsters in such accidents will suffer lifelong disability as a result of their injuries.

Laws governing the use of motorcycles, minibikes and other motorized off-highway vehicles vary widely but in the opinion of the Wilmington doctors, much remains to be done if we are to have uniformly protective legislation.

Having seen a brilliant young teen-aged motorcyclist with a permanently damaged brain and in the same week a young girl of 17 lose both her legs in a motorcycle accident, I am especially sympathetic with parents who are reluctant to expose their children to such risks.

If the pressure is more than you can resist, you will be well advised first to investigate carefully the licensing laws in your area and refuse to go along with a purchase until the potential operator has undergone a thorough-going driver-training course.

Strict rules must be enforced as to where, when and in what weather conditions use of the vehicle will be permitted. Wet roads in rainy weather or an unexpected highway oil slick can precipitate a tragedy on a two-wheeled vehicle with even the most practiced operator at the controls.

High speed, racing, piggybacking friends and travelling at dusk or after dark are just some of the accident-causing but often unanticipated circumstances that turn fun and high spirits into catastrophe.

It is also urged that children who are permitted to operate such vehicles not only be properly trained but properly dressed as well. Protective clothing, including crash helmets, will often prevent many of the minor injuries otherwise sustained in less serious accidents.

Above all, no parent should be deluded by the notion that minibikes and go-carts are harmless toys. For in fact, they seem to be about as harmless as those speeding missiles the military people used to call, in their inimitable double talk, "antipersonnel" devices.

Only Nose Shows

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 21, and she's a very good girl who's never given us a moment's worry.

The trouble is her steady boyfriend, who is 23. I don't doubt that he is a very nice person, but he looks like a wild man from prehistoric times. He has a big bushy Afro and a beard to match. Only his eyes and nose show.

I asked my daughter once, "How do you kiss him goodnight? Isn't it hard to find his lips?"

Abby, I'm just about ready to tell her that either her boyfriend has to get rid of all that hair, or I don't want her to bring him around me.

She is our only child and we don't want to lose her love. Please advise.—Allentown.

DEAR ALLENTOWN: Accept the young man as he is. And if you don't quit hassling your daughter about her boyfriend's hair, you won't see hide nor hair of either of 'em.

DEAR ABBY: We have four grown children. Three are married, and the fourth is leaving for college soon. We are faced with an important decision. Should we sell our big home? Or should we keep it so the children can come and visit us and bring their families? (Two live out of town.) Our home is very saleable, and we could realize a nice profit. It's awfully big for Dad and me to rattle around in, plus the yard is a lot to take care of.

Dad and I are thinking we might enjoy an apartment, so that if we feel like taking off for a little vacation, we can just turn the key and leave. Also, perhaps later on, we might want to retire to a warmer climate.

Are we selfish for thinking of giving up our house? Perhaps some readers who have experienced this predicament will write in and give us the pros and cons.—"TO SELL OR NOT TO SELL"

DEAR TO: I'll ask. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are to be married in eight weeks. We've been engaged for two years. We've made all the arrangements, reserved the church, talked to the minister, bought my gown and addressed the invitations. The only thing we haven't done yet is mail them.

My question is: Should we mail the invitations? The fact is that my fiance is still seeing the girl he went with before we became engaged.

He says he loves me, and wants to marry me, but he wants to keep seeing this other girl a little while longer. I tried to explain that if he wants to keep seeing her, she must be very important to him, in which case we should call off our wedding.

He tells me I'm wrong — that I'm the one he loves, but my heart tells me he is only going through with the wedding because he doesn't want to hurt me.

I am too much in love to think straight. Please help me. I asked my mother, and she says I should go through with the wedding. Should I? —TORN

DEAR TORN: No! Better a broken engagement than a broken marriage later. Your fiance is conning you.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: The Victoria Times, 2621 Douglas, Victoria.

Fat Rat Helps Research Into Obesity in Humans

SEATTLE (AP) — You've heard of children developing a 'sweet tooth? Well, Monster is a rat with a 'fat' tooth.

In research at the University of Washington's department of psychology, normal rate are being turned into huge rats that do little more than eat and waddle about their cages.

The research is aimed at manipulating the part of a rat's brain that controls bodyweight, in an effort to understand how that section of the brain works in humans.

This is done by opening up the rat's skull with a dental drill and then shooting two small doses of electricity into the brain secion known as the hypothalamus.

A day after the anesthetized operation, "the rat recovers and starts eating like crazy," says Paul Kulkosky, a psychology graduate student.

"It develops a 'fat' tooth. What it likes best is Purina Rat Chow, yes, it really exists mixed in with Crisco a shortening," he said.

The operation is supposed to simulate a rare-type of brain damage that affects humans and is known as the Frohlich Syndrome. Persons thus afflicted become obese, usually weighing more than 1 per cent over their normal body weight.

Dr. Stephen Woods, who heads the program, says extremely obese persons get fat because the brain sends out signls to the body to increase its fat content.

"Nobody knows why that happens," he says. "But if we find out what signal the brain is sending, then we should be able to modify it."

Monster, as one experimental rat is called, now weighs two pounds, about four times that of a normal rat.

Monster is a special case because the lesion not only made it obese but so hypersensitive it attacks at the slightest intrusion.

Woods says even researchers familiar with the experiments are leery of Monster, who, like other research rats, probably will end up decapitated so scientists can cut thin slices of the brain and embed then in glass slides for study.

Middle-Age Redefined: Blessing Not Bugaboo

NEW YORK (UPI) — Middle-age has become a dirty word in North American, where youth is exalted and the aged neglected.

But now, some researchers are re-defining that period between being young and being old. They're finding that for many, middle-age is a blessing, not a bugaboo, a period to be coveted, not cursed.

"The most optimistic thing to me is that I'm hearing that this group is turning on," said Dr. Richard Kerckhoff, president of the National Council on Family Relations. "They're avoiding the dullness trap and making it a period of reenrichment.

"I think middle-age is being recognized as a time in which thousands are seeing all kinds of advantage, including their marriages, for a satisfying way of life."

Kerckhoff, professor of child development and family life at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind., spoke on middle-age during a recent conference of the council in Salt Lake City. He enlarged on some of the points during a telephone interview.

The council is a forum for those who have interest in family relationships, whether they are educators, researchers or activists.

Middle-age is difficult to define, said Kerckhoff. Some researchers call it "the period between when the children leave home and the breadwinners leave their jobs."

But society is "badly confused" about ages and how to bracket them, he said. "For convenience sake, I'd say middle-age is the period between 40 and 65. But some good researchers are starting at 30. That'll shake up a lot of people.

"What we need is a functional rather than a chronological definition."

Kerckhoff fits his own definition. He's 54, married, and the father of three grown children.

In his early research into middle-age attitudes, including both fact and fiction, he said, he found many individuals "torn apart" by the early middle years—the demands of job, spouse and children.

"It's been pictured as a dull time, trivial, the guts gone," he said. "I was surprised at how many writers expressed this . . . the attitude of settling down and settled back. Nothing interesting left. Age just ahead.

"But I find the attitude is changing. Some researchers, getting down to the nitty gritty, found 50- and 60-year-olds who did not express the desire to be 20 again. They found life satisfying, were pleased with their marital relationships, although this flies in the face of such data as the rising divorce rate."

Reduced pressures can lead "not to marital bliss but to marital blahs," he said, "because if the marriage wasn't a good one in the early years, it might not make it through the middle ones.

"The time can be a hell of a crisis when there's not much reason for continuing to be together."

State of mind is all important — some research shows an almost "overwhelming satisfaction" with life by the 50, 60 and 70 group, he said.

Whatever, the goals are "completely personal." He noted that for some, they were simple — marriage was answer enough.

But for many, it's a time for further reassessment. Who am I? What is life all about? Where am I going?

Rather than viewing the middle years as a crisis, Kerckhoff said, they can offer a chance to grow. Couples can concentrate on one another, becoming good friends as well as marriage partners.

Ulster Planes Ordered

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Time Air Ltd. has placed an order worth about $4 million with an aircraft manufacturer in Northern Ireland for three 30-passenger aircraft, it was announced today.

Walter Ross, Time Air president, said Short Brothers and Harland Ltd. of Belfast are scheduled to deliver the first two aircraft, known as SD3-30S, in March next year and the third five months later.

Ross said the aircraft will replace 18-passenger twin Otters on Time's Lethbridge-Calgary-Edmonton and Grande Prairie service.

Ferry Sails —With The Terminal

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — Alaskan ferry officials are trying to get a small shuttle ferry to operate between Ketchikan and Prince Rupert, after the ferry Columbia tore down the vehicle loading ramp Saturday and cut off all vehicle access to Ketchikan.

Only foot traffic will be allowed to board at the old Columbia landing, which sank into the water when the ship pulled away from the dock without disconnecting the ramp.

Ferry officials say the shuttle ferry will carry vehicles to the Barrows Airport ferry landing, which can only accommodate the smaller vessel.

The Columbia was undamaged in the incident, but the ferry landing was a total loss. Officials couldn't estimate the amount of dollar damage nor the time it might take to repair it.

There were no injuries in the accident.

Get In on the Big Bike Boom

Bicycle Shop

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS®

Here — for all the folks who want to get out of a big city and start a little business in a friendly, peaceful spot — is yet another small-town self-employment suggestion: become a bicycle dealer in the small town of your choice.

Why a bicycle shop? Because — as you probably know — a "bike boom" is underway. In 1972, two-wheelers outsold automobiles for the first time in modern history, and someone has to market and service all those millions of machines.

And why a small-town location? Partly of course, to give you that relaxed, pleasant life you're after, but also because the smaller community is a good potential market for well-made bicycles and one that's been neglected.

You, the independent small-town dealer, can profit by offering — without competition, usually — better goods than those in the department stores. You won't have a monopoly on local bike sales, of course; many people will buy the cheaper products from large outlets just to save money. But when their purchases fall apart (as they inevitably do, YOU'LL get the repair jobs.

The amount of money you'll need to start a bike business depends on the scale of your plans. Ten thousand dollars will launch a very large operation, $5,000 an adequate one, but you can probably get by with a lot less.

Remember that your "small town" should be a community that can provide enough volume to support your business — around 10,000 is a good size.

Although almost any building will do (at least to start with), it's best to find one that can be divided easily into a small showroom and a service area.

If you aren't native to the town in which you open your shop, it's easy to choose a poor spot. A building just a few blocks from a main intersection may seem to be on the outskirts of the community to small town residents, and walk-in business will suffer accordingly. What you want is a small building in the very center of town — an old gas station would be perfect.

Before your grand opening, you will — of course — have to line up wholesale suppliers to furnish you with bicycles, parts and accessories. During the summer months you may have trouble finding sources whose merchandise hasn't been sold out to existing dealers. For this reason, it's probably best to open a new bicycle shop in the fall.

The easiest way to find suppliers is by going to your local telephone company office (which probably has, or can get, phone books for every major city) and thumbing through all the yellow pages. Remember, the nearer your wholesale source, the less you'll have to spend for freight charges.

How do you spread your money around so you'll have the best chance of making that new bicycle shop a going concern?

Let's say you begin with a total of $4,000. From that amount you should set aside $500 to cover your non-merchandise overhead for the first couple of months. (After that length of time the shop ought to be generating sufficient income to pay these expenses as they arise.) Next, reserve another $200 for initial advertising. This isn't much, but rates are generally low in a small town.

With the remaining $3,300 you'll buy everything else you need, including $1,500-$2,000 worth of bicycles. This should get you 17 to 21 medium-priced 10-speed machines which will retail for about $125 each.

The average markup on bicycles is 30-35 per cent, not a lot compared to that on other types of goods. Fortunately, you'll do considerably better on parts, accessories and service.

Your initial supply of bicycles should allow the customer a choice of at least two brands. Your suppliers can help you decide on the best colors and frame sizes to start with.

The wholesalers may, however, try to sell you their more expensive bikes (which retail at $200-$500 each).

In the beginning it's best not to tie up your limited capital in such items . . . but do get brochures on the distributors' entire lines in case someone wants a higher-priced model than you have in stock.

You now have $1,300-$1,800 left to invest — about $400 of which you should put into parts and accessories. That's not a lot, but it will buy most of the items your customers are likely to want at this point. The usual markup on such merchandise is 100 per cent, but you may want to hold the percentage down a little, particularly if other stores around you sell cyclists' supplies.

Concentrate on replacements items and accessories for the bikes you handle and — maybe — one other popular brand sold in town. Many parts are interchangeable among good 10-speeders.

Obviously, you'll need tools to put bicycles together and keep them that way, but there's no need, in the beginning, to spend more than $100 on this equipment.

First, get a set of metric wrenches, some adjustable wrenches and a few screwdrivers. You'll be amazed at the repairs you can do with these few items alone. You'll also need some tire repair tools, plus a few gadgets made especially for bike work. The more expensive articles such as movable repair stands and air compressors can come later, as your business grows.

The best solution to assembly and repair problems is to get a good book on bikes and read it as you go along. Some distributors hold regular "repair schools" and if you can get in on one of these, so much the better.

You'll find it well worth $25 a year to belong to a national bicycle dealers association. Among other advantages, your membership will bring you a service rate book that tells how long a specific repair or adjustment should take and how much you should ask for the work in your area. An association will also send you a listing of bicycle and parts suppliers all over the country.

What's left of your original $4,000 should be held in reserve just in case you need it. If a customer walks in and wants five or six bikes for his grandchildren, for instance, and you don't have them in stock, at least you'll be able to order the machines.

It's usually best to plow every penny of profit back into the operation. It's also a good idea not to try to depend on your fledgling enterprise for a living until it's firmly established.

Unless you open a large establishment in a big city, you can't expect to get rich. But if you're satisifed to work hard at your trade in quiet, peaceful surroundings, good things will come your way.

Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch
Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most important—this improvement was maintained in cases where clinical observations were continued over a period of many months. Furthermore, these tests and observations were made on patients with a wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. All this was accomplished with a healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a stated cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

ROLLING STONE

UPS FROM THE DEAD: The invitation from UA and Round Records hailed it as a "rare and important musical performance," and it was a well-kept secret. So when Aug. 13 rolled around and the Grateful Dead resurfaced to play tunes from their new "Blues for Allah" album at S.F.'s Great American Music Hall, the only people in the audience of 300 were radio station delegates to the Billboard convention in town, Dead family and friends, and a handful of press. Before the end of the first number, one sensed the evening would be a treat. The Dead, who appeared on a stage decorated with masks of Henry Kissinger and an Arab, looked especially spirited and played the same way. They had the crowd on their feet in the 1890s style room after the rocking opening suite that included "Help on the Way," "Slip Knot" and "Franklin's Tower (Roll Away the Dew)." During "The Music Never Stopped," another rocker, promoter Bill Graham, left his table to personally clear a portion of the floor for dancing. But there were few takers among the radio crowd.

After a break the Dead, still smiling amongst themselves, returned for a mixture of old ("Sugaree," "Goin' Down the Road," "Reelin' and Rockin' ") and new, culminating with the 25-minute "Blues for Allah" suite. "They got off like I havent seen them, get off in a long time," promo man Greg Nelson said later. "They had really wanted to play — especially here. This room is heaven to (Jerry) Garcia." But for now, Nelson added, the Dead, who stopped touring in September of 1974, plan no more shows until next year, when a tour is being considered. Said Nelson: "We have big plans for the Bicentennial."

JANIS IAN, whose long dormant career was resurrected by her "Between the Lines" album and the single "At Seventeen," is recording again in New York. She described her new material as "much more musical, less introspective — it's really fun."

She thinks "I Would Like to Dance," featuring a "straight-ahead Puerto Rican" sound, will be a single. The album's title tune will be "Aftertones," done in "string quartet style. It's about what's left after the song's over . . . the feeling after a show," Janis said. For this album, Ian has taken wand in hand to conduct for the first time; she had already begun scoring with "Between the Lines." "Unless you can do your own scoring you won't hear what you want to hear. The same with conducting and giving the cues," she explained. "But I'm still learning. My downbeat hasn't been firm enough.'

Janis's downbeat wasn't the only thing occupying her mind as she talked. "Between the Lines" and "At Seventeen" had just broken into the Top Ten — her first hit since the "Society's Child" days of 1967. "A lot of it has just been Columbia," Ian said. "They made a promise (to promote my records) and they kept it. It's very gratifying, after being turned down by about every other record company."

* * *

SHORT: United Artists gave a recording session-jam session-party for newly signed Dr. John at L.A.'s Cherokkee Studios, done up in Louisiana roadhouse motif for the occasion. Those attending included Ringo (who played host), Eric Clapton, Alice Cooper, Jackson Browne, Phoebe Snow, Joe Cocker, Minnie Riperton, Edgar Winter, Eddit Kendricks, Maria Muldaur, Tommy Smothers and the Band's Rick Danko. John entertained for a couple of hours with his Rizzum and Blues Revue, while the tapes ran and a film crew whirred away. Then at midnight, he was joined for an after-recording-session jam with Ringo, Clapton (on congas), Cocker, back-up singer Tami Lynn and Alice Cooper guitarist Steve Hunter. The resulting album, entitled "I Got Rizzum," is due in early fall . . . Elvin Bishop is recording his next album in Miami; it'll be called either "Struttin' My Stuff" or "Joy, Joy, Joy." "It's gonna be a tiny bit more soul-oriented," Elvin said. "It's just what I'm into these days" . . . While in L.A. to appear on the Rock Music Awards, Labelle joined Elton John at the Sound Factory to add some backup vocals to a new John tune called "Yell Help." "It's rock song about an ugly girl." Labelle's Nona Hendryx explained . . . When the Flying Burrito Brothers decided on a big chorus to end a song called "River Road," which they were recording at CBS Studios in San Francisco for their debut Columbia album ("Flying Again," due by the end of September), they grabbed whoever was available. The resulting vocal ensemble included members of QUICKSILVER, recording next door; engineers; girlfriends — and a little guy with a big cigar, who turned out to be none other than Capital Records senior v.p. Al Coury. It is now known whether or not Coury had to ask himself for permission to make the guest appearance.

Wicked To Mend His Ways

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Tell the kids this isn't Hollywood," says motorcycle daredevil Wicked Ward from his hospital bed. "It's pain, agony, suffering. These aren't stunts. It's life and death."

Ward, 27, a onetime protege of daredevil Evel Knievel, broke his neck Friday when his motorcycle-hang glider was caught in a crosswind at 15 feet and dropped him head first at 70 miles an hour to the ground near Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Ward has broken his feet, ankles, legs, shoulders, arms, wrists, rib cage and back in previous accidents. Now he says he's had enough.

"I've jumped motorcycles for eight years, minus a year and a half spent in hospitals," Ward said in an interview. "But I never thought of death per se until this last time. That did it. I'm through with this life."

Over his hospital bed hangs a pulley with a 15-pound weight attached to his skull. Doctors hope the traction will straighten his shattered neck bones and keep them from damaging the spinal cord.

"I don't want other kids to end like this," said the father of three, whose real name is Robert Brent Ward. He said Knievel gave him his nickname when the two worked together in Atlanta.

"He told me, 'With Evel Knievel and Wicked Ward, we can't miss. You can be my protege, my understudy,' " Ward recalled. The two men later had a falling out, he said.

"My wife, Pam, has wanted me to quit for eight years, but she's been pretty good about letting me do what I want," said Ward. "But she saw the last jump and that was too much for her."

Advisers to Laos

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuter) — The Soviet Union has sent 1,500 advisers in various fields to assist Laos, says the English-language newspaper Bangkok Post. It reported that the figure was disclosed by Phoune Sipraseuth, deputy premier and foreign minister, who arded that Soviet aid was being given without strings — "unlike that of the United States."

The Bridge Expert

By FRED KARPIN

As used in bridge terminology, the word "gambit" is defined as "the deliberate sacrifice of a trick in order to gain additional tricks." The word is borrowed from the game of chess, in which the word means the sacrificing of a pawn or minor piece to gain some advantage.

In today's deal we have an example of a simple, logical bridge gambit.

Opening lead: Queen of ♣.

South's five-no-trump bid was made in the hope that North possessed the two missing kings. If that had been the case, South could have counted that he had all 13 tricks, since the king of spades would provide an entry to dummy for the cashing of the diamond ace. When North announced that he had only one king, South settled for the small slam.

The less-skilled player, after winning the opening club lead, might feel that he had no sure entry to dummy for the cashing of the ace and king of diamonds. Having this feeling, he would probably play two rounds of trumps, gathering in the adversely held pieces. Next would come the ace of spades, after which a low spade would be led towards dummy's queen, with the hope that West possessed the king. If such were the case, then dummy's queen would become a winner.

In the actual setup, with East having the king of spades, declarer would lose two spade tricks and his contract.

The better player would surely fulfill his contract without the reliance on the favorable position of the king of spades.

After winning the opening club lead with the king of clubs, he would lead the two of trumps towards dummy's 7-6, deliberately losing a trick to the defenders' eight of trumps (the gambit). West would win the trick with the eight.

He would then return, let us say, another club, which South would win with the ace. Next would come South's five of trumps to the board's seven-spot. The ace and king of diamonds would now be cashed, South discarding thereon the deuce and eight of spades. Declarer would then chalk up the score for a slam bid and made.

Some Answers to Shrub Queries

A previous column stating that shrubs and trees are not pruned in local gardens during the fall (because of the climate) has brought several questions as to the exact calendar date when we should give attention to specifically named shrubs.

Since it is possible to grow more kinds, species and varieties of shrubs on the southern end of Vancouver Island than in any other part of Canada, to cover every plant by name would fill this column for many weeks.

That does not mean we cannot be of help to local gardeners providing they are willing to help themselves by making a few observations and entering the results of those observations in the garden notebook for future reference.

The shrubs we can grow will comfortably fit into two groups. All the home gardener has to do is to study the flowering habits of plants being grown and determine to which group they belong.

But first, let us reach an agreement as to the start and finish of the different seasons that make up a calendar year.

When trying to elicit information to help solve a problem, gardeners will tell me the seed was sown this summer, but pinning them down to a date reveals it was sometime in April.

In all horticultural references, January, February and March constitute winter, even when "spring sowings" of hardy vegetables are made in March. Our inconsistency is revealed when we refer to such sowings as early spring although they are actually made in late winter.

Spring encompasses April, May and June. Summer is July, August and September, regardless of the widespread belief that summer ends when school starts. October, November and December are the months of autumn or, if you prefer, fall.

The change from one season to another is on Dec. 21, March 21, June 21 and Sept. 21, with a day or two difference over a period of years to bring our calendars in line with solar time. The season is considered to have changed although the prevailing weather may continue.

Air temperatures and the number of hours of daylight have an effect on the production of flowering wood. Some shrubs produce flowering wood in summer and fall and flower the following spring, others produce flowering wood in spring and flowers during the summer.

For our purpose it is convenient to divide the shrubs we grow into two groups: Group 1, those which flower during spring (April to the end of June); Group 2, those which flower in summer and early fall (July to the end of October).

All shrubs fitting into Group 1 make their flowering wood during the summer and fall, and bear the blossoms the following spring. To prune in fall would remove the flowering wood.

Therefore, pruning is done immediately the majority of the blooms have faded, before the new growths (which will be the flowering wood for next year) become visible.

Those in Group 2 bear flowers on new wood growth made during spring, and the flowers open during summer and early fall. These are pruned in March to early April depending on weather conditions, but always before, or at the first indication of, new growth.

There is no exact calendar date on which any shrub is pruned, nor are all the shrubs in one group ready to prune at one time.

As a further indication of our inconsistency, the many shrubs (and climbers) which flower during the winter months are put into Group 1, and pruned as soon as flowering is over (winter), providing it is not done during a cold spell that could cause dieback.

Clematis, a climber, fits into either group according to its time of flowering. The species which flower early in spring go into Group 1 for pruning as the blossoms fade. The large flowered hybrids which flower after the end of June belong in Group 2 and are cut back in March or early April.

With the summer flowering hybrids, flowers will be borne about three feet above the point of cutting. If the plant is cut down to three feet above soil level, the first flowers will appear at six feet. This makes it possible for us to have the blossoms wherever we wish, at eye-level or hidden under the eaves.

HOW TO WRITE

A GOOD

CLASSIFIED ACTION AD

1—IT'S BEST to start your ad with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment, room etc., for rent, or property for sale; start your ad with the location.

2—BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and favorably when given complete, definite information. Always include the price in your advertisement.

3—MAKE IT EASY for the reader-prospect to reach you. Always give your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time for the prospect to get in touch with you.

4—PLAY SAFE. You get the greatest reader attention by using consecutive insertions. A six-day order is best and costs less, and you can, of course, stop your ad as soon as you get the results you want. You pay only for the days your ad appeared. Lower yearly rates are available to those who wish to keep their services or products before the public.

5—PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you want to know about your offer. The answer you give will make a good Want Ad.
Don't allow the reader to speculate.

6—GIVE YOUR PROSPECT every inducement you can with good copy. Classified action ad readers have the money and are already interested in buying the merchandise or service you have to offer; the details and information you give are the most important.

7—WANT ADS THAT FAIL TO bring the desired results do so usually, not through a lack of readership, but because they are poorly worded or contain inadequate information.

8—TO PLACE YOUR AD, call 386-2121, your direct line number to fast Want Ad action. A courteous, efficient advisor will be glad to help you word and place your order. And remember, Classified Action Ads afford you the most complete coverage. Telephones are open 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. for you daily. Monday through Saturday call:

Bloody Coup Fails To Seize Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — President Guillermo Rodriguez Lara imposed a curfew today and ordered mass arrests of civilian politicians who supported a bloody abortive coup that was crushed by loyal commanders.

Military and hospital sources said at last count 17 persons died and over 80 were injured in the 12-hour uprising Monday in which a rebel tank unit managed to seize the presidential palace but was in turn surrounded and forced to surrender by the loyalists.

President Rodriguez impose da curfew from 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. and ordered the arrests of all the members of the so-called civic junta, a coalition of moderate political parties that supported the attempted coup d'etat in an effort to restore civilian rule to Ecuador.

It was the bloodiest Latin American revolt since the Chilean armed forces overthrew the late president Salvador Allende in 1973.

A 10-tank rebel force seized the presidential palace in a blaze of gunfire Monday morning, but Rodriguez Lara managed to slip out before the attack.

The president fled to an army base at Riobamba, 110 miles to the south, and called on loyalist troops in Ecuador to join him in retaking the palace.

The rebel troops met stiff resistance at the palace from a 220-man presidential guard and 100 paratroopers. The loyalists held out for 11 hours while the president rallied most major military aggrisons to his side.

The tide of battle turned in the president's favor when the air force and navy declared their support at mid-day and warplanes began strafing the rebel armored force.

Rodriguez Lara, waving to cheering crowds, then led a loyalist army column back to the bullet-riddled presidential palace in downtown Quito and retook the building 12 hours after the rebel assault.

Militay sources said Gen. Raul Gonzalez and his brother-in-law, Gen. Alejandro Solis, director of the military college, were taken prisoner. They were believed to be the only two generals who supported the rebellion.

Gonzalez said in a radio communique he had moved against Rodriguez Lara because of alleged mismanagement of the country's rich oil resources.

History Repeats At Food Store

History repeated itself in an armed robbery at the Value Way food store, 101 West Burnside during the weekend.

Saanich police said today two masked men, one brandishing a hunting knife, the other a handgun, held up the cashier at 9:30 p.m. Saturday and made off with about $300.

After ordering the cashier to crouch on the floor, they fled out the door and escaped on foot.

Police described the suspects as in their late teens or early 20s. One was about six foot two inches tall, thinly built with medium dark brown hair, the other was about five foot nine inches tall, bearded with dark brown hair. Both wore nylon stockings over their faces.

A police spokesman noted it was the second holdup at the small corner grocery store this year. On April 2, a man armed with a handgun demanded the cashier hand over $130 from the till.

Police had better success that time. They arrested two suspects within minutes after the robbery.

The two suspects in the Saturday incident, however, remain at large.

Come TO THE FAIR
3 BIG DAYS
Aug. 30, 31, Sept. 1

107 Years Young . . .

Thrills for all on the traditional midway

Like Ol' Man River, the Saanich Fair keeps rolling along, with the 107th annual outing drawing the biggest crowd ever to the Saanichton fair grounds over the Labor Day weekend.

Manager Henry Robinson said today that well over 30,000 showed up but no one knows for sure because children 12 and under, who are admitted free, aren't counted.

They came to file respectfully past lush fruit and vegetable displays (like the longest bean), past chocolate cakes and butter tarts nibbled by the judges, past begonias and chrysanthemums and zinnias; all arranged in impeccable order.

They stared at needlework and paintings and photographs and trudged through the straw in sheds to glimpse pigs and piglets, pigeous and rabbits, sheep and goats, cows and even burros, all scrubbed and curried for the occasion.

They climbed the plank grandstand to watch square-dancing and horse shows and they milled through the midway to ride the Scrambler or the Tilt-A-Whirl and leave candy floss stains behind them.

Robinson said entries were up in the horse events, the ladies' work and vegetable section of this year's show, which he described in total as "very successful."

Prizes totalled more than $15,000 and more than 5,000 people competed in a lengthy list of categories, from best beeswax to best gladiola spike.

In livestock competition, the fair manager said prices fetched in auction by the best steer ($2,244) and top lamb ($470) were double those paid at the Pacific National Exhibition.

In both cases, the best animals were bought by Woodward's and the top steer came from Toro-Negro Farms, formerly Woodwyn Farms. Top lamb came from Allan Laitenin.

Friendship Rejuvenates The Oldsters

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff

The best medicine for old people can't be bottled and it can't be bought. It has to be given free by willing donors and down at Memorial Pavilion they need about 200 of them.

In a subtle way, a tour of the sombre building which used to be called Veterans' Hospital shows what the people there hunger for. Along a corridor, in a cramped alcove by the door, a cluster of old people are gathered in their wheelchairs, chatting contentedly and looking outside.

It's raining out. There's nothing to see. One floor down there's a big meeting room available, with television and billiard table. It's empty.

What has the doorway got to offer? It's the only place where glass panels allow an unobstructed view outside, when you're sitting in a wheelchair.

As any jailbird will tell you, when you have to stay inside, you want out.

But if you're old, in a wheelchair, with no family or friends, you can forget about seeing Beacon Hill Park, or going to a concert or just for a Sunday drive. Unless someone volunteers to take you.

There are about 190 old people now living at Memorial Pavilion since a good part of it has been designated for long-term care, men and women, veterans and civilians.

There are about six regular volunteers.

The pavilion staff are now wrestling with the problem facing so-called extended care hospitals in other parts of Greater Victoria. What can you do to make life a little richer for people whose main problem is they're old, not sick?

Past practice has taught one lesson. Treat them like patients and they'll oblige and become patients.

So at Memorial Pavilion, the staff don't like the word "hospital" (although they're stuck for a better word at the moment) and they talk about residents rather than patients, says Mrs. Margaret Soltys, nursing superintendent.

The residents, she says, are being encouraged to do as much as they can for themselves.
dressing themselves and going to a dining room for meals.

That applies to such every-day routines as grooming and

There are besides, either planned or under way, activities such as sing-songs, dances, card games, teas, films, bingo, baking, fashion shows and birthday parties.

Some of the residents grow flowers and tomatoes in window boxes and tend a small garden on the grounds.

The staff try to find out what interests the old people had. Then the job is to stimulate those interests, reawaken them or coax the residents into new ones.

But sustaining that sort of activity has shown the need for volunteers, people from the community who could devote a couple of hours or more a week.

Some of the pavilion residents need help with letter writing and some would like to have someone read to them. Almost all of them would like someone new to talk to. And volunteers with their own hobbies, everything from stamp-collecting to bird-watching, could bring something new into the life of some residents.

People with transportation can bring Beacon Hill Park or shoreline drives within reach again.

In their efforts to shift the pavilion from a hospital to home environment, the staff are even thinking about adding a community pet such as a dog.

Mrs. Soltys says people willing to volunteer some time for pavilion residents could call 592-1261, local 244, and leave their names and telephone numbers. They will be contacted.

But the staff feels volunteers need to be consistent in what they give, and reliable. If it's a couple of hours a week, at the volunteer's most convenient time, it helps if it's the same time each week.

'FUNERAL' OPPOSES TRIDENT

More than a dozen young jean-clad marchers left Centennial Square after noon, carrying a coffin, balloons and placards calling for things like "Balloons not bombs," or "One humanity — one spirit," and made their way to the war memorial in front of the legislative buildings.

On the way, they stopped at the post office to mail more than 150 letters of concern to world leaders, and at the memorial ballons carrying warning of Trident's nuclear threat were released to drift into the clouds high above the legislative buildings.

The group's message said the Trident base, about 50 miles south of here, "will involve up to 20 16,000-ton nuclear submarines, each one armed with 408 nuclear warheads, each warhead being 10 times more destructive than the bomb which destroyed Hiroshima 30 years ago."

"If anything should happen to that base after it is completed in 1978, the ground you are standing on, and the life that surrounds you, will die."

Nevada Convict Faces Charges In Kamloops

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A murderer who escaped from Nevada State Penitentiary 16 months ago will appear before an immigration department special hearing today to face deportation charges.

RCMP in this central British Columbia community said that John Griffith, 45, was recaptured Saturday without a fight as he was working with a Canadian National Railway track crew.

The man was living in nearby Ashcroft since late 1974 under the name of Stephen Hendricks, RCMP said.

Commuters On Rampage In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police arrested irate commuters who attempted to crash subway gates and turnstiles today in protest against a new 50-cent transit fare, a hike of 15 cents. A heavy police presence kept gate-crashing to a minimum.

By the end of the morning rush hour at least 26 persons had been arrested and charged with "theft of services," a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

A Transit Authority spokesman said most of the arrest charges would probably be dropped later and summonses on various charges issued instead.

Poor to Get Poorer IMF Outlook Shows

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — One billion persons in the poorest countries of the world face economic stagnation for the rest of the decade, while real per capita income in the rich industrial countries will grow from $3,100 in 1970 to $4,000 in 1980, World Bank President Robert McNamara said Monday.

In his opening addresss to the joint annual meetings of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund here, McNamara said that the poor countries had become "the principal victims" of worldwide inflation, higher oil costs, prolonged recession in the industrial world, and a deterioration in the prices they get for their exports compared with what they pay for imports.

To help cope with this situation, which he said precipitating a "severe foreign exchange crisis" McNamara proposed a $40 billion lending program for the bank for the fiscal years 1976-80; representing a 58 per cent increase over the past five-year period, after allowing for inflation.

Of the $40 billion total, $7 billion is ticketed for the current fiscal year, compared with $6.1-billion in fiscal 1975.

McNamara reported that the impact o the world eco-

5.1 CENTS GASOLINE BOOST

Victoria gasoline prices will go up at least 5.1 cents a gallon Wednesday as a provincial freeze comes to an end.

This will increase the basic retail price for standard gasoline to 75 cents from 69.9 cents and premium will go to about 80 cents from 74.9 cents.

The increases are the result of a federal government action permitting increases in the price of crude oil to $8 a barrel from $6.50. These increases went into effect Aug. 15, although some provinces delayed the raises beyond that date.

The 5.1 cents a gallon increase consists of 4.5 cents on the added cost of crude oil plus .6 cents added federal sales tax.

This 5.1 cents increase is at the wholesale level but the majority of retailers will simply pass along the new increases.

Robert Dunsmuir, Victoria president of the Automotive Retailers Association, said about 80 per cent of the local service station dealers have signed contracts permitting the oil companies to limit the price they could charge for gasoline. As almost, all of them are at the limit now, there could be no increase above the 5.1 cents a gallon level.

However, the other 20 per cent of service stations are free to charge what they wish and some are as high as 80 cents a galllon for standard gasoline.

Dunsmuir said Victoria service stations realized they had to cut their prices some months ago to meet the competition of self-service stations, most of which are run directly by oil companies.

Before that time, they had been taking a markup of 14.8 cents a gallon. Under the revised agreement, they take only 5 cents a gallon, plus a 3-cents-a-gallon reduction on

IT'S RAINING IN METRIC

OTTAWA (CP) — Measurement of rain and snowfall in metric units throughout Canada began Monday. The metric commission says rain is now measured in millimetres and snow in centimetres.

Five mm. of rain is a light sprinkle, but 50 mm is a downpour.

Ireland Killings Flare Up

BELFAST (UPI) — A flareup of religious warfare in Northern Ireland has killed 11 persons in the past three days.

Shooting attacks Monday took seven lives in what police and army officials said was the most violent day in the province in more than two years.

In the most serious incident Monday, four persons were shot to death and 16 others wounded in an attack on a Protestant meeting, 50 miles south of Belfast.

Police said two gunmen walked into the hall and fired bursts from submachine guns at more than 50 persons gathered inside. They then exploded a bomb on the steps of the hall before escaping in a car.

A 36-year-old Roman Catholic was shot to death as he answered the door of his home at Dungannon, 35 miles southwest of Belfast, Monday night. Police said two gunmen forced their way in and gunned him down in the hallway.

Merlyn Rees, the British minister in charge of troubled Northern Ireland, today called an emergency security meeting.

A statement from Rees said he would discuss the situation with his security adviser later today.

Additional troops — the second extra detachment in 12 hours — would immediately be sent to County Armagh, scene of the worst of Monday's shooting incaidents.

Arabs Irate Over Pact

Times News Services

Arab guerrilla leaders today condemned the new Egyptian-Israeli Sinai peace agreement and called for general strikes, demonstrations, and more raids into Israel to protest the accord.

America's allies greeted the pact with relief and praise. The dollar, spurred by the prospect of Middle East peace, gained strength on European money markets, rising in value in Frankfurt, London, Zurich, and Paris.

The Soviet news agency Tass did not directly comment on the agreement, but it carried hostile comments from foreign newspapers indicating that the Soviet view is negative.

In Beirut, Yasser Arafat called on Arabs to "fight off the American presence" in the Middle East and sabotage the agreement.

The agreement is an "imperialist plot to liquidate the Palestine cause," he said.

"This plot shall collapse upon the unshaken will of the Palestinian people," he added.

Henry Kissinger, meanwhile, set out today on a campaign to convince other Arab nations to join Egypt in settling their differences with Israel.

Kissinger planned a day of whirlwind visits to Saudi Arabia, Jordan and possibly Syria after guiding Israel and Egypt to the interim agreement.

The accord, if approved by Congress, would send up to 200 U.S. volunteers to the tank-littered sands of the Sinai to run electronic surveillance stations between the opposing armies.

Supermarkets Set to Close

Sixteen supermarkets in Greater Victoria, poised for a shutdown in a labor dispute, remained open today while three unions met to discuss strategy in Vancouver.

On the Lower Mainland, where 125 supermarkets could be closed if picketing starts, there are indications that leaders of bakers' and meat-cutters' unions may decide to refrain from picketing beyond today, despite the passing of strike and lockout deadlines.

In Greater Victoria, there are 10 Canada Safeway and five Super-Valu stores involved, including Super-Valu's Economart at Royal Oak, as well as Maverick Market in Esquimalt. Other food store operators have said they can readily meet community demands if the 16 are shut down.

Jack Fidler, district manager for Safeway, said today there are no signs of picketers locally yet. He described the volume of shoppers this morning as average.

The third union involved represents retail clerks. The supermarkets have said clerks will be locked out if other unions picket their stores.

A strike of bakeries on the Lower Mainland last week has left bread supplies on southern Vancouver Island largely unaffected although it did trigger some extra buying in Greater Victoria. Most bread sold in Greater Victoria is provided by local bakeries, including McDonald's, which are unaffected by the strike.

In Vancouver, Hugh Comber of the bakery workers, said today: "we have to decide what we are going to do through the days ahead."

Rain, Tourists Deluged City in Record Volume

It was the wettest August ever but the tourists still came to Victoria in large numbers, Visitor Information Centre president Terry Farmer said today.

The volume of tourists coming from Seattle on the Marguerite was up 9 per cent over the previous August. B.C. Ferries, Black Ball and Washington State Ferries report their preliminary estimates show similar increases.

By contrast July had been a poor month. Marguerite traffic had been up only 3 per cent and traffic on B.C. Ferries had been down about 1 per cent.

Farmer said hotels, restaurants and tourist attractions all reported a good month, therain. "Thenumberofpe despie the rain.

"The number of people tenting in this area during August was the same as last year, which shows the rain didn't discourage very many people. They came but they may not have stayed as long as they might have if the weather was better."

Farmer said it appeared many Americans had delayed coming to Victoria until August in hopes the weather would be better than it sometimes is in July. For example, it was fairly damp in July, 1974, and dry in August.

"Maybe they will decide to come in July next year."

Farmer said Victoria merchants are looking forward to a brisk tourist season this fall. If the weather is good in September, tourist spending could continue at levels usually associated only with July and August, he said.

For five days in the early part of August the sold-out sign went up in Victoria and tourists had to be directed to hotels and motels in Sooke and Duncan.

He said that while merchants generally are satisfied with the tourist flow in August, it obviously would have been better if the weather had been more favorable. Some tourist attractions that are in the open air did not fare well, while those under shelter reported a good summer.

"Over-all, it was not as good as most people had hoped but it was a fairly good year. Most merchants seem to be satisfied."

HITTING POLICE COSTS $1,500

A 25-year-old man was fined $1,500 in Victoria provincial court this morning after pleading guilty to assaulting a police officer.

It's time people had more respect for the law, Judge Edmond St. Jorre said in fining Robert Douglas Renton of 655 Griffiths.

Renton was charged after an incident June 1 when former Victoria police Constable Bill Sherman tried to arrest the accused and another man who were creating a disturbance in front of Coffee Mac's, 617 Gorge.

Police said Renton jumped on Sherman from behind, kicked him in the stomach, hit him in the shoulder and then fled down the street.

Sherman received a sprained ankle in the scuffle and had to be taken to hospital for treatment.

"This policeman has not recovered from his injuries yet," St. Jorre said. "It is a very, very serious matter."

The judge said the accused had to be "taught a lesson" and that if Renton had had a criminal record he would have been looking at a definite jail term.

In addition to the fine, which in default carries a two-year jail sentence, St. Jorre placed Renton on two years' probation.

The crown withdrew three other charges laid against Renton in connection with the incident — resisting arrest, obstructing a police officer and escaping lawful custody.

The maximum penalty for assaulting a peace officer is five years in jail. There is no stated limit on the amount of the fine that can be set in lieu.

Shoot-Out Ends Hunt for Kelly

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Donald Kelly, the accused killer and cunning woodsman who evaded police for 31 days in dense Northern Ontario bushland, was in stable but serious condition and under heavy hospital guard here today after being shot and captured late Monday afternoon.

Police, who had Sudbury General Hospital sealed off, were treating seriously two telephone calls in which callers threatened to blow up the hospital if any thing happened to the man who touched off what has been described as the most intensive manhunt in Ontario history.

Kelly was suffering from a bullet-shattered right arm and buckshot wounds to the left chest and back. He underwent surgery on the arm late Monday night and his condition today was described as serious, but stable.

The saga of Kelly, a 36-year-old North Bay-area man, described by police as intelligent but violent, ended at dusk Monday in an isolated hunting cabin about 15 miles northeast of this nickel-smelting city.

He has been accused of two shooting deaths, escaping jail, and during his month of freedom of taking 23 hostages.

He was taken without resistance 3½ hours after a gun battle in which a provincial police tracking dog was killed and Kelly wounded.

Police said the dog and its handler approached the rear of the cabin, located on a river in heavy bush country, and the dog signalled that the fugitive was nearby. The handler, Constable Ray Carson of North Bay, walked to the front of the cabin and saw a man eating on the porch.

Constable Carson called out Kelly's name, the man answered 'no,' then grabbed a rifle. Police said Constable Carson shot the man in the right arm and the dog attacked and held the man by the pant leg.

The man shot and killed the dog, named Cloud III, and was peppered with buckshot by another policeman but managed to flee into dense bush. More shots were exchanged and the two provincial policemen retreated to call in reinforcements.

A call went out for 150 police and a short time later a ministry of natural resources employee spotted a man in the river. It appeared that he was washing wounds and it was assumed that he returned to the cabin later.

Police surrounded the cabin, lobbed in tear gas and found Kelly wrapped in a blanket and lying on the floor.

One police spokesman said Kelly was not hostile when taken and added that Kelly said he was sorry that the dog had been killed and that the police had been shot at.

He was taken to hospital by helicopter and appeared pale and in shock when wheeled into the emergency ward. The excitement drew a crowd and police set up guard lines.

Later, the hospital received the telephone calls and Det. Insp. W. C. Craig of the provincial police said he is concerned about possible action by Kelly's friends and also by anyone who might have anything against him.

Analysts said the tendency to cash in on some profits after last week's 30.58-point runup in the Dow might have been heightened by continued concern over New York City's financial difficulties.

Another evident depressant was the news that the federal budget deficit for July, at $11.05 billion, was the second largest on record for a calendar month.

Gold stocks declined broadly with the London bullion price sliding below $150 in reaction to the agreement by an International Monetary Fund group on on a plan for gold sales to aid poor countries.

ECM Exports Top Imports

BRUSSELS (AP) — For the first time in three years European Common Market countries seem to be exporting more than they are importing, a report indicates.

Because of a weakness in imports, Market experts say there may have been a slight excess of exports over imports starting in February for the nine Common Market countries taken as a whole.

Auto Factories Busy in Japan

TOKYO (UPI — The U.S. auto industry may be in the doldrums, but Japan's is doing fine.

The busy factories of Toyota, Nissan (Datsun) and nine other companies turned out 617,402 cars, trucks and buses in July for their best performance of the year.

It was a return to the levels of production reached during 1973 in Japan's last burst of inflated prosperity just before the start of the oil crisis.

If the pace holds, 1975 could be the Japanese car industry's second best production year in history. The all-time record was set in 1973 when Japanese manufacturers built 7,082,757 vehicles. Last year the output dropped to 6,551,840, but 1974 still was Japan's second best year ever.

Although exports account for about one third of Japan's sales, most of the industry's prosperity this year comes from a boom in passenger car sales in the Japanese market.

The price of gasoline in Japan has increased from about 62 cents a gallon before the oil crisis, to about $1.42 per gallon today. Pleasure driving has declined, but the Japanese continue to buy cars, partly on the basis of rumors that prices will rise rapidly after the present recession is over.

In July, new vehicle registrations of all types reached 393,632, giving the industry one of its best domestic sales months in history. A big spurt in passenger car sales accounted for the boost. Truck registrations were down.

So far this year, exports to the United States are off. The Japan Automobile Manufacturers Association says its members shipped 374,000 vehicles to the United States in the first six months of the year. Shipments to America in the January-June period of 1974 came to 548,000 units.

However, because of the slump in American car sales, the Japanese actually are increasing their market share. In June, both Toyota and Nissan outsold Volkswagen to take over the first two places among foreign car exporters to the United States.

Air Canada Eyes Know-How Sales

MONTREAL (CP) — The sale of Air Canada's computer expertise "could become an interesting source of revenue," says Pierre Jeanniot, vice-president of computer and systems services.

And additional revenues no matter how small, cannot be overlooked these days when most airlines, including Air Canada, operate in the red.

The airline already has computer-sharing agreements with Air Jamaica, Pacific Western Airlines and Eastern Provincial Airways.

Talks are in progress with several other small Canadian and medium-sized international airlines which are interested in either directly linking up to Air Canada's computer system or buying the airline's computer expertise.

Jeanniot estimated in an interview there are about 40 medium-sized airlines around the world that are potential Air Canada customers.

He is unwilling to discuss Air Canada's prices for such arrangements, but suggests potential revenue in the millions of dollars awaits aggressive salesmen.

"We've always made a good commercial return," he said, referring to deals already closed with airline

He admits Air Canada has not pursued these sales as ardently as it could have.

Officials from Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, had been interested in acquiring Air Canada computer technology and were enthusiastically wined and dined by Air Canada, Jeanniot said.

Air Canada has been more aggressive in its computer agreements with travel agencies.

Jeanniot said that since 1973, 113 travel agencies have been equipped with computer links to the airline.

Through this link, a customer at a travel agency can bookaflightplushotelaccar.

Air Canada itself is hoping to become more of a travel agent by beginning a cross-Canada ground-accommodation service that would even include advance booking in campsites.

A pilot project was started in Prince Edward Island, where a visitor at a government-operated tourist booth can obtain accommodation bookings anywhere in the province. This service is operated through the Air Canada computer system.

The Alberta government is planning a similar project and Air Canada is hoping to provide the computer technology for that service, eventually linking it to a proposed national service.

Tourists, including those who don't intend to fly with Air Canada, could check into a ticket office and obtain the information, Jeanniot said.

Debenture Sale Of $60M Filed

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Urban Community has announced it has filed a registration statement with the United States securities and Exchange Commission for a proposed sale of $60 million of sinking fund debentures. The debentures, due Oct. 1, 2000, are payable in U.S. funds and would be redeemable by Oct. 1, 1990.

The city's $75-million debenture issue last month was almost sold out a day after sales began.

Thoughts of a Woman— On the Battle of Sexes

It is, I should say, a rare event when a man can listen for any great length to a philosophizing woman without slipping into a sort of coma. That is why I propose to tell you about the remarkable woman with whom I spent several pleasant hours last night.

I'll have to call her Lydia — don't ask me why, it just seems to fit her — because, as yet, I do not know her real name. Lydia has a great many ideas about a great many things. Most of them have to do with woman's place in the scheme of things. The woman who — so to speak — introduced me to her, said, "You may not agree, but you'll enjoy her opinions." I'm bound to say that I did.

Lydia believes in being herself:

"There is no use in everybody being so hopelessly alike. Much evil arises from unquestioningly following the copy set by people who are supposed to be 'smart'. If women would give up copying every new wrinkle of fashion and custom, if they would refuse to accept popular models and hold to instinctive properties, this world would be a better place.

"The sameness of our world is terrible. I do not wonder men break away and commit immoralities to interrupt the fearful monotony of elegance and correctness in which nice women are content to live."

Lydia thinks that women who struggle for equality are wasting their energy:

"I hate references to what women are doing. It would be so much better simply to say 'what people are doing.' The very stress upon the matter of sex implies that it is a miraculous thing for a woman to do anything."

Lydia believes that men have a much better appreciation of the simple blessings of life than women have:

"Women like to call this simple contentment with life 'man's coarseness'. But, no. It is man's genius, his nearness to the workings of great Nature that makes him thus. Women would do well to cease their fretting after little worldly possessions and achievements, and acquire the habit of allowing life to be as dear to them as it wishes to be."

Lydia believes that women need to learn moderation, that often they try too hard to accomplish things that really aren't worth the effort:

"Women need to learn to ignore petty and narrow perfections, to get the effect without the detail, to save the force that some women expend on morbid scouring and scrubbing and apply it to bringing entertainment and enlightenment and good, old-fashioned fun into the household. Most good women are too conscientious and I have known 'earnest' women to drive people to drink."

Lydia believes that women underestimate the demands of man's work:

"The majority of women do not know what it means to work as men work, steadily, moment by moment. Women drudge and allow a sense of bodily degradation in doing it to pull them down and break their spirit, but they do not in the least understand what physical and mental force must be extended in the mastery of a trade or a profession.

"Very few women are fit for this concentrated application. It is not a 'fair chance' that women need to make them the equals of man in this sense. It is bone and sinew and a reserve force in the brain and the nerve cells.'

"Woman achieves her nearest equality with man when she is simply and healthfully alive and at work in her natural sphere, when she is not striving for recognition or whining for appreciation.

Lydia believes that women ask too much of love:

"I believe that most men love their wives, but have a poor way of showing it, and that most women love their husbands and have demonstrated the fact until the man would rather read the paper or talk about something else.

"He ought not to do this because there is sure to come a time when he will regret it, but love is long and time is fleeting and we are all of us such ingrates that we will in course of time become matter-of-fact over any commodity, however important, when there is such a lot of it."

Lydia believes that women keep society from being in a chaotic state:

"Women have more strength of character than men, much more moral sense, much greater power to resist temptation. It is true, society fairly forces women to be good, but aside from this there is in a woman a genuine liking for personal cleanliness and purity that shows them the end from the beginning as man seldom sees it."

As I say, Lydia is not her name. I doubt if I'll ever know it. The book that she wrote, called "The Ideas of a Plain Country Woman"' is signed only, "By the Country Contributor". And — oh, yes — it was published exactly 70 years ago this month.

ELECTRONIC TREAT for long-suffering Cougar fans, a new $26,000 sports timer, was being installed today (foreground) in the Memorial Arena. The four-sided clock operating on the digital countdown system will show two player penalties at a time, as well as elapsed penalty time. It can also be used for basketball and lacrosse, registering up to 99 points. The old clock (background) was the object of much abuse. "So far there are no takers from the Provincial Museum," city Ald. Malcolm Anderson said today.

Community Schooling Cost Study Proposed

A six-month study of the costs of operating community schools in Victoria has been proposed by Greater Victoria school trustee Dr. Hal Knight and Fernwood community worker Brian Lewis.

Knight is now talking to University of Victoria departments looking for instructors and graduate students who might be interested in tackling the project.

Once the manpower is lined up, a formal grant application will be made to the federal secretary of state's department for financing, Knight said today.

He said he's already spoken to the local secretary of state representative, who "thinks it's a very good idea."

Thesis of the study would be that operating community elementary schools, such as James Bay community school, requires no more capital expenditure than is spent operating traditional schools.

The study itself is expected to cost between $20,000 and $25,000, Knight said.

The study will bring out the many benefits which a community school like James Bay can have, such as reducing the juvenile delinquency rate in the area, helping single parents, and getting older people involved in the community, he said.

"The potential value of community education for the taxpayer has never been explored," Knight and Lewis say in a written outline of the study.

"Because this information is unavailable, the school board administration has had no choice but to assess the costs involved in community education using a system expressly developed for the assessment of our more traditional forms of education."

The study is to be scientific and impartial.

The proposed study follows the decision of Greater Victoria school board in July to no longer provide special funding for James Bay and other community schools, but to fund such schools only to the extent that other programs are financed in other schools.

Special funding for James Bay school is to end Dec. 31.

The new board policy has provoked a strong reaction from citizens groups and community workers trying to establish community education in the city.

A community school serves not just school-age children from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. but the whole community, from preschoolers to senior citizens, with afternoon and evenign classes and sometimes such services as day care centres, libraries and medical clinics.

Shaw Passes World Mark On Skates

A new world record in roller skating was set Saturday night by Victoria's Clint Shaw.

Shaw, who had begun circling the Sherman Square Roller Rink in Reseda, Calif. nine days before, ended the marathon 11:07 p.m. Saturday after having skated for 183 hours and 37 minutes.

The previous world record of 178 hours had been set five months ago by an Alabama roller-skating couple.

Thirty-four-year-old Shaw, 572 Langford, said he intends to rest in California before returning to Victoria where he is employed at Trojan Steel.

He had roller-skated across Canada as a 1967 Centennial project, and last year roller-skated across the United States.

4 ARRESTED AT SCENE OF BREAK-IN

Four juveniles were arrested Monday night minutes after Victoria police received a report of a break-in at a medical centre at 1139 Yates, one of two drug dispensaries broken into over the long weekend.

A police spokesman said the foursome — all boys — were found at the scene at about 11 p.m. and had in their possession a small quantity of drugs and some cash.

They were to appear in Family Court later today.

By PAT DUFOUR

A Becher Bay mother of seven is credited with saving thousands of salmon fry in the De Mamiel Creek near Sooke this summer.

Ada Barber, rain or shine, drove 30 miles a day, 27 times since early July to help feed the fry and clear the debris that threatened their survival.

"She deserves a star," said Jack Brooks, who retired as fisheries officer in Sooke November, 1973.

For years, single-handedly, Brooks worked on the creek, which is the main source of coho for the Sooke area.

Since 1952, Brooks has seen the escapement figure rise from 500 to an average of 6,000, peaking at 12,000.

In 1971 and 1972 students were employed under an Opportunities for Youth grant to work on the stream. The next year a Local Initiatives Program grant provided summer labor. In 1974 the grant stopped.

"Practically nothing was done that year. It was a heartbreak," Brooks said.

This year he rallied a corps of volunteers, chief among them being Mrs. Barber and another Becher Bay woman, Mrs. Linda Bellagente, who, herself, has two children.

Another Becher Bay resident, Percy Brown, also answered Brooks' call for help.

"She's a wonderful woman," Brown said of Mrs. Barber," she was out in all kind of weather, sometimes up to her waist in water. Besides feeding fish she always found time to help break up log jams and clear other debris."

One log jam on Mosquito Creek at Port Renfrew has been packed solid for two years, all fish below the area dying during that period.

The federal fisheries department supplied $2,000 for rental of a "cat" and acquisition of saws. Mrs. Barber and a small band of friends and relatives did the rest.

In the early days of Brooks' struggle to save the fry in the stream the problem was lack of water, sandbags being the main line of defence.

Since the dam has been built at Youngs Lake the problem is supplementary feeding of the growing population of coho fry.

"This year it (the creek) produced one million fry and 500,000 of them were being fed by volunteers," Brooks said, "It's like running a large family. It's fine if you can afford to feed them properly."

Mrs. Barber has good reason for the hundreds of hours she's spent on the volunteer project.

As a child, hers was one of the few non-native families living in the Indian fishing village of Clo-Oose near Bamfield.

Now she has four sons who earn their living as commercial fishermen.

Brooks said he had to hack trails through the thick growth of salal and other vegetation so that Mrs. Barber and her friends could make their way to the vital areas.

"I marked the trail with red ribbons. I only had to show them once and they were fine," he said.

The fish meal, supplied by the Amalgamated Sonservation Society, ensure the coho go to sea stronger and better able to withstand predators, Brooks said. It also results in a "surprise benefit" of larger fish when they return.

He and Brown hope fishermen (commercial and sports) loggers and others will emulate Mrs. Barber's example, even if it's to a smaller degree.

Volunteers can reach Brown in the evenings by phoning 642-3597.

TOWN TALK

Deserted shopping centre parking lots have always been a favorite place for those learning to drive and for model plane enthusiasts. Recent weeks have seen another added to the Mayfair Centre after-hour breed — go carts.

Mayfair manager Patrick Rice says he doesn't mind the go carts "as long as they (the operators) conduct themselves in a proper manner" and as long as they ask his permission before using the parking lot. Most of them don't ask, he says.

The magazine, which will be printed in Calgary, will feature four artists per month, one from each of the western provinces, as well as having other articles and reviews about the visual arts.

The Princess Marguerite soon wraps up her first complete season after being restored to service as a government-owned and operated ferry.

Her last regular sailing from Port Angeles is on Sunday, Sept. 6, and from Seattle Sept. 26.

Seattle's KING television station has chartered the vessel Sept, 27 to bring 1,200 cyclists to Victoria, and the following day there will be another charter trip for Seattle Times carriers.

The Marguerite will return to Victoria Sept. 29, after carrying an estimated 40,000-plus passengers — 4,000 more than last year when she was still under Canadian Pacific colors.

Commissionaire Garnet Windsor had the dubious honor of turning away some 200 people at the ICBC claims centre on Douglas today, telling them to phone in for an appointment.

Most of the fender-bent were good natured. "Only a couple were hostile," said Windsor.

A call to ICBC to see when the soonest appointment was available brought the news that it'll be a week to 10 days just to get a call from an adjustor — who in turn will set a date who-knows-when in the future for an adjustment.

He won't win any Oscars and it's doubtful there'll be any rave reviews, but Social Credit leader Bill Bennett is the star of a new movie which made its debut in Victoria last week. The film is as yet untitled but its theme is clear — elect Bill Bennett as premier.

The nine-minute feature is actually bits of home movies strung together with a Bennett monologue in the background. We see the young leader playing with his children outside his very comfortable Westbank home; talking with the cocktail set beside a pool; walking down city streets; eating lunch at an outside cafe; working at his desk; and greeting frolicing supporters unloading from a campaign bus. We also see him riding a horse, playing tennis, playing football and walking along a beach at dusk.

Bennett's troupe of aides admit the film is nothing more than an amateur effort but it cost only $1,500 to produce and they hope party members will enjoy seeing it at local constituency meetings.

Popcorn would help.

Similarity in design of modern marine carriers is responsible for confusion of some on-the-shore Victoria residents who make ship-watching one of their hobbies. One Oak Bay resident asked the Times to check out on what he believed to be super oil tankers steaming by his bay. Were we still shipping oil to eastern Canada, he asked. A check with B.C. Pilotage and other marine agencies revealed the huge ships are, in actual fact, chemical tankers, hauling cargoes of naptha, sugar, molasses and other items to and from Vancouver.

"The basic fact about human existence," wrote American journalist and satirist H. L. Mencken, "is not that it is a tragedy, but that it is a bore."

But no one, surely, can accuse Victoria Jaycees of leading a boring life? Just look at their jam-packed calendar of events this month:

To cap it all, the week Sept. 14-20 is Jaycee Week.

'Spree' Brings Jail

Jeffrey Glen Smythe, 17, of Duncan, was sentenced today in Victoria county court to two years less a day in jail on half a dozen charges involving breaking and entering and theft.

He was originally found guilty by Judge Montague Drake of breaking and entering and theft at a house in Saanich and was to have been sentenced July 11. He failed to appear in court and was later arrested.

In the meantime, court was told, he was sentenced to 15 months in Duncan for possession of stolen property.

His lawyer, Jacqueline Dorgan, said because of Smythe's fear and obvious immaturity he could not bring himself to appear for sentence July 11 on the Saanich charge.

Prosecutor Barry Mah Ming said Smythe has quite an extensive record and that probation had been tried before and didn't seem to work.

Judge Drake told Smythe: "It looks like you are starting off a career of crime." While he was always reluctant to sentence a young man to prison he had no alternative and sentenced him to two years less a day.

Smythe then pleaded guilty to one charge of breaking and entering and theft at Duncan July 4, two chargesof breaking and entering and theft at Victoria shortly thereafter, one charge of breaking and entering and theft at Penticton July 14, and a charge of theft July 25 at Burnaby.

Dorgan, speaking to these five charges, described Smythe as "an immature young man who went on a spree."

Judge Drake said it was a "most extraordinary performance." He gave him two years less a day concurrent and added "I hope that does some good."

Gun Control 'No Deterrent'

By DEREK SIDENIUS
Times Staff

The registration of guns is a product of troubled times.

That's the view of Frank Grimshaw. And he should know.

He was B.C.'s registrar of guns — the province's first and only full-time police officer so employed — a position he held for 27 years.

He's been retired since 1957 but still follows the gun control debate cannonading across the country.

His thoughts on the subject are not what one would expect. For he doesn't believe the registration of all firearms — sought as a means of tightening controls — is an answer.

"Registration is merely the proof of owership and a means of tracing guns lost or stolen . . . it is not a deterrent to crime," he said in an interview at his home at 4155 Quadra.

"Criminals will get guns one way or another regardless."

He said simply registering all firearms would be ineffective.

"If the government wants more stringent controls it will have to go much further," he said. "For example each and every gun should be ballistically tested and the shell or bullet kept on file."

To do so, he conceded would be time-consuming and expensive. But, like fingerprinting, it would clearly establish the owner of the gun used in a crime because the marks left on a fired shell are distinctive to each gun.

Grimshaw, however, felt there was no absolute solution to the gun control problem . . . short of the government confiscating every weapon in the land.

Ironically, he noted, the federal government once had the mechanism to register all firearms. That was during the Second World War when the registration of firearms was required under the Defence of Canada regulations.

After the war the registration of rifles and shotguns was discontinued; but retained for handguns.

"Everything was set up. The provinces had their files on rifle and shotgun owners. Ottawa held the master index. Then it was thrown away. Why? I don't know. I guess the government figured registration had served its purpose and has no longer needed."

Grimshaw said the gun control question was first raised during "troubled times" and that every time it has come to the fore since has been during crises or when crime levels have shown a sharp oncrease.

People began talking about the need for controls in the early 30s, a period of general unrest in North America, he said.

"There was a lot of outlawry, particularly in the United States in the late 20s. When thelawlessness started to filter across the border, the provincial authorities grew worried and decided to take action."

In 1934 the B.C. legislature passed a bill, the first of its kind in Canada, requiring all handgun owners to register their weapons.

Ottawa followed suit the next year, modelling its law on B.C.'s and registration became country-wide.

But registration was not the solution to the growing crime problem.

At best it wa sonly a means of identifying owners of guns — a firearm lost and found service.

GRIMSHAW

In that regard it has always been a valuable aid to investigators, Grimshaw said. On occasion the results have been astonishing.

He recounted the case of a soldier returning home from Germany with a war trophy handgun.

The weapon, a .25 calibre automatic, was seized because it was illegal to bring an unregistered firearm into Canada.

But Grimshaw discovered the gun was registered — to a man who coincidentally lived on the same block and same street in Vancouver as the soldier. Both were strangers.

The man was flabbergasted to get his gun back. He had lost it in North Africa several years earlier. Apparently the weapon had been picked up, taken to Germany and was in a pile of guns detailed for destruction when the soldier took it.

"If it hand't been for registration the man would never have got his gun back," said Grimshaw.

Eight Police Held at Bay By Man with Three Rifles

A man in his early 20s held eight members of the Saanich police department at bay Monday afternoon as he threatened a shoot-out following a domestic dispute in a duplex in the Quadra-Tattersal district.

Police said today they cordoned off the area and surrounded the building after a young woman reported to police at 3:45 p.m. that her husband, armed with three rifles, was holed up inside the house with the couple's one-year-old child.

A spokesman said a police officer was in almost constant contact with the man from a phone in a house across the street.

Finally, after three hours, the officer talked the man into allowing police to enter and talk with him. Minutes later the man surrendered.

No shots were fired and no one was injured.

During the tense drama a young family of three was confined to an upstairs suite and could not get out as the only exit was by way of a front door common to both apartments.

The spokesman said three rifles — a .22 calibre rifle and two shotguns — were recovered. None was loaded but there were shells in the house.

The man, whose name has not been released, is being held in the Eric Martin Institute for psychiatric examination.

The police spokesman said the results of the examination will determine whether charges will be laid.

New York

Analysts said the tendency to cash in on some profits after last week's 30.58-point runup in the Dow might have been heightened by continued concern over New York City's financial difficulties.

Another evident depressant was the news that the federal budget deficit for July, at $11.05 billion, was the second largest on record for a calendar month.

Gold stocks declined broadly with the London bullion price sliding below $150 in reaction to the agreement by an International Monetary Fund group on on a plan for gold sales to aid poor countries.

ECM Exports Top Imports

BRUSSELS (AP) — For the first time in three years European Common Market countries seem to be exporting more than they are importing, a report indicates.

Because of a weakness in imports, Market experts say there may have been a slight excess of exports over imports starting in February for the nine Common Market countries taken as a whole.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Farm commodity futures fell to limits and near limits on the Board of trade today, but a rally in the closing minutes heavily trimmed the losses.

The early limit falls included 20 cents a bushel in soybeans, 10 cents in corn and 6 cents in oats. Soybean oil, meal and wheat fell to levels just short of a limit move. Domestic gold futures fell the limit of $10 an ounce and silver futures were down the limit of 20 cents an ounce.

In the closing minutes, many of the shorts desided to take their profits in the various pits and liquidated positions. However, as more shorts joined the profit-taking moves, higher prices began to show and the profits of shorts were lessened as prices advanced. In the oil pit, where trade was extremely light, prices were forced to the limit higher.

Air Canada Eyes Know-How Sales

MONTREAL (CP) — The sale of Air Canada's computer expertise "could become an interesting source of revenue," says Pierre Jeanniot, vice-president of computer and systems services.

And additional revenues no matter how small, cannot be overlooked these days when most airlines, including Air Canada, operate in the red.

The airline already has computer-sharing agreements with Air Jamaica, Pacific Western Airlines and Eastern Provincial Airways.

Talks are in progress with several other small Canadian and medium-sized international airlines which are interested in either directly linking up to Air Canada's computer system or buying the airline's computer expertise.

Jeanniot estimated in an interview there are about 40 medium-sized airlines around the world that are potential Air Canada customers.

He is unwilling to discuss Air Canada's prices for such arrangements, but suggests potential revenue in the millions of dollars awaits aggressive salesmen.

"We've always made a good commercial return," he said, referring to deals already closed with airline

He admits Air Canada has not pursued these sales as ardently as it could have.

Officials from Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, had been interested in acquiring Air Canada computer technology and were enthusiastically wined and dined by Air Canada, Jeanniot said.

Air Canada has been more aggressive in its computer agreements with travel agencies.

Jeanniot said that since 1973, 113 travel agencies have been equipped with computer links to the airline.

Through this link, a customer at a travel agency can bookaflightplushotelaccar.

Air Canada itself is hoping to become more of a travel agent by beginning a cross-Canada ground-accommodation service that would even include advance booking in campsites.

A pilot project was started in Prince Edward Island, where a visitor at a government-operated tourist booth can obtain accommodation bookings anywhere in the province. This service is operated through the Air Canada computer system.

The Alberta government is planning a similar project and Air Canada is hoping to provide the computer technology for that service, eventually linking it to a proposed national service.

Tourists, including those who don't intend to fly with Air Canada, could check into a ticket office and obtain the information, Jeanniot said.

Debenture Sale Of $60M Filed

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Urban Community has announced it has filed a registration statement with the United States securities and Exchange Commission for a proposed sale of $60 million of sinking fund debentures. The debentures, due Oct. 1, 2000, are payable in U.S. funds and would be redeemable by Oct. 1, 1990.

The city's $75-million debenture issue last month was almost sold out a day after sales began.

Ward Won't Play

Victoria Shamrocks will have one less obstacle in their way when they take on Vancouver Burrards at Richmond Arena.

Down 2-1 in their best-of-seven Western Lacrosse Association final, the Shamrocks won't have to contend with Vancouver bad-boy Ward Sanderson.

Sanderson has been suspended for tonight's contest and the Burrards fined $100 by WLA commissioner Colin Cruickshank for an ugly incident Saturday night at Memorial Arena.

With 33 seconds left and his club down 12-7, Sanderson attacked Victoria's Mike Beaulac from behind and pounded the Shamrock player into a bloody daze.

Once in the penalty bix, Sanderson was the target of debris of taunts hurled at him by irate fans. His teammates rushed to his rescue but cooler heads prevailed and a riot was avoided.

Because of the disturbance, referees Wayne Frank and Dave Hutchings ended the game with the 33 seconds left to play.

The third game was a bad one for the Burrards in more than one way. Tied 6-6 after 40 minutes, they were outscored 6-1 in the final period.

Charn Dhillon led the Shamrocks with thhree goals while team captain Ranjit Dillon scored twice and added three assists. Ron MacNeil also tallied twice.

The top performer for the Shamrocks, however, was goaltender George Grover. He finished with 45 saves, including 22 in the second period.

Ron Pinder and Bob Salt were the top marksmen for Vancouver with two goals each. Pinder's two lifted his season total to 80.

Walker Missed Fast Pacesetter

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — John Walker of New Zealand, world record holder in the mile, failed by six-tenths of a second in an attempt to beat the 2000-metre world record Saturday.

The 23-year-old New Zealander clocked four minutes, 56.8 seconds in what turned out to be, for all intents and purposes, a solo effort.

Michael Jazy, the French middle distance star who now, is retired, holds the world mark of 4:56.2 set nine years ago.

Cables Push Bakers To Elimination Brink

NEW WESTMINSTER — Burnaby Cablevision pushed Victoria McDonalds to the brink of elimination Monday with a 14-9 triumph.

The win gave Burnaby a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven Western Canada Junior Lacrosse League final. Sixth game in the series is tonight at 8 p.m. at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Sunday, Kevin Alexander scored five goals to lead the Bakers to an 11-9 victory at the Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Burnaby led 2-1 after the first period Monday and 8-6 after 40 minutes.

Bob Cool was the top marksman for Victoria with three goals while Alexander had two goals and two assists. Kim Bowles, Lorry Gloeckner, Charlie Randle and Tej Labh each scored once.

Al Radley stopped 40 shots for the McDonalds while Burnaby goalie Rich Zecchel made 36 saves.

Sunday, it was a strong second period by the McDonalds which proved the difference. Ahead 3-2 after the first period, they ran up a 7-3 lead going into the final 20 minutes.

Besides Alexander, Victoria got four goals from Norm Baker. Cool and Labh had the other markers.

Radley made 32 saves while Zecchel blocked 35 drives.

Wilkinson Finds Time To Rescue His Eskimos

By The Canadian Press

Tom Wilkinson did what Chuck Ealey couldn't Monday afternoon, so Edmonton Eskimos and Saskatchewan Roughriders wound up in a tie for first place in the Western Football Conference.

Wilkinson fired a 17-yard touchdown pass to rookie John Konihowski as Edmonton came from behind to nip Calgary Stampeders 35-31 before 27,188 fans at Calgary while Winnipeg's Ealey ran out of downs with about 20 seconds remaining in Saskatchewan Roughriders' 27-23 triumph over the Blue Bombers before a Regina crowd of 21,915.

A costly holding penalty helped ruin Ealey's last-minute bid. The loss dropped Winnipeg into third place in the WFC, two points behind Saskatchewan and Edmonton, who meet Saturday night to settle, at least, temporary, possession of first place.

Despite sore ribs, Wilkinson was brilliant. He threw to George McGowan and Tyrone Walls to move from the Edmonton 35 to the Calgary 17, then found Konihowski uncovered in the end zone.

The pass ruined a tenacious effort by the Stampeders, who took the lead less than a minute earlier on Rick Galbos' second touchdown pass of the day from Joe Pisarcik.

. . . late payoff pitch

Wilkinson took over when starter Bruce Lemmerman injured a hand in the third quarter. Wilkinson threw a touchdown pass to Don Warrington early in the fourth quarter to put the Eskimos in front. Lemmerman found McGowan for an 11-yard touchdown in the opening frame.

Veteran Ron Lancaster led a solid march in the last quarter to pull Saskatchewan from behind with a nine-yard scoring pass to young Steven Mazurak.

A 78-yard punt return by Tom Campana and a three-yard run by George Reed provided the other Roughrider touchdowns. Jack Abendschan kicked three converts and two field goals.

For Winnipeg, Bob Larose took a five-yard pass from Ealey and Steve Beaird ran three yards for touchdowns. Bernie Ruoff added the remaining 11 points on two converts and three field goals.

Andrusyshyn, whose field-goal kicking had carried the Argonauts through other games, missed on five tries Monday and Toronto bowed 20-11 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

His missed field goals would have been enough to turn the tide for the Argonauts, who had a clear statistical edge but couldn't move the ball once they got within scoring range. Three times in the second half their offensive drives faltered inside the Hamilton 35.

Complicating things for Toronto was a Hamilton defensive line that sacked Argo quarterback Mike Rae for a total of 50 yards.

Bates, hoarse and happy, returned home Monday with the championship trophy and Patterson had another opinion about his players.

It's the texture of their "jam."

"We beat Oshawa three times in a row . . . in their ball park," said Patterson. "That's when this club showed me the kind of jam they're made of . . ."

Bates came home to a rousing welcome at Victoria Airport and will have "two or three weeks to savor victory before Patterson hails the team "Back to work" for a bid at even greater glory.

It's on to New Zealand and the world championships next January.

The trip to New Zealand is the other reward Bates earned Saturday when they captured the national title with a come-from-behind 3-2 victory over the defending champion Oshawa Tony's.

Trailing 2-0, Bates reeled off their seventh straight, and deciding, victory with a three-run spurt in the bottom of the sixth. Victoria pitcher Stan Kern retired the last three Oshawa batters in the top of the seventh, and Bates erupted.

Victoria's players found it easy to unleash their emotions. They all were on hand last year when Oshawa defeated Bates in an extra inning to win the title at Victoria's Royal Athletic Park.

Bates did to Tony's what was done to them.

Among the most emotional were Kern and outfielder Harvey Stevenson. Kern finally "made it" after seven previous appearances in Canadian finals.

Last year's disappointment at home wasn't forgotten by Stevenson. He was the producer of the game-winning hits in each of Bates' victories over Oshawa last week, including a two-run single in Saturday's nationally televised final.

Shortstop Bob Holness also helped rub salt into Oshawa's back. Guilty of a miscue that helped Oshawa last year, Holness chilled Tony's final hopes with a brilliant, diving leap to retire the first Oshawa batter in the top of the seventh.

"That was a deluxe play," said Patterson. "If it goes through, it could have been a two-base hit. Instead, it's the first out."

Carl Walker, named as the second baseman on the All-Canada team, handled the second putout and Kern wound it up in style by striking out pinch-hitter Wayne Culley.

Outfielder Ken Bate was the first to detect victory. Manager Jack Bell said Bate started to run in as soon as Kern released the last pitch.

"You could tell it was a hummer," said Bell.

Kern was the only member of the Victoria party who didn't return with the team Monday. He was motoring back from Ontario with his wife.

Both Bell and Patterson were quick to laud Kern for a courageous performance. Dave Ruthowsky, who won four of the seven games, started against Tony's but Kern came in after Oshawa scored its second run.

"Nobody knew it," said Patterson, "but there wasn't much meat left on the tip of his index finger. I don't know how he was able to throw, but, boy, did he throw."

Kern was named to the All-Canada team alojg with Walker, but Patterson was upset that catcher Bob Burrows was snubbed in favor of Oshawa's Bob Solomon. Burrows hit three homers during the week, contributed two other key hits and picked off three players, including Oshawa's Bob Young in the third inning Saturday.

"There isn't a man who didn't contribute," said Patterson. "The philosophy of this team is to play together, to win together and to lose together.

"I could go right down the list . . . Randy Benn, a rookie, had a big hit against Nova Scotia and played well defensively in his first Canadian tournament."

Patterson said that, while travel arrangements to New Zealand were started at the weekend, neither he nor sponsor Herb Bate have discussed the team's makeup for the world tournament.

"As I understand it," said Patterson, "we're allowed four replacements, but we would have to drop two players. As far as I'm concerned, the only player we're dropping is an automatic one . . . Clay Allinotte."

Allinotte, a lefthanded pitcher from Ontario, parted company with Bates shortly before the B.C. playdowns.

GR-R-R-REAT! That's Harvey Stevenson's unabashed opinion of how it felt after Victoria Bates captured Canadian men's softball championship Saturday. Brian, Ivan Pace Bolts

LANDOVER, Md. — Two former Victoria Shamrocks sparked Boston Bolts to a 13-11 win over Maryland Arrows in the final regular-season National Lacrosse League game Sunday night.

Brian Thompson scored three goals and added two assists for the Bolts, his brother, Ivan, recorded two goals and three assists.

The win gave the Bolts third place. They now meet second-place Montreal Quebecois tonight in the first game of a best-of-seven, semi-final playoff.

No Pension, No Russian Series

. . presents ultimatum

An eight-game series between National Hockey League teams and club teams from the Soviet Union could go down the drain unless NHL owners agree to player demands.

Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHL Players' Association (NHLPA), said Monday the owners must meet player pension demands and accept an international tournament proposed for Canada in the fall of 1976.

Eagleson said the NHLPA is demanding a monthly increase of $500 to $750 in maximum pension payments, an increase he said would cost each club an extra $22,000 a year.

Other teams in the tournament would represent the United States, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Finland.

The NHL owners have accepted a contract from the Soviet Ice Hockey Federation for this season's series to be played against various NHL teams.

The two contractors who built the framework part of Olympic Village in Montreal have received a bonus of $1.38 million each for finishing 184 days ahead of schedule.

In signing their contract for the apartment complex which will house athletes during the 1976 Games, Formco Inc. and Dominic Supports and Forms Ltd. were promised a bonus of $7,500 for each day they were finished before the due date.

The Netherlands and Canada set the pace Monday, the second day of the women's world hockey championships, in Edinburgh, with crushing 8-0 victories over Austria and Denmark, respectively.

Scotland blanked Canada 5-0 in one of the opening-round matches Saturday.

John Edrich, lefthanded opening batsman, led England in a good fight-back after they had followed on a crushing 341 runs behind Australia on the fourth day of the fourth and final cricket test at the Oval Monday.

Edrich scored 91 not out in just under 5½ hours as England made 179 for one wicket in its second innings to cut the deficit to 162 runs. He was assisted by David Steele, 52 not out, in a second wicket stand which has so far put on 102 runs.

Some Answers to Shrub Queries

A previous column stating that shrubs and trees are not pruned in local gardens during the fall (because of the climate) has brought several questions as to the exact calendar date when we should give attention to specifically named shrubs.

Since it is possible to grow more kinds, species and varieties of shrubs on the southern end of Vancouver Island than in any other part of Canada, to cover every plant by name would fill this column for many weeks.

That does not mean we cannot be of help to local gardeners providing they are willing to help themselves by making a few observations and entering the results of those observations in the garden notebook for future reference.

The shrubs we can grow will comfortably fit into two groups. All the home gardener has to do is to study the flowering habits of plants being grown and determine to which group they belong.

But first, let us reach an agreement as to the start and finish of the different seasons that make up a calendar year.

When trying to elicit information to help solve a problem, gardeners will tell me the seed was sown this summer, but pinning them down to a date reveals it was sometime in April.

In all horticultural references, January, February and March constitute winter, even when "spring sowings" of hardy vegetables are made in March. Our inconsistency is revealed when we refer to such sowings as early spring although they are actually made in late winter.

Spring encompasses April, May and June. Summer is July, August and September, regardless of the widespread belief that summer ends when school starts. October, November and December are the months of autumn or, if you prefer, fall.

The change from one season to another is on Dec. 21, March 21, June 21 and Sept. 21, with a day or two difference over a period of years to bring our calendars in line with solar time. The season is considered to have changed although the prevailing weather may continue.

Air temperatures and the number of hours of daylight have an effect on the production of flowering wood. Some shrubs produce flowering wood in summer and fall and flower the following spring, others produce flowering wood in spring and flowers during the summer.

For our purpose it is convenient to divide the shrubs we grow into two groups: Group 1, those which flower during spring (April to the end of June); Group 2, those which flower in summer and early fall (July to the end of October).

All shrubs fitting into Group 1 make their flowering wood during the summer and fall, and bear the blossoms the following spring. To prune in fall would remove the flowering wood.

Therefore, pruning is done immediately the majority of the blooms have faded, before the new growths (which will be the flowering wood for next year) become visible.

Those in Group 2 bear flowers on new wood growth made during spring, and the flowers open during summer and early fall. These are pruned in March to early April depending on weather conditions, but always before, or at the first indication of, new growth.

There is no exact calendar date on which any shrub is pruned, nor are all the shrubs in one group ready to prune at one time.

As a further indication of our inconsistency, the many shrubs (and climbers) which flower during the winter months are put into Group 1, and pruned as soon as flowering is over (winter), providing it is not done during a cold spell that could cause dieback.

Clematis, a climber, fits into either group according to its time of flowering. The species which flower early in spring go into Group 1 for pruning as the blossoms fade. The large flowered hybrids which flower after the end of June belong in Group 2 and are cut back in March or early April.

With the summer flowering hybrids, flowers will be borne about three feet above the point of cutting. If the plant is cut down to three feet above soil level, the first flowers will appear at six feet. This makes it possible for us to have the blossoms wherever we wish, at eye-level or hidden under the eaves.
